After administering the constitutional oath, His Excellency, the Governor, attended by the Honorable Council and Secretary of State, withdrew from the hall.

The House was called to order by Edward Sawyer, clerk of last year.

On motion of Mr. Buffum, of Somersworth, Paul J. Wheeler, of Newport, was elected temporary chairman.

On motion of Mr. Collins, of Exeter, the House proceeded by ballot to the election of Speaker.

The ballots being returned, sorted and counted, the chairman declared the result to be as follows:

The whole number of votes cast,	307
Necessary for a choice,	154
Harry Bingham had	114
Edward A. Rollins had	193
—and was elected.

The chairman appointed Messrs. Bingham of Littleton, and Eastman of Claremont, a committee to conduct the Speaker elect to the chair.

Hon. EDWARD A. ROLLINS, having taken the chair, addressed the House as follows:

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

In accepting at your hands the position of presiding officer, I am not vain enough to suppose that it comes through any marked ability of mine, or that it has been earned upon any former occasion. I receive it, as it is, an undeserved evidence of your friendship-a gift only, not a payment, for which I can never fail to be both grateful and indebted.

We are standing upon the threshold of the session. We have just sworn allegiance to the State and support to its constitution and its laws; but, gentlemen, in a large measure, with the coöperation of the Executive and Senate, we carry in our own hands not only the private interests, but the general laws and public policy of a sovereign people. So far, then, as the statutes, private or public, shall hereafter wear the impress of our deliberations, let them testify both to the wisdom of our measures and the purity of our motives.

We have come here from the several towns and cities of our residence for the furtherance of their individual wants; but it were not strange if personal considerations and neighborhood advantages must be sometimes sacrificed to the welfare of a larger community—in the recognition of a stronger claim. Few are the men who sent each of us here, but we are all to legislate for the sea coast and hillside alike; and not only for the multitudes who now bear faith to New-Hampshire, but for the generations which shall follow them over this narrow stage of their being.

Men latteriy talk of "making history;" but, gentlemen, they are making prophesy no less. More audibly and more authoritatively than from Roman or Grecian oracle, there come to us from every battle-field and out of every legislative hall premonitions of our country's destiny. We legislate now, not for our beloved State alone, but, by the living links of nationality and the pressure of our oaths now fresh upon us, for ever bound to more than thirty sister States, we are acting here for every patriot and every traitor whose footprints mark the soil of the American Union—not directly as Congressmen, yet surely as they in enabling our authorities to honor all proper requisitions for the army and the treasury. So doing, our responses are as clear as the voice of history, and they who dwell in the valleys of the Alabama and the Cumberland shall yet be as grateful as our neighbors and children.

In the commencement of our labors let us pledge to each other—every man to his fellows—the broadest charity and the manliest courtesy. Honest differences of opinion need generate no bitterness of spirit; and it is the praise of our predecessors that words of strife and discord have seldom marred the harmony of our legislation.

Before taking the chair to which you have so generously calied me, let me bespeak for myself, not your charity and forbearance alone, but your coöperation and counsel. All these I shall need; and words of instruction shall be as sweet to me as they will often times be appropriate and needful.

Thanking you most cordially for this new proof of your kindness, I can only promise you that none of my faults shall originate in carelessness, indolence or prejudice.

William H. Y. Hackett, President of the Senate, made proclamation as follows:

Nathaniel S. Berry having been duly elected Governor of the State of New-Hampshire, accepted the office, and taken the oaths prescribed by the Constitution, I do therefore declare His Excellency, Nathaniel S. Berry, Governor of the State of New-Hampshire; to hold the office during the ensuing political year. And I here present your Excellency a copy of the Constitution of the State, as your guide in the discharge of your official duties.

HIS EXCELLENCY then addressed the Convention as follows:

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives:

In entering for a second term on the duties of Chief Executive Magistrate of New-Hampshire, I desire to express my thanks for the renewed confidence reposed in me.

In the troublesome times through which we have passed, and are passing, I have felt deeply the responsibility of my position, and enter anew on its duties with much hesitation. I believe, however, that the spirit of the people is equal to any emergency necessary to sustain the institutions secured to us by the blood and patriotism of our fathers, and that, in times like the present, forgetting past dissensions, the great mass of our citizens will rally unitedly to the support of all just measures to maintain the cause of the country. Experience has shown us that, under the guidance of a Divine Providence, we must rely upon ourselves; that our national greatness, though it has always been exercised with great forbearance to all other nations, has excited merely their envy, and a desire has been openly expressed, by their prominent leaders, that our nation may be crippled and shorn of its strength. The disposition thus manifested should teach us our true danger, and that our strength lies in union. No people have ever before raised a volunteer force of such magnitude, so thoroughly armed and equipped, and so well provided with all the necessaries and comforts of soldiers in arms, as the loyal States of this Union have enrolled in their cause; and, if needed to quell the rebellion, or to meet foreign enemies, this number could be readily doubled.

There can be but one result to the struggle in which we are engaged - submission to the first principles of government inaugurated and established by our fathers. inheritance we have received from them we will transmit Foreign thrones and dynasties may to our posterity. change, but the institutions of Freedom, as established and administered here by Washington, and those of his successors who have been actuated by a like spirit, were designed for all time. Whatever in them was perishable or temporary, owing to the ill-judged wrongs of the mother country, time, they felt assured, would heal, and ultimately relieve us from. It was designed that this country should expand in the spirit of liberty; that this spirit should grow with its growth and strengthen with its strength, and every thing alien to it should die out, and gradually pass away, overshadowed and controlled by the great power of freedom, of which our flag was to be the chosen symbol, wherever it might wave. A base, rebellious spirit has, however, attempted to reverse this order of things, and make an institution national, fundamental, and permanent, which was originally only sectional, exceptional, and temporary. This bane, which once extended largely over the whole Union, it was supposed the increase of just sentiments of moral and religious obligation would gradually limit and terminate. The progress of the age, and regard to the true honor and permanent prosperity of the nation, demand this Higher motives than these demand it. We may well tremble in view of this national sin, when, like Jefferson, "we reflect that God is just." The people of this country have determined that this alarming evil shall not pass beyond the original bounds prescribed to it; that it shall not master, control, and turn to its own selfish purposes, the constitution and government of the country. They have determined to crush back the hydra to his den, and let it die out as our fathers designed it should die, under the progress of enlightened wisdom, and that philanthropy and charity which, in its destined march, is to bring good-will to all men. The fearful lesson we have had in the conflict with slavery; its disasters to all its promoters; its evident weakness in its death-struggle with freedom — all portend a change in the estimation in which this great evil will be hereafter held, and foretell, in legible characters, written in view of all the nations, that its days are numbered.

With these views, I most fully concur in the late Message of the patriotic Chief Magistrate of the nation, in which he regards it as the duty of the National Government to contribute, by its means, in aid of any state that shall desire to remove this national evil. I also rejoice with you that, under the order of things now existing, the curse of slavery has been removed from our National Capital. Its toleration there has been a reproach to our nation, and productive of much evil. But a new era has arrived, the progress of which will not be backward. The prohibition of slavery in the Territories by Congress will also meet the hearty approval of our people. The several movements to this extent, I regard as clearly within the limits of the Constitution. Beyond this lies the principle that each state, submitting to the provisions of the Constitution, should control its own local institutions; but such submission should be regarded as a prerequisite to the enjoyment of the benefits of that instrument. The support of the Constitution and the Union should be our watchword. All should unite on this ground, and there is no other certain way to final triumph over the internal and external enemies of our country.

In my message of last June I called the attention of the Legislature to the importance of a well-organized militia as "the proper, natural, and sure defense of a state." The necessity of such an organization has been seen and felt by many of our citizens for years, and especially during the year past. Had such an organization existed in this state when the Rebellion commenced, and the requisition was made by the President for aid in its suppression, troops could have been recruited, officered, equipped, and prepared for service, with far greater facility and much less expense to the state, than was in our power under the nominal system then existing. At the last session of the Legislature a militia law was passed, but no general organization has been made under it. provisions may not be in all respects what is wanted at the present time, and I respectfully suggest, for your consideration, the propriety of reviving the militia law that was in force twenty-five or thirty years ago, with such few alterations as may be considered necessary and proper to adapt it to the circumstances of the present time. I consider it far preferable to any law or system since adopted, and more efficient and economical. otism and love of country, and desire for the maintenance and enjoyment of our free institutions, should be a sufficient inducement for doing military duty two or three days in a year, as was required by the law alluded to. Such service should never be considered an unreasonable burden. A military department in our college, academies, and even in some of our common schools, may be a subject worthy of your consideration. During the many vears of peace and quiet in our country, the keeping up an efficient organization of the militia has been considered by many an unnecessary and unreasonable burden. A different lesson has now been taught us, and I trust it will not soon be forgotten.

The State Treasurer's Report shows the ordinary finances of the state to be in a satisfactory condition. The details of receipts and disbursements will be before you. The state debt, above assets on hand, was, on the 1st day of June, 1861, $31,668.93. The indebtedness has been reduced the past year $26,005.90, leaving the ordinary debt of the state, June 1, 1862, $5,663.03.

In pursuance of the law of the last session of the Legislature, appropriating one million of dollars for recruiting, arming, and equipping troops for the service of the United States for suppressing the Rebellion and sustaining the supremacy of the government, eight regiments have been raised and sent into the United States service. One, for three months, mustered into service on the 7th of May, 1861; which returned, and was mustered out of service on the 9th of August, 1861. Seven regiments, raised for three years, or during the war; one battery of artillery, three companies of sharpshooters, and four companies of cavalry, which are now in the service. whole number of enlistments, since the first requisition by the President, amounts to 9,197 men, and we believe a more intelligent and patriotic body of men have never been enrolled in the United States service. The sums paid for recruiting and equipping the several regiments and companies amount to eight hundred ninety-three thousand three hundred and thirty-three dollars and twenty-six cents; the details of which will be found in the State Treasurer's Report.

The Board of Trustees and the Superintendent of the Asylum for the Insane will duly present their reports for your consideration, which I trust will meet your entire approbation. That humane and highly beneficial institution has thus far more than fulfilled the most sanguine expectations of its founders and friends, and it will, no doubt, continue to receive the fostering care of the state.

The House of Reformation for Juvenile and Female Offenders is an institution second only in importance to the Asylum for the Insane. It should engage the interest, sympathy, and liberal patronage of the Legislature. There were reported in the institution, April 30, 1861, 53 boys and 8 girls; total, 61.

Remaining in the institution, April 30, 1862,

The Report of the Board of Trustees and Superintendent, giving in detail the management and administration of the institution for the past year, will be submitted to you. The great increase of inmates, and, consequently, the increase of expenditures for bedding, furniture, &c., has caused the trustees to ask for a liberal appropriation, which, I hope, may receive your early attention and approval.

The State Prison continues to be self-sustaining. The Report of the Warden shows the income above expenditures for eleven months ending the 30th day of April, to be $1,705.40. Notwithstanding the depression in business on account of the war, its affairs appear to have been successfully managed, and the condition and discipline of the prison has been satisfactory. A strict supervision, however, should be kept over it by the state, to insure the best and permanent welfare of the institution.

The Bank Commissioners were directed by me to make a full and thorough examination of the affairs and condition of each bank, which duty I believe they have faithfully performed. They report the banks to be in a sound and prosperous condition. The whole amount of banking capital, as reported by the Bank Commissioners of 1861, was $5,131,000. During the year the State Capital, at Concord, has reduced its capital stock $30,000; the Mechanics and Traders Bank, at Portsmouth, $42.300; the Indian Head Bank, at Nashua, $30,000; amounting in all to $102.300. The stockholders of the Bank of New-Hampshire, at Portsmouth, have voted to reduce their capital stock $60,000. The Pawtuckaway Bank, at Epping, have voted to close up the concerns of that bank. These reductions will still further diminish the banking capital of the state $110,000.

The whole number of Savings Institutions in the state is twenty-seven, with an aggregate of assets of $5,860,229.25; the amount due depositors $5,653,585.46; the amount of surplus, $206,943.79. The amount due depositors, as appears by the Bank Commissioners' Report of last year, was $5,590,652.18, showing an increase during the year of $62,933.28. The Dartmouth Savings Bank has been organized and gone into operation during the past year.

No department of the State Government is more important than the Judiciary. That department, under the present organization, has been so well administered that no radical change is called for at present. If we are careful to make good laws, we may be confident they will be impartially administered by the court as now instituted. Frequent changes should not be made in this department, unless necessity clearly demands it.

The cause of education demands the encouragement and support of careful and judicious legislation. No other function of the civil authority affects more directly and powerfully the prosperity and happiness of the whole population; and I would especially commend to the fostering care and watchful attention of the Legislature, the common schools of the state, with such provision for their regular examination and supervision, by persons duly appointed for this purpose by the state, as shall tend most to promote their usefulness.

I have received the following communication from the U.S. Treasury Department:

"TREASURY DEPARTMENT, November 29, 1861.

"SIR-I have the honor to call your attention to the act of August 6, 1861, levying a direct tax, and apportioning it among the several states. The amount apportioned to the state of New-Hampshire is \$218,406.66 $\frac{2}{3}$. The fiftythird section of the act provides, that any state or territory, and the District of Columbia, may lawfully assume, assess, collect and pay into the treasury of the United States, the direct tax, or its quota thereof, imposed by this act upon the state, territory, or the District of Columbia, in its own way and manner, by and through its own officers, assessors and collectors; and any such state, territory or district which shall give notice by the governor, or other proper officer thereof, to the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, on or before the second Tuesday of February next, of its intention to assume and pay, or to assess, collect and pay into the treasury of the United States the direct tax imposed by this act, shall be entitled to a deduction of fifteen per cent on the quota of direct tax apportioned to such state: Provided, That the deduction shall only be made to apply to such part or parts of the same as shall have been actually paid into the treasury of the United States, on or before the last day of June, in the year to which such payment relates.

"Will you inform me, at the earliest practicable period, whether the authorities of New-Hampshire will assume and pay the amount of direct tax apportioned to that state by the existing law; and also whether, in case of any change in the law by which a different and perhaps larger amount shall be apportioned to the state, the authorities will probably assume and pay it.

I am, very respectfully,

S. P. CHASE,

To His Excellency, NATHANIEL S. BERRY, Governor of the State of New-Hampshire."

To which communication I returned the following answer:

"State of New-Hampshire,

Executive Department,

Concord, Dec. 12, 1861.

Hon. Salmon P. Chase, Secretary of the Treasury, Washington, D. C.:

SIR—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 29th ultimo, calling my attention to the act of Congress, August 6, 1861, laying a direct tax and apportioning it among the several states; that the amount apportioned to this state is $218,406.663; and, after reciting at length the 530th section of said act, you ask, "Will you inform me, at the earliest practicable period, whether the authorities of New-Hampshire will assume and pay the direct tax apportioned to that state by the existing law? and also whether, in case of any change in the law by which a different and perhaps larger amount shall be apportioned to the state, the authorities will probably assume and pay it?"

In answer, I would say that, in order that our state may avail itself of the advantages of said act, you are hereby notified and assured that it is the intention of the authorities of this state to assume and pay such direct tax into the treasury of the United States, agreeably to the provisions of said act. And, in case of any change by which even a larger amount shall be apportioned to this state, it will probably be assumed and paid, as aforesaid.

I respectfully suggest that it may be the wish of our state, if agreeable to the Department, to allow, in the form of a just and reasonable set-off against said tax, such just debts and claims as may be due and owing from the General Government to the Treasurer of this state, lawfully created and advanced, to furnish troops, agreeably to the acts of Congress on that subject. We also with pleasure assure you that New-Hampshire will, by her men and money, furnish her full proportion of the means requisite to crush out this unholy rebellion, at such times and occasions as the General Government shall demand.

Very respectfully,

NATHANIEL S. BERRY,

Governor of New-Hampshire."

I have been informed by the Secretary of the Treasury that the set-off can be made as suggested in the foregoing communication. The Legislature will take such measures in relation to said tax as to them may seem proper. The accounts of expenditures by the state for raising and equipping troops for the service, &c., amounting to $879,483.71, have been forwarded to the Treasury Department, to be by them audited.

I received an order from the Secretary of War, dated May 20, 1862, to raise one Regiment of Infantry immediately, and to do every thing in my power to urge enlistments. I at once called the Council together, and made arrangements for recruiting and organizing the regiment without any delay, agreeably to said order, and the regiment is now being recruited. I trust it will have the encouragement and influence of all the citizens of the state.

I can not close without expressing the heartfelt desire that in this great crisis of our country we may exert, in our several spheres of duty, every effort in our power to sustain and transmit unimpaired to posterity the great and glorious government bequeathed to us by our ancestors.

Whereas, it becomes us to recognize the devotion and bravery of those sons of New-Hampshire, who have gone forth to aid in suppressing the existing rebellion and who have vindicated on every battle-field the honor and loyalty of the State:

Resolved, That this House has heard with pride of the uniform daring, devotion and soldierly bearing of the soldiers from this State, and that it tenders to those organizations herein named, which have participated in the active engagements of the war, its cordial thanks for their deeds, which have now become historic, and extends its sympathies to the bereaved ones whose friends have been sacrificed upon the altar of patriotism and country.

To the Second Regiment, Col. Gilman Marston, for its steady coolness amid the memorable scenes at Bull Run, and for its heroic achievements upon the field of Williamsburg. Cool in danger, brave on every occasion, it has earned for the State an enviable renown, and made itself a proper mark for public thanks and private eulogy.

To the Fifth Regiment, Col. Edward E. Cross, which bore the brunt of the fight before Richmond, losing in forty minutes two hundred of its number in killed and wounded—with many of its officers wounded, with its ranks decimated by a severe fire, it only changed its position to carry the glorious stars and stripes and the flag of the State nearer to the enemy.

To the Sixth Regiment, Col. Simon G. Griffin, which decided the day at Camden. On the anniversary of a revolutionary battle it made its name honored, and by its decisive charge won for itself honor and for the country a victory.

To the First Battalion of Cavalry, which, by its charge at Front Royal, displayed courage in the face of disaster, and contributed to the safety of the command to which it was attached.

Resolved, That while we are proud of these gallant achievements of the sons of the state, while we tender to them our thanks and inscribe their deeds on the tablets of memory, we sympathise with those who are called to mourn for those near and dear fallen in the conflict. We honor the living and reverence the dead, and while we express our thanks for the patriotism, undaunted bravery and loyalty of the sons of New-Hampshire engaged in the fight, we share with those who mourn in their regrets for the brave men who have fallen.

Resolved, That the proper officers of this House transmit to the officers commanding the several organizations herein named

Mr. Kent, from the Committee on Military Affairs, to whom was referred so much of the message of His Excellency, the Governor, as relates to the reorganizing of the Militia of the State, submitted the accompanying report, and a bill, which report was accepted.

The committee have carefully weighed the suggestions of the Commander-in-Chief, and are impressed with the necessity of an active military organization. They have also considered the systems at present in force in other States, with a view, if possible, of arriving at that conclusion which shall place the State and its available forces in its natural and proper position, at as small an expense as is commensurate with the importance of the work.

The absence of all arms from the arsenals of the State is to the committee an important fact in considering the revival of the general system of twenty-five years ago; and it is well understood that arms suitable for parade are not now held in individual hands, sufficient to arm the militia. There must be nearly if not quite forty thousand men, including our forces in the field, liable to do duty; and the procurement, either by private individual purchase, or by appropriation from the State Treasury, of arms for this force, would necessitate an expenditure of $400,000, estimating the arms at $10 each; an outlay which seems to your committee too heavy to be incurred. This and other reasons has forced us from this in other respects desirable plan, to the consideration of a different system.

The prompt and thorough enrollment of those liable to perform military duty, to be made under sufficient penalties, together with enactments for their immediate organization in case of public exigency, and the complete equipment of a smaller body, well officered, uniformed and drilled, which shall form a nucleus for speedy enlargement, if required, and be at all times ready to respond to the calls upon the State, seems to your committee the only feasible method to meet the present exigency.

Care has been taken that the forces proposed be equitably distributed throughout the State, that all sections may aid in its enlistment; and such provisions have been made as to uniform, encampments, discipline, selection of officers, and other details, as will make the proposed system correspond with the service of the United States, and afford its members an opportunity to manifest their desires in the selection of its officers. This has been done with due regard to a limited expense, so that the cost will be very much less than that under the old system.

Such a bill we have endeavored to frame, and now submit it for the consideration of the House.

The bill entitled An act to enroll the militia of the State, and provide for the reorganizing and discipline of an active force of Volunteer Militia, was read a first time.

Mr. Barnard, from the Committee on Elections, to whom were submitted the remonstrances against the right of Isaac Emerson holding a seat in this House, reported the following statement of facts, as admitted on the hearing before the committee by the sitting member and the counsel for the remonstrants:

At the annual town-meeting in Windham, in March last, after ten or more ballotings for representative, Isaac Emerson was declared elected. The whole number of votes, as declared by the moderator on that ballot, was one hundred and thirty-six (136); necessary to a choice, sixty-nine (69); and Isaac Emerson having sixty-nine votes was declared elected. On that ballot there was put into the ballot-box as votes, one piece of paper containing the name of an animal, another containing the name of a woman, and some six others on which was the name of Charles Butrick; but that there was one by the name of Charles E. Butrick. It was also admitted that some of those persons who voted for Charles Butrick intended to vote for Charles E. Butrick. The moderator excluded all these names from the ballots, and then declared the result aforesaid. The remonstrants claim that at least those pieces of paper containing the name of Charles Butrick should be counted as ballots, while the sitting member claims that they should not be so received, and claims that they were rightfully excluded.

The committee have directed their inquiry to the correctness of the action of the moderator in excluding the votes aforesaid, and they are of the opinion that the exclusion of a portion of them was improper, and not warranted by the construction which our statute seems to have pretty generally received. The only requirement of the constitution, as to the mode of the election of members of this House, is that it shall be by ballot. Our statute provides, R. S., chap. 25, sec. 8, as amended by chap. 1423 of the Pamphlet Laws, that each ballot shall contain the name of every person voted for, and all such ballots given in at any election of town, State or county officers shall have written or printed upon them the full Christian and surname of the person voted for, provided that the middle name of any person may be indicated on said ballots by an initial letter, and the term junior, second or third, may be affixed to said name on said ballot, by the usual abbreviation. It is claimed on the one hand that because the tickets cast for Charles Butrick did not contain all the necessary requisites to be reckoned as votes for Charles E. Butrick, and because in fact there was no such person as Charles Butrick in town, they were not ballots within the meaning of the statute, and should be excluded in computing the whole number; but the committee are of the opinion that as the ballots contained a name of some person who might be eligible to the office, with both the Christian and surname written upon it, the question whether the person was or not actually eligible to the office, was not for the moderator to determine. Such we think has been the uniform practice in this State. The statute has by its terms excluded blank pieces of paper from the computation of the whole number, and of course they should not be counted. The statute of 1853 requires the Christian and surname to be written or printed in full. This the committee understand was designed to remedy the uncertainty arising from using initial letters and abbreviations to designate names, and a compliance with this provision would seem to be necessary in order that such pieces of paper should be counted by the moderator as ballots.

The committee are also of the opinion that tickets containing the name of an animal, or inanimate things, or a woman, ought to be rejected in such computation of the whole number of ballots, as not being within the spirit of the statute defining that term, and as trifling with the right of suffrage, and tending to bring it into ridicule and disgrace.

No person, under the pretense of exercising the elective franchise, should ask or receive aid from the officers of the law to mar the harmony of the meeting by exciting the laughter and ridicule of the thoughtless, as the declaration of such ballots always tend to do. With these and similar exceptions the spirit of the statute seems to require that any person to be declared elected by a majority vote, to any office, must receive a number of ballots equal to a majority of the persons participating in such election. Such we think has been the very general practice in this State.

In accordance with these suggestions the committee are of the opinion that the moderator did right in excluding the votes for the animal and for the woman from his computation of the whole number; but as the votes for Charles Butrick should have been included, the sitting member did not receive a majority of all the votes cast - and reported the following resolution:

Resolved, That Isaac Emerson, not having a majority of all the votes cast at the annual election in Windham, in March last, was not legally elected, and is not entitled to a seat in this House from that town.

Mr. Shepard, of Epping, moved to amend by striking out all after the word "Resolved," and inserting the following:

That Isaac Emerson, having received a majority of all the votes cast at the annual election in Windham, in March last, was legally elected and is entitled to a seat in this House.

On motion of Mr. Foster, the said report was laid upon the table.

Mr. Woodman, from the Committee on the Judiciary, to whom was submitted the bill entitled "An act relating to Dower," reported the same with the following amendments:

To Sec. 1 add these words; viz., "and the same shall be taken into consideration by the judge in the allowance which he may make to the widow."

Strike out Sec. 2, and in lieu thereof insert the following; viz.,

The widow shall be entitled to receive one undivided net third part of the rents and profits of the estate of which her husband died seized, until her dower is assigned either by the heirs, the judge of probate, or judgment of court.

The several amendments were adopted and the bill ordered to a third reading.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened:

1. That it is with profound satisfaction that the people of New-Hampshire are relieved (by the action of Congress abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia and the Territories) from all responsibility for the existence of the barbarous system of human slavery, as practiced in the presence of foreign ministers in the capitol of the nation, which now, by the action of the national administration, is consecrated to human freedom.

2. That those great measures of national beneficence, the homestead act, and the Pacific railroad act, binding together the widely extended material interests of a great nation, and thereby developing the national resources and promoting the national happiness, meet our hearty approval.

3. That the proposition of the President, adopted by Congress, granting material aid to such States as shall take measures for the abolishment of slavery, was imperatively demanded by the necessities of the country, and has placed our government actively in harmony with the civilizing tendencies of the age.

4. That New-Hampshire will respond with alacrity to the call of the government for all the troops necessary to suppress this most iniquitous rebellion, and maintain at all hazards the integrity of the Union and the Constitution.

5. That the time has now come when the blood and treasure which have been sacrificed in subduing this wicked rebellion demand that the property of willful rebels, alienated by their treason, should be summarily confiscated and used in such manner as shall afford some indemnity for the past and security for the future.

6. That those measures rendered imperative by the exigencies and necessities of a war for the salvation of the nation, the Constitution and all the rights secured by it, are equally constitutional with those measures adopted in accordance with the provisions of that instrument in time of peace.

7. That we recognize slavery as the principal cause of the rebellion, and the war which has been fixed upon us; that every fact in its inception and prosecution shows a long-planned, deeplaid scheme to perpetuate slavery, and render subservient to it all the interests of freedom; that wherever slavery has strength, there is incessant treason and implacable, insidious hostility to the Government; that wherever slavery has no strength, there is abiding loyalty and unyielding, generous and enthusiastic support of the Government; that the Government having exhausted those efforts and measures of conciliation which would have satisfied a mistaken and excited people, not in deadly hostility to it, it now becomes the duty of that Government (if this rebellion shall not immediately cease from destroying its peace and prosperity and threatening the very existence of the nation), by the use of the war power -a power placed in the hands of the Government by slavery, through treason, rebellion and war upon it — to end both the rebellion and the war, by removing the cause.

8. That we will heartily support any measure, and cheerfully bear any amount of taxation which may be necessary to compensate loyal men for all slaves liberated in accordance with the recommendation of the President through Congress, and for all taken by the necessities of war in suppressing the rebellion.

9. That copies of these resolutions be sent to the President of the United States, the Governor of each State, and to our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

Mr. Woodman, of Dover, introduced a bill entitled An act in relation to assignments made by insolvent debtors, which was read a first time, when, on motion of Mr. Wheeler, of Newport, it was laid on the table, and the clerk ordered to procure the usual number of printed copies for the use of the House.

Mr. Sanborn, of Wakefield, introduced an act entitled An act to alter the times of holding the terms of the Supreme Judicial Court in Carroll County, which were read twice, and on his motion, referred to the Committee of the Delegation from the County ty of Carroll.

On motion of Mr. Buffum,

Resolved, That the Committee on the House of Reformation have leave to visit said Institution, and sit in committee during the session this afternoon.

Mr. Barnard, from the majority of the Committee on Elections, to whom was recommitted their report on the remonstrance of George W. DeRochemont and 155 others, against the right of Nathaniel P. Coleman of Newington, holding a seat in this House, with instructions to report facts, &c., reported the following statement of facts:

The committee find that, at the annual town meeting in Newington, in March last, there was a motion, after two unsuccessful ballotings, to indefinitely postpone the subject of choosing a representative from that town, which was carried, and the vote made certain by a poll of the house - 53 in favor, and 52 against - that vote being much larger than a majority of the aggregate vote of the town. After this vote was taken, three selectmen were chosen at different ballotings, when the meeting adjourned till Wednesday at two o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of doing the other necessary town business; that no notice was given by any one of an intention to reconsider the vote which had passed indefinitely postponing the matter of a choice of a representative, and many of the people did not attend the meeting on Wednesday who attended on Tuesday. This was particularly true of many of those who voted for the indefinite postponement.

On Wednesday, the meeting was called to order, and after voting to dispense with reading the proceedings of the previous day, a motion was made to reconsider the vote of Tuesday, indefinitely postponing the article relating to the choice of repre-The moderator declined to entertain the motion, because it was not made by one who voted with the majority, and as nearly all who voted in the majority were not present. Upon this decision of the moderator, several of those who voted against the indefinite postponement on Tuesday, stated that no business should be done until the motion was entertained and decided; and from that time until the adjournment of the meeting in the evening, the meeting was riotous and too disorderly to transact any business, although the moderator used his best efforts to restore order. During the afternoon, the motion to reconsider was renewed at various times, and upon the moderator's adhering to his ruling as first made, once or twice a rush was made toward the moderator's desk, with the cry "take him out," which was understood by the moderator and others to refer to him.

At a little after 7 o'clock in the evening on Wednesday, the moderator, finding that no business could be done, and that those who refused to submit to the ruling were determined, by concerted action, that nothing should be done, and finding that he could not restore order, adjourned the meeting until Thursday. After this was done, and many of the people had dispersed, the remaining voters, among whom the committee find were the instigators of, and a large number of the actors in the disorderly proceedings of the afternoon, made choice of a new moderator, and cast their votes for the sitting member, the same being only a minority of the number of those who participated in the vote on Tuesday indefinitely postponing the subject.

The whole number of votes for the reconsideration was fortyseven (47), the whole number of votes cast on the ballot on which it is claimed Mr. Coleman was elected, were forty-nine, of which Mr. Coleman had forty-seven (47).

The committee find that the moderator, in his rulings aforesaid, acted honestly and according to his best convictions of right.

Resolved, That Nathaniel P. Coleman was not legally elected a member of this House from the town of Newington, at the annual meeting of March last, and is not entitled to a seat as member therein.

Mr. Parkhurst reported the following facts on the part of the minority:

The undersigned, members of the Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the remonstrance of George W. DeRochemont and 55 others, against the right of Nathaniel P. Coleman of Newington to a seat in this House from said Newington, being unable to assent to the report of said committee, respectfully ask leave to present the following statement of facts in that case, to wit: That the annual town meeting of March, 1862, in the town of Newington, was duly notified and holden, and was duly organized by choosing a moderator; and the town-clerk was also chosen, and after two ineffectual ballotings for representative, a motion was made and carried, to postpone indefinitely the article in the warrant relating to the choice of the representative; and thereupon certain town officers were elected, and the meeting duly adjourned to the hour of 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, the following day. That the meeting assembled according to adjournment, and that repeated motions were made to reconsider the vote whereby the article in the warrant relating to the choice of representative was indefinitely postponed, and these motions were not only repeated but numerous—some verbal, some in writing; that one person who so moved to reconsider in writing, voted in the affirmative; that all of these said motions the moderator refused to entertain, peremptorily and arbitrarily; that as a consequence of the moderator so refusing, much confusion and disturbance arose, and a motion was made to adjourn, and a distinct vote of the meeting obtained on that question, by which vote they refused to adjourn by a decided majority; and thereupon the moderator said: "Gentlemen, I will adjourn this meeting till to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, on my own responsibility;" and thereupon, suiting the action to the word, he left the desk and went out of the house, leaving the papers and all other persons as before; that the meeting thereupon proceeded immediately and chose by ballot a new moderator, who was duly sworn, and assumed the duties of moderator; that thereupon a motion was made and carried to reconsider the vote whereby the article in the warrant relating to the choice of representative was indefinitely postponed; that then the meeting immediately proceeded, in due form of law, and chose said Nathaniel P. Coleman, the sitting member, representative by a decided majority, who was then and there declared to be so elected by said last chosen moderator; that thereupon the meeting was adjourned to the following day at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

The undersigned, understanding, from the evidence before the committee, the facts in this case to be as above cited, are of the opinion that the said Nathaniel P. Coleman, the sitting member, was duly elected, and is entitled to a seat in this House. We therefore recommend the following resolution:

Resolved, That Nathaniel P. Coleman, the sitting member, is entitled to a seat in this House as representative from said town of Newington.

The committee understand that the said George H. Mr. Goodwin was therefore obliged to give up his band, and his account has never been allowed.

Your committee are of the opinion that the claimant acted in entire good faith, and that he should be paid a just sum, such sum being properly a portion of the expense of fitting out the said 8th Regiment, duly chargeable to the United States.

In view of these facts, the committee have instructed me to report the accompanying resolution.

The resolution was adopted as follows:

Resolved, That the Council be requested to audit the account of George H. Goodwin, of Manchester, for services and expenses in recruiting a band for the 8th Regiment N. H. Volunteers, and to pay such account, when so audited, at a reasonable and proper amount, charging the same to the United States, as a part of the outfit of said regiment.

The following report was received from the Joint Standing Committee on the State Library:

The Joint Standing Committee on the State Library, to whom was referred the annual report of the State Librarian, have considered the same, and also have examined the condition of the Library.

We are of the opinion that the Library, in its present condition, is far from being creditable to the State. The present room is too much crowded, and many volumes are piled up in such a manner that they are not easily available or accessible There are a large number (probably 1000) for information. of volumes, beside papers of some value, necessarily stowed in the attic of the State House, a most unsafe and inconvenient Therefore, a more spacious and commodious room should be provided for the library, so that, as additions are made from time to time, they may be so arranged as to be worthy of our State.

By the statute of 1859, no books or papers are permitted to be taken from the library. Notwithstanding the statute and the care of the librarian, more or less books are lost from the library every year.

We would recommend that the librarian, in his annual report, state a list of the books missing and the names of the persons taking the same; and for that purpose, we have prepared the following bill, and would recommend its passage.

We have been informed that there are several packages in the Department of the Interior, at Washington, for this State, consisting of Congressional documents and reports, awaiting orders for transportation, the freight upon which would amount to about twenty-five dollars.

We would recommend that the Secretary of State and Librarian be a committe to consider what better arrangement and disposition can be made of the books in the library, and whether any room near the State House and conveniently accessible, can be secured upon reasonable terms for the library, and report to the next session of the Legislature.

For the purpose of carrying into effect the above suggestions, we would recommend the passage of the accompanying resolutions. ISAAC W. SMITH,

On the part of the Senate.

A. M. CAVERLY, MICAJAH EMERSON, THOMAS SULLIVAN, On the part of the House.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened, That the State Librarian be authorized to order any books now at Washington, in any of the departments, designed for this State, to be forwarded forthwith, and that the necessary expense of transportation be paid out of any money in the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated; and His Excellency, the Governor, is hereby authorized to draw his warrant on the treasury therefor.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State and Librarian be a committee to consider what better arrangement and disposition can be made of the books in the library, and whether any rooms near the State House and conveniently accessible, can be secured upon reasonable terms, for the library, and report to the next session of the Legislature.

Mr. Kent, from the Select Committee, to whom was referred the petition of the Grand and Petit Jurors of the County of Coös, the petition of John H. White and 101 others, citizens and legal voters of Lancaster in said county, and the petition of William Cargill and 42 others, citizens and legal voters of said Lancaster, all praying for a revision of the taxation laws of the State, submit the accompanying report and resolution:

REPORT.

Your committee entered upon the duties assigned them with the belief that beneficial changes could be made in existing enactments, so that the burden of taxation would be more easily borne. The field of labor was extensive, and embraced, not only a change in the laws, but also in the interests of many of our citizens as now vested.

The petitions were general, and no plan accompanied them to remedy the irregularities alleged to exist, although upon notification, a bill was presented at a late day in the session, essentially changing the present system.

The committee, upon discussing existing facts, were forced to the conclusion that it was impossible, in the short time allotted to the present session, to effect a safe and judicious revision of the taxation laws; a task involving so many and conflicting interests, and on which the most profound and experienced minds of the State could be profitably employed.

They were not, however, inclined to abandon the matter at this point, as they were of the opinion that some brief and comprehensive measure could be adopted, which would lessen the inequalities complained of, leaving to more profound deliberation the revision of the entire system.

The exemption of so much in value of real property from taxation, as was under mortgage, was the most prominent measure proposed, as calculated to yield satisfaction to a large and important part of the community, who, under existing laws, may bear more than a due share of the expenses of government.

The proposition to tax so much to the occupant as he actually owns, and the balance to the person whose money was thus invested, was then considered, and led to an examination of the following facts, in connection with others of perhaps equal im-

Real property should be taxed where it is located, else in some places, where property was under mortgage to non-residents, but a small amount would be visable upon which to assess the tax, and a few persons would be obliged to bear the entire burden to the exemption of their neighbors. If the tax is levied on mortgage to the mortgagee, and a lien on the land provided for its collection, the man of money would not only demand in all cases of money loaned, an obligation from the mortgager to pay the taxes; which would practically leave the matter where it now is, but from the trouble incident to its safety, would be likely to demand and receive extra interest. The effect of this, would to your committee, infuse equal burdens upon the borrower, and might drive capital where it would seek a less complicated investment. Again, if capital were taxed as non-resident, in lands secured on mortgage, the rate of taxes, state, county, town and even school district, would all affect the rate on which money could be procured, rendering it fluctuating and uncertain.

It is a question, also, with your committee, how persons having sums now secured by mortgage of real property, would bear the imposition of unexpected limitations upon its use. Sums from the yearly savings of the farmer of small means, to the income of the capitalist, have been invested in real securities under the operation of existing laws, and whether an act which would subject those sums to the additional care, expense and doubt indicated, would not be productive of increased inconvenience, is a grave question.

Your committee have entered into this detail, to show some of the embarrassments which surrounded them, in an attempt to change a part of the existing system, without that general revision which is impracticable in the time allotted us.

The matter of a tax upon incomes, of enactments regarding bank stock, which it is alleged escapes taxation, and more stringent regulations in case of fraudulent inventories, have all received attention. The first and second your committee can not reach without a more general revision, and the last meets, in many points, the same obstacle. The laws, as now existing, if enforced, will bear much more equitably than they have always done, and if the officers entrusted with their execution live up to their spirit, many evasions now made will cease.

A national tax law will undoubtedly be put in operation by Congress at an early day, and your committee are of opinion that an examination of its system and operation might materially aid in the formation of a local law, and that before another session, opportunity will be offered to gain important information from this source, and thus aid in perfecting a system that will bear equitably, without conflicting with the coming national enactment.

These remarks are submitted, not as an argument in favor of the existing laws, but as cogent reasons for a careful revision. We find the present structure to depend upon its several parts—one subject is so connected with another, that an attempt to make a comprehensive and beneficial alteration in one particular, interferes with another section and stops progress in that direction; in short, the entire fabric must receive attention, lest by the hasty displacement of a single block, more injury does not occur than was attempted to be remedied.

Such a revision, as has been already said, we are unable in the brief time assigned us, to make. We are unwilling, however, to leave the matter in its present condition, recognizing the importance of the subject and the right of the people to have all matters petitioned for made the basis of careful investigation.

The approaching years of heavier taxes, and the inequalities in some parts of the present laws, which to the minds of your committee do exist, together with a belief that labor should be protected, and all reasonable guarantees thrown around it, and believing, also, that in many respects the agricultural, mercantile and mechanical interests bear an unequal proportion of the tax as now imposed; and being confident, from our examination, that judicious alterations can only flow from a complete and careful revision of our present system, made with deliberation and experienced care, your committee submit the following resolution and recommend its passage:

Resolved, That the petitions of the Grand and Petit Jurors, and sundry citizens of the County of Coos, praying for a revision of the taxation laws, be referred to a select committee of three on the part of the House, with two on the part of the Senate, if they shall so elect, to sit during the recess, and that said committee be directed to consider the revision of the taxing laws of the State, paying particular attention to the following points: 1st. The taxation of incomes. 2d. The exemption of all actual indebtedness from taxation, whether on real or personal estate; and 3d, Providing against the return of fraudulent inventories of money at interest. That said committee prepare such a bill as to them shall seem expedient, and present the same to the next session of the Legislature for its consideration, and that they prepare an abstract of such bill and cause such abstract to be published in each newspaper printed in this State, three times successively, the last publication to be before the second Tuesday of May next.

Mr. Hughes, from the Special Committee consisting of the Delegation of the city of Nashua, to whom was referred the petition of J. G. Graves and 128 others, praying for the repeal of the charter of the city of Nashua, reported the accompanying resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That it is inexpedient to legislate upon the subject.

The Select Committee, to whom was referred the bill entitled "An act relative to the keeping of dogs," reported the bill in a new draft, and recommended its passage.

The bill was read a first time, when, on motion of Mr. Lee, of New-Ipswich, Resolved, That the House is now ready to meet the Honorable Senate in convention, for the purpose of receiving the report of the Committee appointed to wait on the Secretary of State, State Treasurer, State Printer, Warden of the State Prison, and Commissary-General, and inform them of their election.

IN CONVENTION.

Mr. Chase, of the Senate, from the Committee appointed by the Convention of the two Houses to wait upon the Secretary of State, State Treasurer, State Printer, Warden of the State Prison, and Commissary-General, inform them of their elections and receive their bonds, reported that they had attended to the duties assigned them; that all of said officers have signified their acceptance of their respective offices, and the Committee have received the bonds of the Secretary, Treasurer, Printer, and Warden, and herewith lay the same before the Convention.

On motion of Mr. Allen, of the Senate,

Resolved, That the bond of the Secretary of State be filed with the State Treasurer; and that the bonds of the State Treasurer, State Printer, and Warden of the State Prison, be filed in the office of the Secretary of State.

On motion of Mr. Patten, of the Senate, the convention rose.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. Jackman moved the bill be indefinitely postponed.

The Select Committee on National Affairs reported a majority report and a minority report, as follows:

MAJORITY REPORT.

The Committee on National Affairs, to whom was referred so much of the Governor's Message as relates to National Affairs, have considered the same, and report the accompanying series of resolutions, and recommend their adoption.

J. W. PATTERSON, PAUL J. WHEELER, HENRY O. KENT, W. H. HILLS, WILLIAM BURR.

STATE OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

IN HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, June Session, 1862.

In the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened:

1. That the vigor displayed by the Administration in raising, organizing and bringing into active service our immense army, and in providing our powerful navy; the wisdom and prudence manifested in the general conduct of the war, and in the exercise of the civil functions of the government in the perilous times upon which we have fallen, command our hearty approbation, and commend it to our unwavering confidence and support.

2. That those great measures of national beneficence, the Homestead Act and Pacific Railroad Act, binding together the widely extended material interests of a great nation, and thereby developing the national resources, and promoting the national happiness, meet our hearty approval.

3. That we heartily indorse the action of Congress in abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia, in prohibiting its existence in all territory now or hereafter in the possession of the United States, and the message of the President and the action of the national legislatures relative to emancipation upon compensation, in the slave States of the Union.

4. That while we approve of the past policy of the national government, we fully believe that the time has come when forbearance toward willful rebels should cease, and some proper measures be adopted providing for the confiscation of the property and the emancipation of the slaves of those now in armed and persistent rebellion against the government, to the end that this fearful waste of life and property may cease; that some indemnity for past losses may be obtained and security given to the Union and the cause of civil freedom for the future.

5. That slavery can but be recognized as the source of the present rebellion; and, while we are unprepared to determine what may be the results it is bringing upon itself, we express our fervent desire that the war with which it has cursed the land may be the means of destroying its political influence, and even of removing it from our midst.

6. That the immense army and invincible navy which have sprung into existence during the present struggle, are the palpable evidences of the strength of the Republic; and that they have exhibited the efficiency and unsurpassed prowess of the citizen soldiery of a free people; have sustained the honor and added luster to the history of their country, by their heroic fortitude and victorious achievements; and that every good citizen owes to each member of either arm of the service a debt of respect and gratitude which calls for unfaltering sympathy and support.

7. That the Secretary of State be directed to send copies of these resolutions to the President of the United States, the presiding officer of each House of Congress, the Governors of the several States, and each Senator and Representative of this State in Congress.

J. W. PATTERSON, PAUL J. WHEELER, HENRY O. KENT, W. H. HILLS, WILLIAM BURR.

MINORITY REPORT.

The Committee on National Affairs, being unable to report to the House any resolutions touching the matters they have under consideration, the undersigned, members of that committee, respectfully report to the House the accompanying resolutions and recommend their adoption.

> AARON P. HUGHES, ELIJAH SAWYER, LEANDER S. MORTON, JOSEPH BADGER.

STATE OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

House of Representatives, June Session, 1862.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened:

1. Resolved, That the Constitution, and the Union, and the Laws, must be preserved and maintained in all their proper and rightful supremacy, and that the rebellion now in arms against them must be suppressed and put down, and that it is our duty to sustain all measures necessary and proper to that end.

2. Resolved, That neither the Federal Government, nor the people or government of the non-slaveholding States, have a constitutional right to legislate upon, or interfere with slavery in any of the States of the Union; and that the maintenance inviolate of the rights of the States, and especially of the right of each State to order and control its own domestic institutions, according to its own judgment, exclusively, is essential to the balance of power on which the perfection and endurance of our political fabric depends.

3. Resolved, That we still adhere to the Resolution passed nearly unanimously by Congress, July 22, 1861, and sustained by the President, and upon which he appealed to the country for men and supplies, as expressing our views and purposes in reference to the prosecution of the existing civil war; that in the present national emergency, banishing all feelings of mere passion or resentment, we will recollect only our duty to the whole country; that this war is not waged on our part in any spirit of oppression, nor for any purpose of conquest or subjugation, nor for the purpose of overthrowing or interfering with the rights or established institutions of the Southern States, but to defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution, and to preserve the Union with all the dignity, equality and rights of the several States unimpaired, and that as soon as these objects are accomplished the war ought to cease.

4. Resolved, That the States are component and essential parts of the Union, bound together inseparably by the Constitution of the United States, and that none of them can cease to exist as such so long as that Constitution survives, and that it is the exclusive sphere and duty of the States to order and direct their own domestic affairs. While the rebellion, therefore, has not annulled the constitutional relations of the so-called "seceded States" to the Federal Government, neither has it divested these States of any rights or powers, municipal or otherwise, properly belonging to them as members of the Federal Union. The actual exercise of these powers and rights may for a time be interrupted or obstructed by the rebellion, and some illegitimate authority may be substituted in its place; but as soon as that rebellion is suppressed, these States will be entitled of right to resume the exercise of all the rights and powers, dignities and immunities, which properly belong to them as States of the Union.

5. Resolved, That the present war, as avowed by the President and Congress, and understood by the people, was commenced and prosecuted for the purpose of suppressing the rebellion, and preserving and vindicating the Constitution, the Union, and the Laws—and for that purpose only. It was a great and noble purpose, high above any mere sectional or party objects, and at once it inspired and united in its support all loyal men of every creed, party and section. At the call of the Government a mighty army—the noblest and most patriotic ever known—sprung at once into the field, and is bleeding and conquering in defense of its government. Under these circumstances it would be, in our opinion, most unjust and ungenerous to give any new character or direction to the war, for the accomplishment of any other than its first great purpose, and especially for the accomplishment of any mere party or sectional schemes.

6. Resolved, That the doctrines of the secessionists and of the abolitionists—as the latter are now represented in Congress—are alike false to the Constitution, and irreconcilable with the peace and unity of the country. The first have already involved us in a cruel civil war: and the others—the abolitionists—will leave the country but little hope of a speedy restoration of the Union, or peace, if the schemes of confiscation, emancipation, and other unconstitutional measures, which they have lately carried and attempted to carry through the National House of Repre-

unrebuked by the people.

7. Resolved, That Congress has no power to deprive any person of his property for any criminal offense, unless that person has first been duly convicted of the offense by the verdict of a jury; and that all acts of Congress, like those lately passed by its House of Representatives, which assume to forfeit or confiscate the estates of men for offenses of which they have not been convicted, upon due trial by jury, are unconstitutional, and lead to oppression and tyranny. It is no justification for such acts that the crimes committed in the prosecution of the rebellion are of unexampled atrocity; nor is there any such justification as State necessity known to our government or laws.

On motion of Mr. Patterson, the said reports were laid on the table, and made the special order of to-morrow, at 11½ o'clock A.M., and the Clerk ordered to procure the usual number of printed copies of the same for the use of the House.

Mr. Foster, of the Committee on National Affairs, introduced a further minority report, with accompanying resolutions, which were laid on the table and the usual number for the use of the House ordered to be printed, and made the special order tomorrow at 11½ o'clock A. M.

MINORITY REPORT.

STATE OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

In House of Representatives, June Session, 1862.

A minority of the Committee on National Affairs, to whom was referred so much of the Message of His Excellency, the Governor, as relates to National Affairs, have considered the same, and report the accompanying resolutions.

WM. L. FOSTER.

STATE OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

House of Representatives, June Session, 1862.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened:

1. That it is with profound satisfaction that the people of New-Hampshire find themselves relieved, by the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia, from all responsibility for the existence of the barbarous system of human slavery in the capital of the nation, and that we tender to Congress our hearty thanks for their action in the premises.

2. That those great measures of national beneficence, the Homestead Act and Pacific Railroad Act, binding together the widely extended material interests of a great nation, and thereby developing the national resources, and promoting the national happiness, meet our hearty approval.

3. That the proposition of the President, adopted by Congress, granting material aid to such states as shall take measures for the abolition of slavery, has placed our government actively in harmony with the civilizing tendencies of the age.

4. That New-Hampshire will respond with alacrity to the call of the government for all the troops necessary to suppress this most iniquitous rebellion, and maintain, at all hazards, the integrity of the Union and the Constitution.

- 5. That the war waged by the Federal Government against the rebels, is a war for the support of the Constitution; that we are in arms against the rebels because they are in arms against the Constitution; that, while they struggle to overthrow it, we should insist upon its maintenance and perpetuity; that this being the theory of the war, our practice should conform to it; and that only by respect and submission, on our part, to its authority, can we hope to reëstablish the power of the Constitution and the supremacy of the Government over all the States of the Union.
- 6. That we believe that confiscation of the property of willful rebels, which, in the case of slave confiscation, involves emancipation, rests solely with the President as Commander-in-Chief of the Army, who can exercise it only as a military necessity, and that he ought to exercise it to the extent which such necessity may at any time demand; and that the wisdom and prudence manifested by him in the midst of the unparalleled responsibilities which events have cast upon him, commands our approval of his conduct in the past, and our confidence in his future action.
- 7. That, "while in periods of excitement in our former history some of the opponents of slavery have resorted to measures which we have thought it our duty to oppose and censure," still we recognize slavery as the principal cause of the present rebellion and war; that every fact in its inception and prosecution shows a determination, on the part of the rebel leaders, to perpetuate slavery, and render subservient to it all the interests of freedom; and, therefore, now, as heretofore, "we are firmly and unalterably opposed to the extension of slavery over any portion of American soil now free," and that we shall rejoice if the consequence of the present war shall be its total extinction.

The House then considered the special order of the day, being a bill entitled "An act providing for the establishment of an Invalid Hospital for sick and disabled New-Hampshire soldiers."

On motion of Mr. Kent the rules were suspended, the bill read a third time and passed.

A message was received from His Excellency, the Governor, with regard to the account of Thomas L. Wheat for services rendered the N. H. regiments now near Richmond, which, on motion of Mr. Straw, of Manchester, was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs, and the account to the Committee on Claims.

The bill entitled "An act in addition to and in amendment of the act authorizing cities and towns to aid the families of volunteers, and for other purposes, passed June session, 1861, was then taken up and considered.

Mr. Horne, of Dover, moved to amend, in line 10, section 1, by adding, after the word "State," or as a volunteer in the navy.

In line 17, section 1, strike out, after the word case, "and can be obtained in no other way than that provided by this act."

In line 15, section 4, after the word "necessary," strike out "and could not have been otherwise obtained."

Mr. Chandler, of Concord, moved to amend, in page 6, section 3, line 7, by striking out the words "one dollar per week," and inserting four dollars per calendar month.

In line 8, strike out same and insert same.

Mr. Foster moved to amend by adding, after the word "support," in line 15, section 1, the words "and for the aid of the wife and of the children, under 16 years of age, of any member of the volunteer or enrolled militia of this State, whose said wife or children, since the enrollment of such volunteer, have actually removed into and become inhabitants of this State."

Mr. Sanborn, of Wakefield, moved to amend, by adding, between sections 3 and 4, the following section:

Section 4. "Any town or city may apply money in accordance with the provisions of section first of this act, for the aid of the widow or children dependent as aforesaid upon any of its inhabitants mustered into service as aforesaid, who may have died while in the active service of the United States; or for the aid of such inhabitant himself who may have returned home discharged from disability; and the sums so expended shall be reimbursed by the State under the rules and limitations provided by this act in other cases: provided, however, that there shall be no reimbursement of more than eight dollars per month for any such disabled inhabitant, nor of expenditures made more than six months after the death or discharge of such inhabitant.

Mr. Hills, of Plaistow, moved to strike from section 3 the words "who, at the time of his being mustered into the service of the United States," and to amend section 6 to conform thereto.

Mr. Richards, of Keene, moved to amend, in section 2, by inserting the words "If, in consequence of doubt as to legal residence, or from any other cause, any person or persons entitled to assistance by the provisions of this act, do not receive it from the committee or selectmen of any town, the county commissioners of the County in which they may belong, shall render such aid as provided by this act, and make their returns in the same manner as the committees of towns are required to do,—drawing upon the county treasurer for the amount so furnished.

The amendments were severally adopted, the rules suspended, on motion of Mr. Hughes, and the bill was read a second and third time and passed.

On motion of Mr. Eastman, of Derry,

Resolved, That when the House adjourn this evening, it adjourn to meet to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

To the Committee on Military Accounts:

Mr. Blunt, from the Committee on Printers' Accounts, to whom were referred the accounts of Carleton & Harvey and E. D. Boylston, and, also, the account of J. S. The report was accepted.

Mr. Topliff, from the Committee consisting of the delegation from the City of Manchester, to whom was referred the several petitions asking for legislation in relation to the powers and duties of the school committee of said city, reported the accompanying resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the petitioners have leave to withdraw.

The joint select committee appointed to audit the accounts of the State Treasurer, report that, having thoroughly examined the Treasurer's accounts for the fiscal year ending June 1, 1862, they find the same correctly cast and properly vouched.

The committee also report that they have not examined the additional "report of the State Treasurer relative to the receipts and disbursements of money connected with the military operations of the State from April 29, 1861, to June 1, 1862," for the reason that the examination would involve an amount of labor, in the examination of thousands of vouchers, which your committee have been unable to do the present session. They therefore report the facts to the House, that they may take such action as may seem desirable.

CHAS. P. SANBORN, W. H. HILLS, JOSEPH BADGER,

Committee on the part of the House.

CYRUS ADAMS, on the part of the Senate.

The report was accepted.

The joint special committee, to whom was referred so much of the report of the Quartermaster-General as relates to repairs upon the arsenal at Portsmouth, and the subject of a new arsenal near the center of the State, having had the subject under consideration, submitted the following report:

The committee, on Saturday, the 28th of June, visited the arsenal at Portsmouth and examined into its condition, together with the property stored therein.

The building is 54 by 34 feet in size, built of brick, with a brick wall surrounding the yard in front about 8 feet in height. The roof is what is called a hip roof—is covered with shingles, and is now somewhat out of repair, leaking in some places. It could probably be patched with shingles and made to answer for a few years more. Your committee, however, were convinced of the desirableness of making the building as nearly fire proof as possible, and have estimated the expense of slating the roof to be but a trifle more than a covering of first quality of new shingles. The expense of slating the roof would be $7 per square of 100 feet, or thereabouts: or from $125 to $150 in all. When once slated, the work would be permanent.

The danger to be apprehended from fires is from the buildings in the neighborhood upon three sides.

The building is provided with wooden shutters to the windows and port-holes. These could be covered with sheet or boiler iron at small expense, and thereby nearly all danger from surrounding buildings be securely guarded against. The expense would not probably exceed $75 or $100.

The Quartermaster-General, in his report, remarks that the doors entering the building are too light, and ought to be replaced with heavier ones.

We examined the doors, and are of the opinion that, though they are rather light for the purpose, they will answer the object for which they were designed very well, for a few years longer, and then should be replaced with iron. The gate in front needs some repairs.

Your committee would, therefore, recommend that the roof be slated, and the shutters be covered with sheet or boiler iron upon the back side and each end, that the gate be repaired, and the gate doors and shutters be painted.

The arsenal, at the present time, contains over 800 Windsor rifles with sabers, worth $22 each, and 600 smooth-bore muskets, worth $10 each; 2 brass 6 pounders, 800 sets of equipments, 3 sets of standard weights and measures, furnished by the U.S. Government, beside a quantity of other material usually stored there not particularly valuable.

The value of the property at present stored in the arsenal is some where from $25,000 to $30,000. With the repairs recommended by the committee, there would be no necessity for procuring any insurance upon the property stored therein.

The committee do not find that there is any necessity for a new arsenal, those at Portsmouth and Lancaster being sufficient for the wants of the State at present. Should an emergency arise requiring the use of a room or rooms near the center of the State, for the deposit of arms, doubtless the rotunda of the State House, or some private building, could be secured temporarily till the Legislature could make provision therefor.

The committee are of the opinion that the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars will be sufficient to make the repairs indicated in the above report, and that the sum can be more judiciously expended under the supervision of some person at Portsmouth, than of any person residing at a distance; and would recommend the Mayor of Portsmouth as a gentleman well qualified for that purpose, and who would probably be glad to attend to the same, in behalf of the State, without remuneration.

To carry out the views of your committee, they have prepared the accompanying resolution for the consideration of the Legislature.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened, That the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars be appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of slating the roof of the arsenal at Portsmouth, for covering the shutters to the windows and port-holes of the building with iron, except those upon the front side of the same; for repairing the gates at the front entrance, and for painting the doors, gates and shutters; and that the same be expended under the direction of the Mayor of the City of Portsmouth, and that the Governor be authorized to draw his warrant on the Treasurer therefor.

Robinson; that the sum of sixty-six dollars and seventy-five cents ($66.75) be allowed Thomas L. Wheat; that the same be paid out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, and the Governor be authorized to draw his warrant for the same.

The resolution was read a first and second time, rules suspended, and ordered to a third reading.

Mr. Parker, of Manchester, from the joint select committee in relation to the claims of the several towns and cities for aid furnished to the families of volunteers, offered their report, as follows:

That the committee, upon proceeding to discharge their duties, found that the claims and statements, in pursuance of the act of last session, had been made by about 180 towns and cities in the State; and that a proper and final investigation of those statements, involving an examination of the muster rolls in the office of the Adjutant-General, to ascertain if the soldiers returned as mustered into service, were actually so mustered in, with the dates of such muster, a verification of the length of time during which the relief claimed was furnished, a re-calculation of the amount claimed, together with the decision of many and difficult questions of law and of fact arising upon the face of the statements returned, and the settlement of doubts as to the propriety of many claims apparently correct upon their face might probably be impossible during the present session, considering the shortness of the time and the other duties of the members of the committee. It being, however, the evident desire of the members of the Legislature that the accounts should be examined as far as possible during the session; and as the resolution appointing the committee provided for recommending a different course of action, in case the committee should at any time deem it advisable, the committee determined to proceed and accomplish as much as they could possibly do. The committee then proceeded to adopt the following rules, to be observed by them in the examination of the accounts.

No allowance should be made in the following cases:

1. Aid furnished prior to the passage of the act of July 4, 1861.

2. Aid furnished to the dependents of soldiers not actually mustered into the service of the United States.

3. Aid furnished before the soldiers were actually mustered into service.

4. Aid furnished any other dependents than the wife, parents, and children under 16 years of age.

5. Aid furnished families of seamen enlisted in the naval service.

6. Aid furnished to any one family amounting to more than $12 for each calendar month, from the time when the assistance commenced to the time when it ceased.

7. Where the statements returned by the towns and cities omit to state, first, the age and the relationship of the persons assisted; second, the exact time during which the aid was furnished.

8. Where the aid seems to have been furnished as a bounty to the soldier or his family, without due regard to the evident intention of the law that the aid should be afforded only in cases of necessity and poverty.

The committee then, by means of sub-committees, made an examination of the statements returned, and the results of that examination are embodied in the reports of those sub-committees herewith reported.

The committee, however, have concluded not to make a report recommending the final allowance of any of the claims examined by them. The returns from some of the towns, particularly from the smaller towns of the State, examined and audited in accordance with the rules adopted by the committee, have been found by the sub-committees to be mainly correct, and have been so reported. But many of the returns, especially those from the larger towns and cities, embracing the largest amounts claimed, seem to contain errors and improper charges, (which have been as far as possible pointed out in the reports of the sub-committees) and to need investigation in other respects which it is impossible to make during the present session; and the committee have also had too great doubts as to the correctness of the rules by them adopted in auditing the claims, to feel willing to report those claims for final allowance at this time.

The act of last year also clearly provides that the claims for reimbursement, before they are paid shall be carefully examined and approved by the State Treasurer, and it does not seem competent for this committee to relieve the treasurer from the discharge of this duty; which, however, he has not been able to perform during the present session.

In order, therefore, that the accounts may be more fully examined, and in the manner contemplated by the law; and in order also to retain and make the examinations of the committees perfectly available in the final allowance of the claims, the committee have concluded to report to the Legislature the full result of their labors embodied in this report and in the reports of the sub-committees, and to recommend the passage of the accompanying joint resolution:

STATE OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

In the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixtytwo.

Resolution providing for the final allowance and payment of all claims against the State for aid furnished the families of volunteers prior to June, 1862:

referred to the Governor and Council, to be by them, in connection with the State Treasurer, further examined and finally audited and allowed; and that, as fast as said claims are so audited and allowed, the same shall be paid,—with interest thereon from August 1, 1862, if payment be delayed beyond that time,—out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated; and the Governor is hereby authorized to draw his warrant therefor.

second time, and ordered to a third reading.

ordered to a third reading:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened, That the Rev. R. S. Stubbs, Chaplain of the House of Representatives, be allowed the same compensation as though he were a member of the House of Representatives for the present session.

The resolution was read a first and second time, and, on motion of Mr. Perkins, the rules were suspended, the resolution was then read a third time and passed.

[Mr. Topliff in the chair.]

Mr. George, from the Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the petition of Joseph W. Thompson, praying that Green's Grant be classed with Gorham, reported the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the petition be referred to the next Legislature.

Mr. Barnard, from the same committee, to whom was referred the remonstrance of James L. Wilson and others, against the right of Stephen Smith, of Holderness, to a seat in this House, made the following report:

That the sitting member was not an inhabitant of the State for two years preceding the March election of 1862; but the committee are equally divided on the question of whether or not he was an inhabitant of the State more than two years before his qualification as a representative on the first Wednesday of June 1862.

The committee therefore report the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Committee be discharged from the farther consideration of said remonstrance.

Mr. Parkhurst, of Nashua, moved to amend, by adding after the word "resolved," the following:

That Stephen Smith not having been an inhabitant of this State for two years next preceding his election, is constitutionally ineligible to a seat in this House as one of the representatives from the town of Holderness.

[The Speaker in the chair.]

On motion of Mr. Patterson, the national resolutions were taken from the table and considered.

Mr. Patterson moved to amend the fifth resolution reported by the majority, so as to read as follows:

That slavery can but be recognized as the source of the present rebellion; and while we are unprepared to determine what may be the results it is bringing upon itself, we shall not be chargeable with wrongfully interfering with the domestic institutions of any State, if the war which slavery has originated and is now waging against the life of the Republic shall result, as we desire it may, in destroying its political influence, and even in removing it from our midst.

Also, to add the fourth (IV) resolution reported by Mr. Foster.

That New-Hampshire will respond with alacrity to the call of the government for all the troops necessary to suppress this most iniquitous rebellion, and maintain, at all hazards, the integrity of the Union and the Constitution.

And also, to add the following resolution (numbered VIII):

That the great trials and difficulties which the present administration has been called to encounter, have served to enhance our confidence in the wisdom and integrity of Abraham Lincoln, whom Providence seems to have raised to the Chief Magistracy for a time like this, and that hereafter, as in time past, he shall have our sympathy and support in the discharge of his high and responsible duties.

The amendments were adopted.

Mr. Foster moved to amend the same by striking out the fourth resolution reported by the majority, and insert the following instead thereof:

That the war waged by the Federal Government against the rebels, is a war for the support of the Constitution; that we are in arms against the rebels because they are in arms against the Constitution; that, while they struggle to overthrow it, we should insist upon its maintenance and perpetuity; that this being the theory of the war, our practice should conform to it; and that only by respect and submission, on our part, to its authority, can we hope to re-establish the power of the Constitution and the supremacy of the Government over all the States of the Union.

That Congress can only exercise the power of confiscating the property of traitors and rebels in conformity with the modes prescribed by the Constitution and laws; that the powers delegated by the Constitution to the Executive and Legislative departments of the Government should be maintained and preserved from collision and interference, in time of war as in time of peace; that the amazing foresight of the illustrious founders of the Government was sufficient for the present emergency; but that the powers delegated to the President as Commander-in-Chief of the army are sufficient for those occasions which the tardy power of judicial proceedings can not reach; that, as a military necessity, the Commander-in-Chief can and should confiscate the property of willful rebels to the full extent which such necessity may at any time demand, and that the wisdom and prudence manifested by the President in the midst of the unparalleled responsibilities which events have cast upon him, command our approval of his conduct in the past, and our confidence in his future action.

Mr. Bingham moved to amend the amendment proposed by Mr. Foster, by striking out all after the words "judicial proceedings can not reach"; and on the question of the adoption of this amendment, demanded the yeas and nays, which were taken third time and passed.

Mr. Saunders, of Nashua, from the select committee appointed to consult with the Governor in regard to measures to expedite the enlistment of volunteers for the war, offered their report as follows:

Whereas, the President of the United States, concurring in the patriotic representations of the Governors of the loyal States of the Union, has decided to call into the service of the United States an additional force of 300,000 men, in order to restore and increase the national forces in the field, to follow up the recent successes of the federal arms, and, by prompt and vigorous measures, to speedily crush out the Southern rebellion; therefore.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened, That this wise determination and energetic action, on the part of the state and national executives, meet our earnest approbation; that we believe that the people of the country demand that the whole resources of the nation should be at once applied for the immediate destruction of the armies of the rebels; that the people of New-Hampshire will respond with alacrity to this new call upon her patriotic sons to go forth to the battle-field; and that we pledge the faith of this Legislature and of this State to the National Government; that New-Hampshire will not be behind her sister states in fulfilling the requirements of patriotism, but will continue to pour out her treasure and send out her citizen soldiery, until the last trace of the rebellion has passed away, and peace and prosperity, the Constitution and the Union of the States, are fully and permanently restored.

Resolved, That His Excellency, the Governor and Commander-in-Chief, be requested forthwith to issue his proclamation, calling upon the people of this State to raise the regiments required by the present emergency, and to make every possible exertion, with the coöperation of all other State officials and all patriotic citizens, to animate the sons of New-Hampshire to another and final uprising in behalf of the imperiled government

There are a large number of vouchers to be examined, and many inquiries to be made to meet the design of the resolutions; under these circumstances, the committee have concluded that the objects sought by the instructions to the committee, would be best accomplished in the manner recommended in the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the Speaker to make full examination into all expenditures by the State since the commencement of the war, for horses, arms or other military stores and equipments; and to make examination into any other military expenditures of the State that they may consider for the public interest; said committee to sit after the adjournment of the session; to have power to send for persons and papers, and to make a report to the next session of the Legislature.

Mr. Bingham introduced the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of this House are hereby presented to the Hon. Edward A. Rollins, for the appropriate, able and impartial manner with which he has performed his duties as Speaker during the present session.

The Speaker responded as follows:

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives-

Your approbation is generous and rich enough to satisfy the cravings of the most ambitious, but when its recipient can not veil, even from himself, his numberless defects, your very bounties but add to his embarrassments.

To say I thank you would be but echoing the customary language of a thankless world; while not to thank you with my whole heart and soul and life, were a profanation of my better impulses worthy your contempt. In this term's service I claim no merit but an honest purpose and devotion to my duty, and if these secure the welcome language of your commendation, my labors are plenteously requited. Richer and dearer than the gifts of princes are the approving words of one's daily associates and friends. In return for yours I can not find expression for my tenderest sentiments, and you must be content with the voiceless homage of a grateful heart.

But upon me, gentlemen, and not on you, rests the debt of gratitude. For your gentle courtesies and pleasant recognitions, -for the constancy of your favor and the priceless value of your support, in my oftentimes difficult service, I shall for ever be your grateful debtor. More than this, yours have been peculiar duties and responsibilities, and you have faithfully and gracefully discharged them. It is you who have made the House so pleasant to its membership-you, who have observed even the little proprieties of debate and action—you, who have built the wishes of your neighbors and the interests of larger communities into actual law-you, who have opened the treasury of the State for our holy defense against traitors, and pledged the deep, religious, never-dying love of our united people to an unbroken nationality. Your debtors, then, are numberless; and when our sittings are over, and you shall resume your accustomed labors, an appreciative constituency shall make known to you their obligation and their gratitude.

And now, gentlemen, reverently, and with sentiments of the holiest veneration, I implore that being whom I fain would honor in my outward as well as inward life, that his approbation, without which all else is vanity, may rest upon you, not only in this world, and now, but in that to come, to which this is but the vestibule.

Gentlemen, while you have been quietly sitting in these seats, so calmly acting upon matters of local interest or public policy sitting amidst plenty, and safety, and luxury—rank, bloody treason has murdered hundreds of your sons and brothers; farms, work-shops, and counting-rooms, upon your own hill-sides, have been robbed of human life. Day after day we have seen the sick and the maimed wearily threading our streets, and we have mourned, too, over the mangled forms of the dead. The land is filled with the voice of lamentations; mothers, to-night, weep for their first-born, stricken in battle, and widows refuse to be comforted; the uncoffined dead, themselves, cry to us from their crowded graves. Forgive me, then, if, even in brief response, I say a single word for constitutional liberty and national life. With the benediction of the God of battles, our purpose is their vindication. For this let us beg in our morning and evening communings—for this let all of us, let an undivided people yearn, and labor, and if need be fight, as a family for its hearth-stone and its altar.

It may load our treasury with a hundred fold its present obligations. It may stop every shuttle on our water-falls, and furl every sail of our commerce; it may palsy every enterprise and dry up every fountain of our personal resources; it may develop mighty social questions, and compel solutions which else had been impossibilities; it may decimate our population and bring dead to every household, yet shall we succeed, for the Lord of Hosts is with us, and in the absolute, inevitable right of our cause we find our power, and behold the omen of certain triumph.

"They never fail who die,
In a just cause. The block may soak their gore;
Their heads may sodden in the sun—their limbs
Be strung to city gates or castle walls;
But still their spirit walks abroad. Though years
Elapse, and others share as dark a doom,
They but augment the deep and sweeping thoughts
Which overspread all others, and conduct
The world at last to freedom."

Here ends my legislative experience, but in the undisturbed seclusion of my home, with more than a kinsman's hope, I shall trace your coming fortunes; and not only shall your successes here delight me, but your every acquisition, which bears the impress of integrity and justice, shall enrich me as my own. It shall be a portion of my very self.

On motion of Mr. Hughes, the House took a recess of 15 minutes.

At the expiration of which the Speaker called the House to order.

On motion of Mr. Barnard, the national resolutions were again taken from the table and considered. After which, on motion of Mr. Hughes, they were laid on the table, and made the special order of to-morrow at 8 A. M.

till to-morrow at 8 o'clock A. M.

Wednesday, July 9, 1862.

Prayer was offered by the Chaplain. After which, at 8 A. M., the House was called to order by the Speaker.

the President shall decide who shall speak first.

6. If any member transgress the rules of the Senate, the President shall, or any member may, call him to order; in which case the member so called to order shall sit down, and the Senate, if appealed to, shall decide in the case; but if there be no appeal, the decision of the President shall be conclusive.

7. No member shall absent himself, without permission, from the Senate.

8. A motion shall be seconded before it is debated, and if required by the President, or any member, it shall be reduced to writing.

9. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to postpone indefinitely, to lay on the table, to postpone to a certain day, to commit, or to amend, which several motions shall take precedence in the same order in which they are arranged. And no motion to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a certain day, or to commit, being decided, shall be in order at the same stage of the bill or proposition, until after an adjournment.

10. If the question under debate will admit of division, any member may have it divided, and in filling blanks the longest time and the largest sum shall be put first.

11. When the reading of a paper is called for, and the same is objected to, it shall be decided by a vote of the Senate, and without debate.

12. When the yeas and nays are required, each member shall declare his assent or dissent to the question, unless for special

14. After a motion has been decided, it shall be in order for any member who voted with the majority, or, if the Senate be equally divided, any member voting on the side prevailing, to move for a reconsideration thereof, unless the bill, resolution, report, amendment, or motion on which the vote was taken, has gone from the possession of the Senate; but no motion to reconsider shall be in order unless made the same day on which the vote was taken, or the next day after, on which the Senate shall be in session; but no vote shall be reconsidered when a less number of members is present than when it passed.

The Senate may resolve itself into a committee of the whole at any time, on motion made for that purpose; and, in forming a committee of the whole, the President shall leave the chair, and appoint a chairman to preside in committee. The President may at any time name any member to perform the duties of the chair, but such substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment.

22. The last question upon the second reading of a bill or resolution shall always be, Shall it be read a third time? and no amendment shall be received or discussed on the third reading of any bill or resolution, unless by consent of eight members present; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of a bill or resolution, to move its commitment; and should such commitment take place, and an amendment be reported, the bill or resolution shall again be read a second time, and considered as in committee of the whole.

23. The titles of bills, and such parts thereof as may be affected by proposed amendments, shall be entered on the journals.

If the President doubts, or a division is called for, the Senate shall divide. Those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats, and stand till they be counted, and afterward those in the negative shall rise and stand till they be counted. The President shall then rise and state the decision of the Senate.

appeal to the House by any two members.

- 3. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form: to wit, "As many as are of opinion that (as the case may be), say aye"; and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "Those of a contrary opinion, say no." If the Speaker doubts, or a division is called for, the House shall divide. Those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats and stand till they be counted, and afterward those in the negative shall rise and stand till they be counted. The Speaker shall then rise and state the decision of the House.

5. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise directed by the House.

6. The Speaker shall designate to which of the standing committees all memorials, petitions, accounts, or other matters shall be referred, unless otherwise ordered by the House.

7. The Speaker shall vote in no case, unless the House be equally divided, or unless his vote, if given to the minority, will make the division equal; and in case of such equal division the question shall be lost.

8. All acts, addresses and joint resolutions shall be signed by the Speaker; and all writs, warrants or subpœnas, issued by order of the House, shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the Clerk.

9. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries, the Speaker, or chairman of the committee of the whole House, shall have the power to order the same to be cleared.

10. No person but the members and officers of the House, members of the Council, and members of the Senate, the Secretary of the State, Treasurer, and Clerks of the Senate, shall be admitted within the door of the Representatives' Chamber, unless by invitation of the Speaker, or some member of the House, with consent of the Speaker, except in public hearings, parties, their counsel and witnesses, under the direction of the Speaker.

11. The Speaker shall have power to substitute any member to perform the duties of the chair, such substitution not to ex-

OF DECORUM AND DEBATE.

12. When any member is about to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat, and respectfully address himself to the Speaker.

13. If any member transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order; in which case, the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, and the question of order shall then be distinctly stated from the Chair; and in all cases where a member shall be called to order for uttering disrespectful words, upon the request of any member the words objected to shall be reduced to writing by the member so calling to order; after which the member so called to order may explain, and the question shall be open to debate, as in other cases, and decided by the Speaker, whose decision shall be submitted to, unless an appeal be made to the House by a member, in which case the only question shall be, "Is the Speaker's decision correct?" which shall be decided without debate. If the question be in favor of the member called to order, he may proceed; if otherwise, and the case may require it, he shall be liable to the censure of the House.

14. In all cases the member first rising shall speak first. When two members rise at the same time, the Speaker shall name the person to speak.

15. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question, without leave of the House; nor more than once, until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

16. While the Speaker is putting any question, or addressing the House, no one shall walk out of, or across the House; nor in such case, or when a member is speaking, shall entertain private discourse; nor, while a member is speaking, shall pass between him and the Chair; nor shall any member leave his seat while the yeas and nays are calling.

17. No member shall vote on any question in the event of which he is directly interested; or in any case where he was not present when the question was put.

18. Every member who shall be in the House when a question is put, shall give his vote, unless the House, for special reason, shall excuse him.

19. No motion shall be debated until the same shall be seconded and stated from the Chair; and when a motion shall be made and seconded, it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the Speaker or any member, and delivered in at the table, and read by the Speaker, before the same shall be debated.

20. No petition shall be received by the House, unless it be presented by a member thereof, and upon motion made for that purpose; nor until the substance of said petition be concisely minuted, and the name of the member, and the town he represents, recorded upon the back thereof; and it shall be the duty of the Speaker, whenever any motion relative to a petition is to be stated to the House, to state, in the first place, the substance of the petition, as minuted on the back thereof.

21. After a motion is stated by the Speaker it shall be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn at any time before an amendment.

22. When any question is under debate, no motion shall be received, but, 1st, to adjourn; 2d, to lie on the table; 3d, for the previous question; 4th, to postpone indefinitely; 5th, to postpone to a day certain; 6th, to commit; and 7th, to amend, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged. Motions to adjourn, to lie on the table, and take from the table, shall be decided without debate.

23. The Speaker shall put the previous question in the following form, "Shall the main question be now put?" and all debate upon the main question shall be suspended until the previous question has been decided. After the adoption of the previous question the sense of the House shall forthwith be taken upon pending amendments, in their regular order, and then upon the main question.

25. If the previous question is decided in the negative, it shall not be again in order till after adjournment, but the main question shall be left before the House, and disposed of as though the previous question had not been put.

26. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted upon during the session.

27. Any member may call for a division of the question, when the sense will admit of it; and upon a motion to amend, a refusal to strike out words shall neither preclude amendment to such words, nor a motion to strike out and insert.

28. A motion for commitment, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendment to the main question, and all motions and reports may be committed at the pleasure of the House.

29. No new motion shall be admitted under color of amendment, as a substitute for the motion under debate.

30. No motion shall be reconsidered, unless the motion for reconsideration be made by a member who voted with the majority, nor unless notice of such motion be given on the same day on which the vote passed, or on the next day on which the House shall be in session, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock.

31. When the reading of a paper is called for, and objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the House.

And when any committee shall report otherwise than by bill, they shall, if the subject admit of it, subjoin to their report a resolution, making such disposition of the matter committed to them as to the committee shall seem expedient.

39. Whenever it shall not be convenient for any standing committee to attend promptly to all the business which may be properly referred to it, the Speaker may, on a vote of the House to that effect, appoint an additional committee on the same subject, to consist of the same number of members as the original committee, whose duty it shall be to take into consideration all matters in relation to that subject which shall be referred to them by the House, and to report thereon.

ON BILLS.

40. Every bill and joint resolution shall be introduced by motion for leave, or by an order of the House, on the report of a committee; and no bill or joint resolution shall be introduced by any member (except on the report of a committee), unless he shall have given at least one day's notice of intention, and of the object of the bill or joint resolution to be introduced.

41. Every bill shall have three several readings in the House previous to its passage; the first reading shall be for information, and thereupon, when the bill shall have been introduced by a committee, if not rejected or otherwise disposed of, a time shall be assigned for a second reading; and upon the second reading, if not rejected or otherwise disposed of by the House, a time shall be assigned for a third reading. When a bill shall have been introduced by a member upon leave, or by message from the Senate, and read a first time, if it be not rejected or otherwise disposed of by the House, the question shall be, Shall the bill be read a second time? and if ordered to a second reading, it shall immediately be read a second time by its title, and be by the Speaker referred to the appropriate standing committee, unless otherwise ordered by the House. No bill, after it has been read a second time, shall have a third reading until after an adjournment. The time assigned for the second and third reading of bills and resolutions shall be 11 o'clock in the forenoon and 3 o'clock in the afternoon, unless otherwise ordered by the House.

42. No amendment shall be made, but upon the second reading of a bill or joint resolution, and all resolutions shall be in writing, with the name of the member and the town he represents on the back thereof. The orders of the day for the reading of bills and joint resolutions shall hold for every succeeding day,

43. All bills, and all votes and resolutions that are necessary to be carried to the Senate for their concurrence, may be sent by the Assistant Clerk.

OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE HOUSE.

44. The House may resolve itself into committee of the whole House at any time, on the motion of a member made for that purpose; and in forming a committee of the whole House, the Speaker shall leave the chair, and a chairman to preside in committee shall be appointed by the Speaker.

45. Upon bills and resolutions committed to a committee of the whole House, the bill or resolution shall first be read throughout, by the clerk, and then again read and debated by clauses, leaving the preamble of the bill to be last considered; the body of the bill or resolution shall not be defaced or interlined, but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the clerk on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee, and so reported to the House. After report, the bill or resolution shall again be subject to be debated and amended by clauses, before a question to pass it to a third reading be taken.

46. The rules of proceeding in the House shall be observed in committee of the whole House, so far as they may be applicable, except the rule limiting the time of speaking.

47. No standing rule or order of the House shall be rescinded without one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; nor suspended, unless by a vote therefor of two thirds of the members present, to be ascertained by actual count, when any member shall request the same.

ORDER OF BUSINESS OF THE DAY.

48. As soon as the journal is read, the speaker shall call for petitions from members of the House. The petitions having been presented and disposed of, reports, first from the standing, and then from the select committees, shall be called for and disposed of. And the above business shall be done in no other part of the day, except by permission of the House.

49. The unfinished business in which the House was engaged at the last preceding adjournment, if called for by any member, shall have the preference over all other business, except the general order of the day; and no motion, or any other business except the general order of the day, shall be received, without special leave of the House, until the former is disposed of.

JOINT RULES

OF THE

SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

1. When a convention of the two Houses is to be formed, whether by requirement of the Constitution or by a vote or resolve of the two Houses, a message shall be sent from the House of Representatives to the Senate, giving notice when the House will meet the Senate in convention. As soon thereafter as the convenience of the Senate will permit, they will attend in the House. The Speaker of the House shall be chairman of the convention, and shall state the reasons for forming the convention. When the House and Senate are thus formed in convention, the rules adopted as the rules of the House shall be considered the rules of the convention, so far as they may be deemed applicable, and the convention shall accordingly be governed thereby.

2. Messages shall be sent by such person or persons as each House may determine to be proper.

3. Messages from either House shall be received by the other at all times, except when engaged in putting a question, in calling the yeas and nays, in counting ballots, or in reading the journal.

4. When a message shall be sent from either House to the other, it shall be announced at the door of the House to which it may be sent, by the door-keeper.

5. While bills are on their passage between the two Houses, they shall be under the signature of the clerk of each House respectively.

6. There shall be a committee for the purpose of engrossing bills, consisting of two members of each House. All bills that pass both Houses shall be delivered to said committee, be by them engrossed, carefully examined, and reported to the respective Houses; and shall be signed, first by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and then by the President of the Senate.

7. There shall be a committee, to consist of three members of the House and one of the Senate, on each of the following subjects: to wit, On all matters relative to the State Library, and on all matters relative to the State House and State House Yard.

8. Every bill or joint resolution, repealing or modifying any specific existing statute passed since the Revised Statutes, shall refer to the same by its title, and the session when the same was passed, and shall contain no reference to the Compiled Statutes; and it shall be the duty of the presiding officer of each branch to enforce this rule, by requiring all bills and resolutions to be conformed thereto, before putting any vote thereon, except to commit or amend.

9. When a bill or resolve which shall have passed in one House is rejected in the other, notice thereof shall be given to the House in which the same shall have passed.

10. Each House shall transmit to the other all papers on which any bill or resolve may be founded.

11. Each House shall transmit to the other all bills which have passed their several stages in the House in which they originated, at least twenty-four hours before the time fixed for adjournment.

12. After each House shall have adhered to their disagreement, a bill or resolve shall be considered lost.

13. No claim outstanding on the first day of the session shall be acted upon, unless such claim shall have been presented before the close of the second week of the session.

BANK COMMISSIONERS' REPORTS.

To His Excellency, NATHANIEL S. BERRY, Governor of the State of New-Hampshire:

The Bank Commissioners, having completed their examination of all the Banks and Savings Institutions in the State, respectfully submit their ANNUAL REPORT.

The whole number of banks in the State is fifty-two, with an aggregate capital of $4,928,700. The amount of the banking capital of the State, as appears by the last annual report of the Bank Commissioners, was $5,031,000. Since which time three of the banks have, by virtue of the provisions of Chapter 2084 of the Pamphlet Laws of the State, reduced their capital stock as follows:

The	State	Capital	Bank, at	Concord, 2	o per	cent,
amounting to							$30,000
The Mechanics & Traders Bank, at Portsmouth, 30 per cent, amounting to							42,300
The	Indian	Head	Bank, at	Nashua, 20	per	cent,
amounting to							30,000
	Total.	reduction				-	102,300

The latter bank has not yet paid out to its stockholders the dividend of stock so declared. The stockholders of the Bank of New-Hampshire, at Portsmouth, at a meeting of the stockholders duly notified and held March 11, 1862, voted to reduce the capital stock of that bank 40 per cent, amounting to the sum of $60,000. The Pawtuckaway Bank, at Epping, at a meeting of the stockholders duly notified and held on the 17th day of April last, voted to close up the concerns of that bank by virtue of the provisions of section 2, of chapter 2084 of the Pamphlet Laws of the State, and have ordered a dividend of 25 per cent of the stock to be paid to the stockholders "of record May 31, payable on and after that date."

These reductions will still further diminish the banking capital of the State to an amount of $110,000.

The number of savings institutions in the State is twenty-seven, with an aggregate amount of assets of $5,860,529.25. The amount due depositors is $5,653,585.46. Amount of surplus on hand, $206,943.79. The amount due depositors, as appears by the Commissioners' Report last year, $5,590,652.18, showing an increase of deposits during the past year of $62,933.28. The Dartmouth Savings Bank, at Hanover, has been organized and has gone into operation during the past year.

It will be observed that the securities of this institution have been somewhat changed since the last year's report, all the securities of the "Confederate States" having been disposed of, excepting $10,000 of Tennessee State bonds. The par value of all the securities now held by the bank amounts to the sum of $1,070,510.50. The reduced value, or the value at which they stand on the books of the bank, amounts to the sum of $955,376.95, leaving for depreciation the sum of $115,133.55. The present value of many of the securities is considerably above what they are estimated on the books of the bank, and it would seem that, at their present reduced or estimated value, they are safe beyond all contingency.

The securities of the institution have yielded an actual income of $59,269, being more than six per cent on the whole amount invested, leaving out of the account the interest due on $158,601 of stock, at its par value, which had not been received at the time of the examination, and which will ultimately be paid.

This bank has been organized and gone into operation within the past year.

Commenced receiving deposits last June.

The loans are all made on real estate, to an amount of not more than one half its real value.

The institution has started under the most favorable circumstances. The officers and trustees are men living in that place and vicinity—men of character and influence; which fact, in the judgment of the Commissioner, goes far to establish public confidence, and give credit to the institution.

Dividends of $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent to be made semi-annually. Extra dividends of the profits to be made once in five years.

Loans made by an investing committee.

EXAMINATION MADE BY THE FULL BOARD.

WEARE BANK, AT HAMPTON-FALLS.

At the last session of the Legislature, the House of Representatives, on the twenty-ninth day of June, passed the following resolution:

"Whereas the Weare Bank, located at Hampton-Falls, went into operation in fraud, and has done business illegally, and has long since ceased to accommodate the public, and the act chartering said bank should be repealed: Therefore Resolved, That the Bank Commissioners be authorized and directed to make a thorough examination into the origin, management and affairs of said bank, and report at the next session of the Legislature."

In obedience to the foregoing resolution and the discharge of our duties, the Commissioners proceeded to Hampton-Falls, and on the 30th and 31st days of January last, made a thorough examination of the condition and affairs of the Weare Bank. The bank was incorporated at the June session, 1854. The charter expires by limitation, August 31, 1874.

From the books of the bank and the statements of the officers, it appeared that in the year 1859, parties residing in New-York, came into possession of 315 shares of the capital stock of the bank, standing in the names of the officers of the bank; that there were loans to the amount of $45,727.50, made directly and indirectly to and for the benefit of said parties, and that the said 315 shares were pledged to the bank to secure the payment of a part of said claim; that subsequently the said 315 shares became the property of the bank, and that they were afterward sold to sundry persons residing at Hampton-Falls and vicinity, and in payment, notes were taken to the amount of $32,450; that a part of said notes were taken on demand, and the remainder on time, and that neither said notes, or the interest thereon, had been paid.

There were, also, loans to the amount of $32,260.07, overdue and unpaid, a portion of which had been protested, upon which, in the opinion of the Commissioners, there would be a large loss. That of the remaining $39,902.52, of the whole loan of the bank, amounting to $104,612.59, there is $35,000 loaned to one party residing out of the State. This latter sum is believed, by the officers of the bank, to be well secured, and, as the Commissioners understand, was to be a permanent loan, the said party agreeing to pay the interest on the loan in advance, and to protect an equal amount of the circulation of the bank. This loan the Commissioners also regard as a departure from the accepted banking rules of the State.

In 1859 the Bank Commissioners, pursuant to law, reported to the Governor and Council that the transactions of the bank "were a wide departure from the true intentions of our banking system;" and that "they were unanimous in the opinion that the public, and all those interested in the bank, were not properly protected. The officers of the bank were of the opinion that they could put the bank in good and legitimate standing, and were desirous of having the privilege of so doing, and proposed to secure all interested in such manner as we should recommend.

Such security was given, as appeared to us sufficient, to continue to such time as the Bank Commissioners, or a majority of them, shall be able to report to the Governor of the State, that, on examination of the condition and affairs of said bank, they find the same to be in a sound and safe condition as it regards the stockholders and the public."

The security referred to by the former Board of Commissioners, in the extract from their report above quoted, is in the form of a bond, executed to the State of New-Hampshire, for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars, conditioned, first, to secure the bill-holders, by reason of the circulation of the bills of the bank; second, to pay all the depositors in the bank the full amount of their deposits; and third, "to pay the several stockholders, excepting the holders of such shares in said bank as are held by them subject to be sold to pay the notes" of certain parties residing in New-York, "the full amount of their shares, whenever said bank shall cease to do business as a bank, after deducting their proportion of any losses which may be sustained by the bank upon any loan, discount, or other transaction, which has been heretofore made to or with any other person, excepting the above-mentioned New-York parties, the necessary expenses of said bank, and such other losses as may arise from losses or discounts hereafter made in the regular course of business, to persons in no way connected with said New-York parties, or either of them, by a majority of the present directors of said bank."

This bond is now in full force, and from the best information the Commissioners have been able to obtain, is believed to be ample to secure the public from loss.

In consequence of the illness of the late president, George H. Dodge, Esq., who had been the most active manager of the affairs of the bank, and who was desirous of an opportunity of making some explanations in regard to its transactions, it was deemed advisable to adjourn the farther examination of the bank until such time as Mr. Dodge should be able to make such explanations as he desired.

On the 20th of March following, Messrs. Sanborn and Powers, of the Board, made a second visit to the bank, for the purpose of completing the examination, and determining what course should be adopted in reference to the bank, the late president, Mr. Dodge, having in the meantime deceased, and Wells W. Healey, Esq., having been elected president of the bank.

After a thorough investigation of the condition and affairs of the bank, and full consultation with its officers, it was concluded that it would be for the best interest of all parties that the affairs of the bank should be closed up in the most economical and speedy manner possible, under the direction of an assignee.

A petition was therefore made to Hon. Samuel D. Bell, Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court, for the appointment of such assignee; whereupon he appointed Hon. Wm. W. Stickney, of Exeter, who accepted the trust, executed a good and sufficient bond for the faithful discharge of said trust, took possession of all the property and effects of the bank, and entered upon the discharge of his duties as such assignee.

The affairs of the bank are now being closed up, under his direction, by the cashier of the bank; and we have been recently informed by the assignee, that about one half of the circulation of the bank has already been redeemed, and that such arrangements have been made that the entire circulation will be redeemed through the ordinary channels of redemption; and we believe that there is no occasion for the discrediting of the bills of the bank, nor is any loss apprehended to the bill-holders. The Commissioners are pleased to say that the present officers of the bank have manifested a readiness to protect the public from any loss by reason of the present embarrassments of the bank, and have expressed much anxiety that the bank should not be discredited, lest the bill-holders should be subjected to loss by the discredit of the bills. The Commissioners regard the present embarrassments of the bank the results of misfortune and misjudgment, rather than any purpose to depart from the accepted banking rules or the laws of the State. The bank is situated in a community that does not seem to require the accommodations of a bank; hence the necessity of a bank thus situated seeking customers from abroad. This bank has been exceedingly unfortunate in this regard.

GENERAL REMARKS.

In our examinations of the several banking institutions of the State, we have endeavored to comply with the requirements of the statutes, "to make a full examination into the condition of each bank and the management of its affairs; to inspect all books, papers, notes, bonds and other evidences of debt of said bank; to ascertain the quantity of specie on hand, and generally to make all such inquiries as may be necessary to ascertain the actual condition of said bank, its ability to fulfill all its engagements, and whether it has violated any provisions of its charter, or any law relating to banks or banking."

We have stated the condition of the several banks in the preceding abstracts, which contain the items that are regarded of most interest to the public.

The public are the creditors of the banks to the amount of their circulation; hence the public are most interested to know the amount of bills each bank has in circulation, and their ability to redeem the same when called upon. Our method of verifying the circulation has been to ascertain from the original bills of the engravers, when they could be produced, the whole amount of bank notes printed and received. We have then carefully examined the record of burnings, and taken an accurate account of all the bills that have been destroyed. We have then ascertained the amount of all the printed bills, unsigned, on hand. The difference between the two latter sums and the whole amount of bank notes received from the engraver, will be the amount of the bills of the bank now in existence, or the present "issue" of the bank; from this sum, thus obtained, we deduct all of the own bills of the bank on hand, and the difference is the present circulation. This method of arriving at the circulation of any bank is conclusive, unless the cashier fails to produce the engraver's bills for all bank notes printed and received by the bank, or the engraver has fraudulently printed more bank notes: for the bank than appears by his account. In some of the older banks the cashier could not show us the engraver's bill for the full amount of bank notes printed, they having been mislaid or lost; in which case we have verified the bank account in the ledger, where all bank notes emitted by the bank are credited to the account of bank notes, and all of the bills destroyed are debited to the same account. The abstracts will show which method has been adopted. We have not, in any instance, found a discrepancy between the circulation thus made up by us and the statement of the cashier in the books of the bank. The amount due depositors is the next principal item which goes to make up the liabilities of any bank. For the verity of this item we have to rely upon the balance of the deposit account in the ledger and the statement of the cashier. The circulation and deposits generally make up the items of the liabilities of a bank, excepting its liabilities to its stockholders.

The first and most prominent item among the resources of a bank is the loan. The ability of any bank to meet its liabilities depends, in a great measure, upon the real value of its loan. The Commissioners do not presume to judge of the soundness of the loan of any bank. There are certain elements or characteristics, however, that we may notice. We can judge whether the loan is well distributed, and for the benefit of the business community where the bank is located; whether a large portion of the business of the bank is to discount large amounts for the benefit of parties residing out of the State, and whether the directors are debtors, and to what amount. We can: see whether discounts are made with less than two names as surety; whether they are secured by indorsers, collaterals, pledge of stock or real estate; whether loans are made on long or short time, or on demand; how large a portion of the loan is over-due or extended, and whether additional security is required when the notes are not paid at maturity. These, together with the statements of the cashier, will enable us, in some degree, to estimate the value of the loan. We have uniformly verified the amount of the loan by adding together all the notes, drafts, acceptances and other securities, which go to make up the loan, and then compare the results with the statement of the cashier, and the balance of the account of notes discounted appearing in the ledger. For the amount of bank balances in Boston, for the redemption of bills, we rely on the balance of the accounts with those banks, in the ledger. The items which compose the cash balance we are able to ascertain with certainty.

After making these examinations, we are enabled to prepare a statement of the condition of the bank. The examinations are sometimes varied from the preceding method, to conform to the different manner in which cashiers keep their books.

In many of the banks we have found a large amount of overdue paper, and, in some instances, there has seemed to be too much indulgence given by banks to their customers, in allowing paper to mature and remain unpaid for a longer time than is desirable, or for the interest of the bank. A large amount of the over-due paper, in some of the banks, is the remains of the discredited paper of 1857, a portion of which is secured by mortgage, and has to wait the slow process of foreclosure. Other portions are secured, in whole or in part, by collaterals or indorsements, which have been allowed by the banks to run along from year to year, expecting that something favorable would "turn up," whereby the parties would be enabled to liquidate their debts. Upon all this class of paper there will, undoubtedly, be a larger loss than is usually estimated by the cashiers. Paper of this kind does not ordinarily improve by age, and, as a maxim, where a loss is inevitable, the sooner a compromise is made the better, both for creditors and debtors.

We would respectfully suggest whether it would not be judicious for all banks to adopt a uniform practice, by charging off to profit and loss all its worthless paper, making a fair and impartial estimate of the probable losses on all over-due and failed paper; and if the reduction shall seriously impair the capital of the bank, at once to reduce the capital stock to meet the deficiency.

In our examinations at Dover, we found in the Langdon, Dover, Cochecho, and Dover Five Cents Savings Banks, the acceptances of the Ex-Secretary of War, John B. Floyd, to a very large amount, about the payment of which there has been some. doubt. The banks are the holders of this paper for a valuable consideration, and it was taken in good faith, upon such representations as satisfied the directors that it was regularly, legitimately and lawfully issued. The officers of the banks have used all proper means to investigate the subject-matter of their claims, and from the best information they can obtain from individuals connected with the government, as well as the best legal opinions upon the subject, they have the utmost confidence that all of these acceptances will ultimately be paid. We understand that negotiations are now in progress to that end, with a reasonable prospect of success. In two instances, as will be seen by the abstracts, we have found a small excess of circulation above the legal limits; in both cases the excess was only apparent, as there was a week's redemption in Boston that had not been received by the banks.

We find that many of the banks have a much larger amount of bills signed than they are allowed by law to circulate. A small margin may be necessary to facilitate exchanges and redemption; but it seems to us that a large excess of bills is unnecessary and hazardous, and that the liability to loss by the banks would be diminished, if they would keep their "issue" nearer the legal limits of their circulation.

It is the practice, in this State, for the directors to destroy the mutilated and worn out bills that have been withdrawn from circulation by burning, which is a good one. We have noticed, in some instances, that they have not burned them as often as the accumulation of them would seem to demand. All such bills are kept at the risk of the bank, and we would recommend that the burnings be made more frequent, and that a uniform method be adopted, by making the record of the same in a book kept for that purpose, containing a full description and the amount of the bills thus destroyed, and that the same be certified and signed by the directors present at such burnings.

It is desirable that cashiers should make up statements of the condition of the banks as often as once a week, and lay the same before the directors. This is done in a majority of banks, but, in some instances, it is the practice not to make up statements oftener than once a month.

Banks of discount are legitimately money lenders, and not money borrowers. The practice of paying interest on deposits, by some of the banks, is of doubtful expediency, and is assuming the business that more properly belongs to the savings banks, which are chartered for this particular purpose.

The Exeter Bank, at Exeter, which was injoined in 1860, is still in the hands of Hon. Charles H. Bell, the assignee. A statement of the affairs of the bank was made to us by the assignee on the 15th of the present month. The condition of the affairs of the bank has not materially changed since the last annual report of the Commissioners. The assignee informs us that all proper measures are being taken to complete the final closing up of the bank.

In our examination of the several banks we have found them generally in a very satisfactory condition. The present unsettled and depressed state of the business affairs of the country, has materially curtailed the business of the banks, and has made bank managers more cautious in regard to the employment of their means. It has been very difficult for many of the banks to loan their surplus funds, on satisfactory paper, at legal rates; and, in some instances, large sums have been loaned at considerably less than the usual rates, rather than it should remain unproductive in the bank.

It is a matter of much interest to the banks what is to be the practical effect upon their circulation, by the large amount of demand notes which are now being put into circulation by the government. Already the sum of one hundred millions, of the one hundred and sixty millions authorized, has been put in circulation, and it is quite probable that a much larger issue will soon follow.

If the government issue shall displace an equal amount of the bank issue, it is plain that the great source of profit of the banks is gone; and many of the country banks, which rely mainly upon their circulation, will be unable to sustain themselves. It is impossible, at this time, to know precisely what the practical workings of the large issue of government circulation will be; but if the effect shall be what has already been suggested, it must entirely change the banking system of the State.

It will be observed, by an examination of the abstracts of this report, that there is a large amount of the banking capital of the State that is unemployed.

The whole amount of banking capital in the State is $4,928,700 The whole amount of circulation, 3,249,692

Leaving a balance of

Or more than one third part of the whole banking capital not in circulation. The aggregate amount of the loan of the banks is below the legal limits by more than an equal amount; thus showing that there is a larger amount of banking capital than appears to be necessary to supply the present business wants of the State, not taking into the account the large amount loaned by the banks out of the State.

In view of these facts, a degree of caution should be manifested in regard to future additions to the banking capital of the State; and charters for new banks should be granted only where any particular locality seems to demand it.

To determine the necessity of granting a charter for a bank, three things, it seems to us, should be considered: First, has the community, in which such a bank is to be located, the surplus capital to invest in banking; second, has it the business that requires the employment of the capital and the accommodations afforded by such a bank; and, third, has it the men to engage in the management of such a bank who will conduct its affairs with ability, integrity, and safety to the public and the stockholders. When these principles do not combine to make a necessity, it would seem unwise to add to the banking capital of the State.

The aggregate amount of capital held, both by the banks and savings banks of the State, at the present time, is $10,582,285; the amount so held in 1852 was $5,085,617; showing an increase of more than one hundred per cent during the last ten years.

We have prepared and presented, in another part of this report, a table, showing, in separate columns, the amount of the capital, loan, circulation, deposits, aggregate circulation and deposits, and specie of the several banks in the State from 1831 to 1862, inclusive. We have also added a column showing the percentage of specie to the aggregate circulation and deposits from 1837 to the present time.

Previous to 1837 the specie and bank balances in Boston, for the redemption of bills, were reported in the same sum. It will be observed that the average proportion of specie to the "bank currency," or circulation and deposits, is not large; and when we compare the amount of specie held by some of the banks, as appears by the abstracts, we shall find they fall materially below the average. There is no law requiring any given amount of specie to be kept in reserve by the banks. In some instances, the officers of the bank seem to act upon the principle that it is not necessary to keep a large amount of specie on hand, as they are seldom called upon for specie, and, therefore, regard the specie reserve in the bank as so much unproductive capital. But those banks which have kept on hand large specie reserves, have been enabled to keep up a large circulation, invite in large deposits, thereby adding materially to their profits.

There have been no legal demands for specie upon any of the banks during the past year. The banks have continued to supply the business wants of their customers for specie, when requested. The suspension of specie payments, by the city banks, virtually operate as a suspension of the country banks, and that without their concurrence or consent. They would, therefore, be obliged to refuse specie payments, if large amounts were demanded.

The patriotic manner in which the banks offered their aid to the State, at the commencement of the present rebellion, is in the highest degree commendable. Many of the banks have also invested large sums of their surplus means in public stocks, both of the State and United States, which is the best index of their estimation of the value of these securities. These investments must be remunerative and dividend-paying, as well as safe.

SAVINGS BANKS.

It will undoubtedly surprise many that the aggregate amount of capital, held by the savings banks in the State, exceeds the capital of the discount banks by more than half a million of dollars. These institutions are becoming of more and more importance each year. We have also prepared a table, in another part of this report, showing the number, condition and progress of the savings banks in the State, from the year 1848, when they first came under the examination of the Bank Commissioners, to the present time. We have given, in separate columns, the number of depositors and the amount of deposits in each year; also the increase of depositors and deposits over the previous years, and the percentage of increase.

An examination of this table will show how rapidly these institutions have increased in magnitude within the last few years. The amount of deposits, at the present time, are nearly three times larger than they were in 1852.

These facts and figures show how fast these institutions are growing into public favor, as well as the great accumulation of the industrial savings of the people of the State. In 1860, the average proportion of the deposits to each depositor was \$157.65. The proportion of deposits to each person of the population of the State was \$14.90, and the percentage of population who were depositors was $9\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, or one in every $10\frac{1}{2}$ of the population.

The increase of the deposits for the past year has not been so large as in preceding years. Considerable amounts have been withdrawn, and investments in public securities have undoubtedly lessened the deposits. Neither can it reasonably be expected that deposits will increase as rapidly for a few years to come. At any rate, they will not during the present depressed state of the business of the country.

Too much caution can not be given to the management of these institutions. They are the banks that hold the capital of the poorer classes, and the officers are properly denominated their trustees for the safe-keeping of their funds, while the earnings of the deposits are of secondary importance.

The loans of the savings banks are secured to a large extent by mortgages on real estate and investments in public stocks. It is important that every savings bank should have a sufficient amount of available security to meet any demands that may be likely to arise by the withdrawal of deposits.

Before concluding this report we cheerfully return our thanks to the cashiers and officers of the banks with whom we have become acquainted in the performance of our official duties, for the uniform kindness and courtesey extended to us in making our examinations. We are gratified to say, and it is creditable for the public to know, that we have observed no disposition on the part of any of the officers to avoid any investigations the Commissioners have thought proper to make; but, on the contrary, have offered every facility to make the examinations as complete and thorough as possible.

From 10 to 30 per cent has been paid the last year for collecting assessments, the higher rate being paid on old and doubtful bills in distant parts of New-England. Directors are paid one dollar for attendance at each monthly or special meeting of the board. Applications must be approved by two directors, who are paid six cents each for every application by them approved. Losses are examined and determined by the directors, who receive for that service two dollars per day, and expenses.

Agents receive 10 per cent on cash premiums collected.

This company adopted the advance premium system October 1, 1855. A premium of one per cent on the amount insured on a policy for five years is required to be paid in advance—two thirds of one per cent for three years, and one third of one per cent for one year. A note equal in amount to the cash premium is also required, payable only as the exigencies of the company may require.

A dividend of 25 per cent of the advanced payment, on all policies expired under this system, has been refunded; also, the unexpended portion of the advance premium, on all policies surrendered.

The company has made no general assessment since October, 1854. Since that time, notes under the old system have been assessed their equitable per cent of the losses of the company as they expire. Average rate assessed on premium notes of expired policies during the year, is 3½ per cent per annum.

This company insures isolated dwelling-houses, with their attachments and contents. The value of property is fixed by the applicant, subject to the approval of the directors.

The company have incurred no expenses for litigation or counsel during the year.

The largest amount taken on one risk is $2,000.

The policies under the old, or low premium of insurance, have all expired, and an equitable assessment has been made upon the notes, and partly collected.

The financial affairs of this company appear to be in a sound and safe condition. The books are kept in a very careful manner, worthy of examination and imitation.

The Secretary receives fifty cents for each policy issued in addition to his salary. Officers act as agents and receive pay as such. Directors are paid two dollars per diem and expenses, for adjusting losses. Applications are approved by two directors, who severally receive ten cents for each application approved. Bills are approved by the directors, and losses are determined by them. The books of this company are kept by gentlemen of skill and experience, being balanced at the end of each month, which I regret to say is not the case of all the Insurance companies I have visited.

Losses since the date of the report, $1,542, all of which has been paid; also, the bills of the secretary and treasurer, and the liabilities named in this report. The means by which this has been accomplished were from an assessment declared in January, 1862.

Applications are approved by the directors. The company take no risks considered extra hazardous, and no one risk is to exceed $2,500. The rate charged for five years is from 5 to 15 per cent of the amount insured, 3 per cent of which is paid in cash.

The company has sustained five loss es during the year, two of which were out of the State.

The secretary and treasurer make a full statement of the condition of the company at the end of each month, with books balanced; all of which is done in a commendable manner.

The directors severally receive one dollar for each attendance at meetings of the company, and two dollars per diem, and expenses, for adjusting losses. Applications are approved by three directors, who are severally paid seven cents for each application accepted. The expenses of the company are paid from the three per cent premium fund, except the treasurer's salary, losses by fire, adjusting the same, and collecting assessments. The compensation received by agents for each application approved is fifty cents from the applicant;—in Farmers' Class twenty-five cents, and in General Class fifty cents, from the company. They also retain the policy-fee of fifty cents.

Agents receive nothing on cash premiums. They are paid ten per cent for collecting assessments. Yet the greater portion of these are paid directly to the treasurer, thereby saving the ten per cent to the insured.

Rate per cent of premium note in Farmers' Class, is from 4 to six per cent for six years; in General Class, from 4 to 40 per cent for three years.

This company insures in Farmers' Class—farmers' and safe village buildings and contents; in General Class—stores, shops, churches, mills, hotels, merchandize, &c., except steam mills, or any property that is extra hazardous. The value of the property is fixed by the applicant, subject to approval of the directors.

This company has sustained very heavy losses during the three past years; but the assessments, collected, and available assessments, uncollected, seem to give the company ample means to meet all their liabilities.

This company voted to close its business two years since, withdrew all its policies, and has no property at risk. The officers have not since received pay. There are outstanding debts against the company, amounting to $836.41. The last assessment was considered sufficient to pay all its indebtedness; but, attempting to force collection, it has a suit pending, which prevents final adjustment. If this suit, which is in the State of Maine, terminates in favor of the company, it will be enabled to pay all its liabilities. At present, its treasury is empty.

This company was visited by the commissioner April 30, 1862; and he learned from the secretary, and by the books, that, at a full meeting of the directors, in June, 1861, it was voted to close the business of the company. The secretary was instructed to notify the members, all of whom surrendered their policies, and received their premium notes. No public notice was given of this discontinuance of business, nor were the commissioners informed of the fact. The books show that, on the 30th of September, all liabilities of the company were paid, and accounts balanced. The commissioner believes this company adopted a wise course, and that other small companies would do well to follow its example.

This company has adopted the high cash premium principle, at from one to two per cent in the first of Farmers Class, on the amount insured; and on the Village Class, from one to four per cent on the amount insured.

Policies are issued for six years. The third class of policies have been discontinued.

Agents are paid ten per cent for collecting premiums, and have received, during the past year, $47.18. They are also allowed ten per cent for collecting assessments. They receive from applicants one dollar for application and policy.

Directors receive two dollars per day and expenses while adjusting losses.

Nine losses have occurred during the year—three in the State, all amounting to $1,190.20, which have been paid without litigation.

The commissioner deems the expenses of this company altogether too large for the amount of business transacted, having issued but fifty-six policies, while the expenses for the year are more than six hundred dollars.

This company has done a small but successful business for many years. Its agents are paid 3 per cent for collecting assessments, and for this service have been paid in the past year, $117.79. These agents have, also, received forty dollars for applications, at fifty cents each, and are permitted to receive from applicants fifty cents for each policy.

Applications are approved by directors, who are paid one dollar per day and expenses, while adjusting losses.

This company confines its business to the safest description of property, and no amount beyond $2,500 is taken in a single or combined risk.

Directors adjust losses, and have obtained money at six per cent to pay claims. During the year the losses have been five, all within the State, amounting to $1,139.

There has been a decrease in the number of applications taken, from the fact that several towns in which this company has transacted business have established town insurance companies.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES GORDON,

Insurance Commissioner.

REPORT OF CORNELIUS V. DEARBORN.

The business has always been done upon the advance cash premium system, and, as will be seen, quite a fund has accumulated over and above the losses and expenses of the company, considering the small amount of business done.

The business is managed very carefully, and records kept with commendable neatness and accuracy.

There has been one loss during the year in the State.

An assessment was made in March, 1858, since which there has been none until in March, 1862, subsequent to the close of this current year. Here is an example of making the expenses of doing the business of the company correspond with the amount of business done, which is well worthy of imitation by some other companies in the State.

In addition to the above liabilities of the company, are claims for about 2,000, for losses which have been examined by Directors and rejected, some of which losses are in litigation.

Agents are allowed ten per cent for collecting assessments, and one dollar for each application approved, and are, also, allowed to receive one dollar from applicant for surveys, &c. Losses are examined and determined by the President and Directors.

Premium notes are from eight to ten per cent of the amount insured in both classes, to be paid in cash. In the Farm Class, one dollar for the first $100, and 15 cents on each additional hundred. In the Village Class, one dollar twenty cents on the first $100, and fifteen cents on each additional hundred for six years.

None but the best farm and village risks are taken. No risks to exceed $2,000.

During the year there have been sixteen losses in the Farm Class; in Village Class, nine; twenty-one of which were in the State of Maine and four in New-Hampshire.

MERRIMACK COUNTY MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY—Concord.

I am informed by Mr. Moulton, the Secretary and Treasurer of this company, that the business of the company has been completely wound up; that all outstanding losses and claims have been adjusted, and the property all sold and means all expended.

NEW-HAMPSHIRE MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COM-PANY—Concord.

The financial condition of this company has not materially changed since last year. The Report made at June session, 1861, contains substantially a statement of the present standing of the company. Some progress has been made in collecting assessments. Suits are still pending, and it is hoped that the unsettled condition of the affairs of the company will not continue many years longer.

February 1, 1862, the company voted to discontinue the business of the Village Class, since which time no policies have been issued therein.

After the records of the company were removed to Wolfborough, in July, 1860, and another board of officers were chosen, they discontinued the premium note system, but charged the applicant from 71½ to 91 cents on each one hundred dollars insured for 5 years, the applicant obligating himself, by the terms of the insurance, to pay an equal sum in assessments whenever required, which sums, with the cash premiums, constitute what is called the absolute funds of the company.

In addition to this the applicant is held by the charter of the company to pay two dollars for each dollar of the absolute funds of the company, which he has secured and paid in case the exigencies of the company require it.

All the premium notes above named were given before such change in system. It is expected that the cash premium paid will be sufficient to pay the losses and expenses of the company. Agents are allowed 10 per cent for collecting assessments and cash premiums; also to receive one dollar from applicant for each policy. Applications are approved by the directors; the directors also determine and adjust losses, for which they receive $2 per day and expenses.

The company now insures only farm property and that in villages of the first class. Largest risk, $1,500. There was one loss the last year in Village Class. The assessment in Farm Class of $150 was made to cover losses that accrued before the company moved to Wolf borough.

The affairs of the company have hitherto been in a complicated and unsettled condition, but the present Secretary and Treasurer has made much progress in systematizing the business, and when the Village Class shall have been closed, the company will be in good working condition.

Agents are allowed 10 per cent on cash premiums, and 5 per cent for collecting assessments, and to receive from applicants 50 cents for each policy.

The average rate assessed on premium notes during the year was 4½ per cent.

The rate of premium notes is from 5 to 25 per cent of amount insured for six years,—3 per cent only of which, under former systems, was paid in advance. Recently a new plan has been adopted whereby 6, 12 and 15 per cent of said notes are paid in cash for one, three and five years, respectively. The assessments heretofore made were upon the premium notes received under the old system. The affairs of the company would be less complicated if they would drop the old system entirely.

The premium notes under the new system are charged with the same proportional amount to pay losses, to be taken from the advance premium, that the old system notes are assessed for, less one half per cent allowed for collecting under the old system.

The Secretary and Treasurer above named have performed some services, but have as yet received no pay therefor. None of the above named directors have received any thing, except Joseph B. Clark, of Manchester, who received $6.92 for expenses, and services in attending meeting of directors in March, 1860. No business has been done by the company since the report of the Commissioners to June session, 1861. All the policies originally issued have expired, and also all that have been renewed, so that there are none now in force. The record of policies shows that 162 were issued—those policies appear by said record to cover risks amounting to $96,500, producing in cash premiums $2,490.81, and an equal amount in premium notes. It is uncertain whether that number of policies were actually taken and paid for by the parties indicated upon the record. All the cash ever received by the Treasurer amounts only to $657.10, and the amount of premium notes received by him amounts only to $1,311.95; of which cash and notes he has kept a plain and accurate account. The Secretary has paid over to the Treasurer all the funds that have come into his hands; the amount being small, as he has held the office only since March, 1861. Mr. Stevens was chosen President in May, 1861, some time after the company had ceased to do business, so that he and the Secretary have no means of knowing any thing of the early transactions of the company. William L. Avery, the former Secretary, and Charles Lane, general agent or actuary, resigned their offices in March, 1861. Previously the business in the office had been chiefly managed by Mr. Avery. No settlement was ever made with him. Mr. Lane has the principal charge and oversight of the out-door business of the Company. No settlement has ever been made with him, and the present officers have no means of knowing any thing of his account with the company. He claims, however, that the company are indebted to him. His and Mr. Avery's cash accounts, with many other of the books and papers of the company, were destroyed by fire with the office, in November, 1860. Numerous agents' were appointed to procure applications for insurance. No settlements have been made with them. It is a matter of much uncertainty with me as it is with the present President, Secretary and Treasurer, where, or in whose hands is the balance of $2,490.81 cash premiums, and $2,490.81 premium notes; the balance of cash premiums being $1,833.70, and that of the notes being $1,178.86.

The company sustained two losses, of $1,000 each, which have been compromised by giving to each party the obligation of the company for $500, toward one of which $100 has been paid during the past year.

I think the directors of this company will hardly do justice to their business and financial reputation if they allow the affairs of the company to remain longer in their present condition. officers and agents should be called to an account, cash and premium notes collected, and the debts of the company paid at once. Especially it is to be hoped that the members of that fraternity-at whose behest and in whose behalf the company was incorporated-will at least discharge their legal obligations to each other, and pay the widow and fatherless their due.

Respectfully submitted,

Included in the above item of borrowed money, is the sum of $8,986.21 which was borrowed to pay losses between July 2, 1861, the time of making the last assessment, and Jan. 4, 1862, the end of this current year, which has not been assessed for.

Agents are paid 8 per cent for collecting assessments, and allowed 75 cents for each application and nothing for collecting premiums, and to take fifty cents from applicants for each policy. Applications are approved by three directors. Officers and agents are allowed $1 per day, 4 cents per mile, each way, for travel and expenses while adjusting losses.

Average rate assessed on premium notes during the year, $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. Rate of premium note from $4\frac{1}{2}$ to 8 per cent,—3 per cent of which is paid in cash.

The Company insure only farm property and its equivalent. Largest risk $1,500.

Six per cent and, in one or two instances, 8 per cent is paid for borrowed money.

There have been seventy-five losses during the last year,—sixty-two in the State and thirteen out.

The expenses of carrying on the business of this company, both by the officers in the office at Gilmanton and by its agents, are small in comparison with the amount of property covered by its policies. The expense of insurance for the last six years averages a trifle less than the rates of insurance in stock companies.

We recommend a very thorough and accurate system of keeping the records and accounts of so large and extensive a Company.

The business of this Company is so large and extensive that it was deemed advisable that it be visited and examined by two of the Board of Commissioners. The undersigned have attended to that duty.

Submitted by

GEORGE W. CONANT, C. V. DEARBORN,

Insurance Commissioners.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The undersigned, in addition to the preceding reports severally submitted by them, would briefly say that they do not find all the insurance companies in this State in such good and improving condition as to inspire very sanguine hopes for their future prosperity.

The cost of insurance to the insured in many, if not in a majority of the companies, is steadily increasing, and has already so far advanced as to exceed the cost of insurance in good stock companies. If this increase shall continue, it is not questionable that they will be compelled to wind up business; and where a company finds its assessments are advancing from high to higher, and can not devise any means to arrest this upward tendency, it would be a favor to the insured to close business before the full amount of premium notes is assessed.

Among the causes of this increasing cost of insurance, your Commissioners would suggest the following: There is a general and constant increase in the expenses of managing the business of the companies. This results very naturally from the fact that the insured, who constitute the company, leave the whole management to the officers, who are often quite as much interested to manage business profitably for themselves as for those whose servants they ostensibly are. No business ever succeeded, in the long run, unless it was at least superintended by the person or persons whose was the profit or loss. Unless the insured avail themselves of their privilege and right to be heard in the management of these mutual companies, and in the correction of abuses, the future history of mutual insurance in this State, like the past, will be blemished by frequent obituaries.

Another cause of this increasing cost to the insured is the want of a just discrimination by many companies between good and bad risks. Hazardous and extra hazardous risks are taken at too low rates, and many are taken that should be rejected. This increases the losses without proportionally increasing the funds to pay the same. Hence it is that those companies that confine their business to first class risks, succeed ultimately the best.

The Commissioners of last year recommended legislation to protect mutual companies in this State. We suggest that that will not save them. They must compete with stock companies doing business here, and can only do this successfully by so managing their business as to be able to insure property at as low a cost to the insured.

The business of many of our mutuals is declining, because the cost of insurance to those insured in them is constantly increasing. Legislation, we think, is not the panacea for this. Good, thorough, and economical management by men of experience and ability, is needed more than legislation, and will do more for the companies.

There is a good field opening in this state for the institution of stock companies, and to this field capital is invited. A large amount of money is annually flowing out of the state, for the want of reliable home stock companies in which the owners of property have confidence.

The Commissioners return thanks to the officers of the several companies, for the uniform courtesy and kindness with which they were treated by them while in the discharge of their duties.

Respectfully,

C. V. DEARBORN,
GEORGE W. CONANT,
JAMES GORDON,

Insurance

REPORT OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the State of New-Hampshire:

The undersigned, constituting the Board of Railroad Commissioners of the State of New-Hampshire, in obedience to an act of the Legislature, entitled "An act to render railroad corporations public in certain cases, and constituting a Board of Railroad Commissioners," have attended to the duties therein assigned them, by making personal examination of the books and papers of the several corporations within the jurisdiction of this State, as well as into the general management thereof for the past year, and would now respectfully submit to your Excellency the following

REPORT:

The number of corporations chartered by the Legislature, and operated in whole or in part within this State, remain, nominally, the same as at our last report. The Peterborough and Shirley having merged in the Fitchburg, the whole number is twenty-one, and may be classed as follows: Ashuelot, Atlantic and St. Lawrence, Boston and Maine, Boston, Concord and Montreal, Cochecho, Concord, Concord and Portsmouth, Contoocook River, Cheshire, Eastern, Fitchburg, Great Falls and Conway, Merrimack and Connecticut Rivers, Manchester and North Weare, Manchester and Lawrence, Nashua and Lowell, Nashua and Worcester, Northern, Sullivan, Wilton, and the White Mountains N. H.

BOSTON AND MAINE RAILROAD.

The annual examination of the books and papers of this corporation was made at the office of the Treasurer, H. B. Wilbur, Esq., in Boston, April 9th, 1862, and embraces a full account of the operations of the road for one year, ending December 1, 1861, at which time a full report of their doings was made to the Massachusetts legislature. The Boston and Maine Railroad is about seventy-four miles long, beginning in Boston and running across the southeasterly portion of our own state, about thirty-five miles, to South-Berwick Junction, in Maine, where it intersects with the Portsmouth, Saco and Portland Railroad, and also with the Eastern Railroad of New-Hampshire.

The capital stock remains the same as at the date of our last report—$4,155,700.

This road is under a further liability in a guarantee of the bonds of the Danvers Railroad to the amount of $125,000, which becomes due in about twenty years,—the Boston and Maine Railroad holding a lease of said road for a period of one hundred years, at the rate of $7,500 per annum, rent. This road, during the last twelve months, has decreased its net receipts, $165,484.10, but this sum would have been much smaller but for the unusual prostration of business throughout our country.

But, notwithstanding the great depression of business, it appears that they have on hand, in cash assets, consisting of cash, notes, bonds, &c., &c., a sum sufficiently large to pay off their entire indebtedness, and leave a balance of $296,994.42, beside $91,425.72 invested in material, wood, oil, &c., together with assets of doubtful value, amounting to $4,628.26, a large portion of which may be available in operating the road. Such an exhibition reflects great credit upon the executive ability of its efficient, gentlemanly managers. It is one of the best managed, best equipped and best paying roads in the country, affording a favorable opportunity for safe investment in its stock.

ATLANTIC AND ST. LAWRENCE RAILROAD.

The annual examination of the books of this corporation was made at the office of C. E. Barrett, Esq., the Treasurer, in Portland, April 8, 1862, and embraces a period of one year, ending December 31, 1861.

This line of road, extending from Portland, Me., to Island Pond, Vt., 149 miles, connects the tide water, at Portland, with the river St. Lawrence, at Montreal.

This road is operated by the Grand Trunk Railway Company, of Canada, under a lease of nine hundred and ninety-nine years from the first day of July, 1853. The Atlantic and St. Lawrence Company built and now own the road from the wharves in Portland to Island Pond, and the statements below embrace the operation of the road between those two points.

The stockholders of this road have been very fortunate in leasing their road to the Grand Trunk Company on terms so highly favorable to themselves, provided the terms of the lease shall be fulfilled. By the terms of the lease they are to receive six per cent per annum on the par value of their stock, beside the interest on the funded debt.

During the short time this road has been in the hands of the Grand Trunk Company, most of the wooden bridges have been displaced by substantial iron structures. The culverts have been repaired in a thorough manner, the old rails have given place to the new and most approved pattern, and in short every thing has been done by way of improvement in road bed, rolling stock and good management to make this a desirable route for travel and the transportation of merchandise.

ASHUELOT RAILROAD.

The annual examination of this railroad was made at the office of John H. Elliott, Esq., in Keene, April 25, 1862.

This road, about twenty-four miles in length, has passed by lease into the hands of the Cheshire Railroad Corporation, John H. Elliott, Esq., being a Trustee. The road for the first nine months, by agreement, paid as rent $5,000. A new lease was then made to the Cheshire Railroad Company, conditional, for three years and three months. From the earnings of the road, the first $12,000 would belong to the Cheshire corporation; the next $6,000 to the Ashuelot corporation; the balance of earnings above expenditures to be divided equally between the two corporations.

It can not but result favorably to the stockholders of this road in effecting the present lease, as it is evident that the running expenses are materially lessened by the union with the Cheshire road.

FITCHBURG RAILROAD.

The Peterborough and Shirley Railroad having been sold to a corporation of the same name in Massachusetts, and by that corporation transferred to the Fitchburg Railroad Co., the examination of the affairs of said Fitchburg corporation was made at the office of the treasurer, in Boston, April 9, 1862.

The following statement will show the income and expenditure of the whole road for the year ending November 30, 1861:

A single glance at the foregoing will be sufficient to satisfy any one of the fact that this corporation stands among the very first, offering a rare chance at this time for those who would invest their money safely. The affairs of the road are in the hands of competent persons, whose gentlemanly deportment can not fail to favorably impress all who may be called to transact business with them.

EASTERN RAILROAD.

The annual examination of the books and papers of this corporation was made at the office of the Treasurer, John B. Parker, Esq., in Boston, April 10, 1862, and embraces a period of one year, ending November 30, 1861. This road, about sixteen miles in length, is a part of a continuous line extending from Boston to Portsmouth, and is operated by the Eastern Railroad Company, of Massachusetts, under a lease which was entered into about twenty-nine years ago, for the term of ninety-nine years. The net earnings of the two roads are equally divided between the two corporations, in proportion to their capital stock respectively.

The condition of the road has been rapidly improving for the last few years, and were it not for the general prostration of business throughout our country, and the unexpected demands made by the Eastern Railroad, in New-Hampshire, would at this time be classed among our best railway investments.

As no separate account is kept of the operations of the road in New-Hampshire, the schedule annexed embraces the operations of the whole line of road in both States.

This corporation has on hand and could sell real estate in East Eoston, to the amount of $400,000, and retain enough for their immediate wants. This they may do when the state of the market will warrant such sale.

CHESHIRE RAILROAD.

The annual examination of the books and papers of this corporation was made at the Treasurer's office, F. W. Everett, Esq., in Boston, April 9, 1862, and embraces a period of one year, ending November 30, 1861.

This road intersects with the Vermont and Massachusetts Railroad at South Ashburnham, Mass., and extends to Bellows-Falls, a distance of about fifty-three miles. The construction account has not been closed, and, as it now stands on the books of the corporation, is $3,073,535.83, and is represented by $2,226,300 of capital stock, and the balance in bonds, floating debt and income account. With the exception of 681 shares, the capital stock stands as "preferred stock" on the books of the corporation.

GREAT FALLS AND CONWAY RAILROAD.

The annual examination of the books and papers of this corporation was made at the office of the Treasurer, Albert A. Perkins, Esq., in Great Falls, April 22, 1862, and embraces a period from January 31, 1861, to January 31, 1862.

The construction account does not materially differ from what it was at the time of our last report.

This road is now being operated by the trustees for the third mortgage bond holders, they having taken formal possession of the road on the 18th of January, 1861.

The Eastern Railroad Company, of New-Hampshire and Massachusetts, have guaranteed the second mortgage bonds, amounting to $100,000. They control the third, and have paid the first, amounting to $100,000, which fell due January 1, 1862, all of which they now hold against the Great Falls and Conway Railroad corporation.

WORCESTER AND NASHUA RAILROAD.

The annual examination of the affairs of this corporation was made at the office of the treasurer, T. W. Hammond, Esq., in Worcester, April 23, 1862, and is brought down to the close of their fiscal year, ending November 30, 1861. This road extends from Nashua to Worcester, and is about 46 miles in length. The construction account is closed.

The investment is now represented by a capital stock of $1,141,000, and bonds to the amount of $150,000. Whatever expenses are incurred are met by the receipts of the road, so that no indebtedness remains unpaid.

CONCORD RAILROAD.

The examination of the affairs of this corporation was made at the office of the treasurer, N. P. Lovering, Esq., in Boston, May 10, 1862.

This road continues to operate the Manchester and Lawrence road. The income and expense account embraces the operations of both corporations; the surplus at the end of the year being divided, in proportion of three fifths to the Concord, and two fifths to the Manchester and Lawrence road, in accordance with the provisions of the lease. It is understood that a "business connection" has been formed between the two roads for twenty years, from the expiration of its present lease.

This corporation is also operating the Concord and Portsmouth Railroad, under a renewed lease for a long term of time (ninety nine years), paying, in addition to the former rent, six per cent on the new outlay expended on the Concord and Portsmouth road, in constructing the Candia Branch, the Hooksett Branch, and the extension of said road to tide water in Portsmouth, authorized by the Legislature of New-Hampshire, at its June session, 1861. Also, for the cost of construction of new passenger, freight and car houses, and an engine house, turn-table, and other improvements, at Portsmouth; making in all an annual rent of $25,000.

As a part of this contract, the Hooksett Branch has been constructed by the Concord and Manchester and Lawrence roads, at a proportionate expense of $27,000 to the Concord road, and all interest of the Concord and Portsmouth road in its track between this branch and Concord (a distance of about five miles) is surrendered permanently to the Concord and Manchester and Lawrence roads; provided, if these roads, at any time, shall not be operated together, the branch and track shall become the sole property of the Concord road, on its payment to the Manchester and Lawrence road its portion of the original amount advanced by that road therefor, less any depreciation of the track in the mean time.

CONCORD AND PORTSMOUTH.

The annual examination of the books and papers of this corporation was made at the office of the Clerk and acting Treasurer, William H. Hackett, Esq., in Portsmouth, May 12, 1862, and embraces an account of the doings of the directors for one year, ending October 3, 1861.

Since the date of our last report, a new contract has been made with the Concord Railroad Corporation, in which the Manchester & Lawrence Railroad have an interest. The new contract is to continue for the term of ninety-nine years from the time of the completion of the new portions of the road, laid out and built in conformity to an act of the Legislature, passed at its June session, 1861. By the terms of the new contract, it is provided that the Concord Railroad shall pay, in addition to the taxes and other expenses of this road, the sum of $24,500 per year, for the use of the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad, and $500 expense of organization. The former sum is to be paid by the Concord Railroad directly to the stockholders of the Concord and Portsmouth Railroad, in the shape of a dividend of seven per cent, payable semi-annually.

January 1, 1862, a dividend of ½ per cent on the former capital was declared.

Dividends, hereafter, are to be paid in January and July.

This road, unlike most other roads in this State, is entirely disconnected from any road in Massachusetts.

This corporation is entirely free from debt, and there is no incumbrance upon the railway stock or franchise.

During the last year this corporation has paid its usual dividends to the stockholders, beside canceling $7,500 of its bonds, not yet due. The contingent fund now amounts to $53,456.01, and consists of cash and cash assets, which are regarded as good and available beyond doubt.

It will be seen that this corporation, while its income has materially decreased from last year, has made a corresponding dimunition of its expenses, so that its relative position with other roads compares very favorably, and speaks well for its efficient managers.

The assets, at this time, above all its liabilities, amount to $5,532.49. These facts will not fail to attract the attention of those who wish to make permanent and safe investments in railroad stock.

Upon a review of the statements made in this report, in reference to the financial standing of the several railroad corporations in this State, it will readily be perceived that their condition at the present time is full as satisfactory as could reasonably be expected, when we take into consideration the general depression of business throughout the country, consequent upon the unfortunate condition of our public affairs.

But, while the net receipts are materially below the average of our former reports, we find, upon inspection, that each corporation have, with commendable economy, so far reduced their expenses as not to materially decrease the comparative income of the stockholders.

Many very favorable changes have been made in the running and management of some of the roads, such as the Concord and Portsmouth, Sullivan, Peterborough and Shirley, &c.

We regret to find any of the corporations in this State unable to pay their annual dividends; but while we pity their inability, we would not forget their efforts to raise their stock, by energetic and prudent management, to its proper position with other dividend paying roads. With some of them, at least, under their present boards of efficient managers, it can only be but a short time before those most interested will see their most sanguine hopes fully realized.

Some of the roads have failed to settle their taxes with the State Treasurer; but as it is a part of his duty to report to your Excellency those facts, we do not propose to give you a list of them in this report.

Having called your attention, in our last report, to the subject of "business contracts," and such other matters as seemed to us worthy of notice, and the same having been fully presented to the Legislature at its last session, we do not deem it advisable to consume time by reiterating them in this report.

At no time since our connection with the several corporations as Railroad Commissioners, have we felt ourselves under greater obligations for the universal kindness and gentlemanly attention bestowed upon us, in our annual meetings with the treasurers and other officers belonging to the several corporations. Every facility has been afforded us in the examination of their books and papers, and any assistance rendered that would tend to make our visits pleasant and agreeable. And for those gentlemanly courtesies, we beg leave to return to them our grateful acknowledgments at this time.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF ADJUTANT GENERAL.

STATE OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, CONCORD, May 20, 1862.

To His Excellency, NATHANIEL S. BERRY,

Governor and Commander-in-Chief:

SIR: I have the honor to submit to your Excellency the folowing report, relative to the operations of this department since the 30th of July last. As nothing has transpired in connection with our State militia worthy of note, I shall confine this report principally to a statistical account of the raising of volunteers for actual service. By reason of enlistments, many of our volunteer companies have given up their organizations, while others still exist with diminished ranks. There are exceptions, however, some companies receiving new enlistments to fill the vacancies occasioned by the absence of those who have left for the war. In fact, since having charge of this department, my whole time has been occupied with matters appertaining to our volunteers, until within a few weeks, very little attention having been given to our State militia; but, from present indications, I am of the opinion that, with proper encouragement, a much larger volunteer force can easily be raised than was contemplated by the law of 1861.

In reference to the enrollment, let me say that the report of this office is required to be completed as early as the 20th of May, annually, just corresponding with the date allowed by the militia law of 1861 to the clerks of towns and cities to return the list of their enrolled militia; thereby causing no small inconvenience to this department. Could the present law be so amended as to require the several clerks to make their return as early as the 10th, instead of the 20th of May, this inconvenience might be remedied, giving ample time to remind those who might be remiss in this duty, previous to closing the report.

An accurate account of raising and organizing the First and Second Regiments for actual service, was presented by my predecessor in his last annual report. The First Regiment of three months men, commanded by Colonel Tappan, returning at the expiration of its term of enlistment, was mustered out of service at Concord, on the 9th day of August last, by Major Seth Eastman—the mustering out rolls exhibiting a total of twenty-five men less than the original rolls. Seven of the missing soldiers had been taken, and were then held prisoners by the enemy. Many of those discharged from the three months service have reënlisted for three years.

The Second Regiment, commanded by Colonel Marston, at the time of leaving the State numbered 1,040 men. On the 21st of July last this regiment was in the memorable engagement at Bull Run. It behaved gallantly, and suffered in killed, wounded and missing, nearly 200 men-Colonel Marston being wounded. Captain Carr was immediately detailed for the purpose of recruiting volunteers to make up the deficiency in this regiment, and a few weeks later, Captain Barker returned upon the same errand. About the middle of September they left for Washington, accompanied by 192 recruits. This regiment was also in the battle at Williamsburg, Va., on the 5th of the present month, and suffered severely in killed and wounded-nobly maintaining its former reputation. Captain Leonard Drown, Company E, was killed. Captain Farr and Lieutenant Perkins each lost an arm, and Lieutenant Burnham a leg. Captain Colby, Company B, who was sick at the time of this engagement, has since died.

On the 31st of July last an order was issued, offering a bounty of $10 to be paid to each man who had, or might hereafter enlist in the Third Regiment. This order was also carried into effect with all the regiments and companies raised in the State after that date.

The Third Regiment, commanded by Colonel Fellows, numbering 1,035 men, was recruited in the early part of August; ordered into camp at Concord, from the 10th to the 20th of that month; mustered into service from the 22d to the 26th; and left for New-York on the third day of September, with orders to report to Brigadier General T. W. Sherman, who, at that time, was stationed at Hempstead, Long Island.

After the organization of this regiment, there was remaining in camp at Concord nearly 200 enlisted men, who were immediately ordered into camp at Manchester, that city having been selected as the place of rendezvous for the Fourth Regiment. Two weeks later a sufficient number of recruits had been enlisted, in addition to those in camp, to organize the Fourth, which was mustered on the 18th day of September, and left for Washington on the 27th, under command of Colonel Whipple, numbering 1,024. Colonel Whipple has since resigned, and his command has been filled by the promotion of Lieutenant Colonel Bell.

The Fifth Regiment, commanded by Colonel Cross, numbering 1,024, was recruited immediately after the organization of the Fourth, going into camp at Concord. It was mustered into service from October 12 to 20, and proceeded to Washington on the 29th.

It was deemed advisable that the rendezvous of the Sixth Regiment should be at Keene, a large portion of it having been recruited in that section of the State. This regiment, numbering 1,024 men, under the command of Colonel Converse, was recruited in October and November; was mustered into service from November 27 to December 17, and left for the seat of war December 25. Shortly after arriving at Washington it was assigned to General Burnside's Division, and proceeded immediately to Hatteras, N. C. This regiment has, probably, suffered more from sickness than any that has left this State. On the 8th of March last, Colonel Converse resigned the command, and Lieutenant Colonel Griffin has since been promoted to the colonelcy. Honorable mention of the gallantry and soldierly conduct of this regiment at the battle of Camden, N. C., on the 19th of April last, was made by the commanding officer.

The Seventh Regiment, numbering 1,003, commanded by Colonel Putnam, was recruited and organized under the direction of Lieutenant Colonel Abbott, by order of the War Department, having its headquarters at Manchester. The State assumed no expense of raising it, aside from the bounty of ten dollars to each enlisted man, the same as to those in other regiments.

The Eighth Regiment, numbering 1,010, commanded by Colonel Fearing, also had its rendezvous at Manchester, and was recruited simultaneously with the Sixth and Seventh.

On the 28th of December, the Seventh and Eighth Regiments were reported to Major General Butler, agreeably to Especial Order 336 from the War Department. The Seventh, before ordered from the State by General Butler, received orders from the War Department to proceed to Washington, but, upon its arrival at New-York, was ordered into barracks in that city. A short time subsequently, it left New-York for Fort Jefferson, Tortugas, Florida, Colonel Putnam now being commander of that fort.

The Eighth, being ordered by General Butler to Fort Independence, Boston Harbor, left Manchester on the 25th day of January, 1862, and, on the 16th of February following, sailed, with other troops under his command, for Ship Island, Miss.

While our regiments of infantry were in process of organization, one artillery company, styled "Manchester Light Battery," was recruited by Lieutenants Hobbs and Edgell, having its rendezvous at Manchester, and numbering 151 men. This company was mustered into service September 26, and proceeded to Washington on the 30th day of October, armed and equipped.

In compliance with a request of H. Berdan, Esq., (whose proposition "to raise a regiment of rifle sharpshooters from any of the loyal States" had been accepted by the War Department) an order was issued July 30, 1861, authorizing Capt. Amos B. Jones to raise a company of 100 men as sharpshooters, to be afterward mustered into the service of the United States. The company was enlisted during the month of August, mustered into service September 9, and left the State September 11, numbering 101 men.

In the month of October, a few weeks after the departure of Capt. Jones' company, many young men preferred to enlist as sharpshooters rather than in companies of infantry, and orders were issued to Captains H. M. Caldwell and William D. McPherson, authorizing them to recruit one company each, to be styled the Second and Third Companies of Sharpshooters. The two companies were readily enlisted, although the novelty of "sharpshooters" had somewhat subsided before their completion. The Second was mustered on the 26th of November, and the Third on the 12th of December, each company leaving for Washington immediately after its mustering, numbering respectively 97 and 96 men.

During the same month (October) at the solicitation of Governor Sprague, of Rhode-Island, two companies of cavalry were recruited as a part of the "First Regiment of New-England Cavalry," by Captains Nelson of Manchester, and Swett of Andover. Upon the completion of these two companies it was thought best to raise two additional ones, in order to send a battalion from this State, and recruiting papers were issued accordingly to Captains Prentiss of Claremont, and Ainsworth of Nashua. The First and Second Companies remained in camp at Concord until the Third and Fourth were recruited and mustered. The four companies, numbering 323 men, left for Pawtucket, R. I., that place being the rendezvous for their regiment, on the 22d of January, 1862.

Agreeably to an order from the War Department, authority was granted Captain James Davidson, on the 20th of March last, to enlist 52 men to do garrison duty at Fort Constitution. The requisite number has been recruited and were mustered into the service of the United States on the 15th of the present month.

DETACHMENT AT FORT CONSTITUTION.

Captain, James Davidson, Portsmouth. First Lieutenant, James B. Gove, Concord. Second Lieutenant, Asa T. Hutchinson, Manchester.

An order was received from the War Department on the 15th of the present month, authorizing the State to enlist a detachment of 200 men to fill up our 6th Regiment, now in General Burnside's division, and that number is now being recruited. The deficiency in this regiment arises principally from the deaths and discharge of the sick and disabled.

During the organization, and since the departure of our troops, much care and attention has been given to registering the names of those mustered into service. A registration of every man has been made as correctly as possible from the rolls returned to this office. Many of the names furnished were illegibly written. Some of the descriptive lists were hurriedly made up and a few officers have neglected to return any whatever. Means have heen taken to procure the missing descriptive lists, so far as possible, as they will be necessary for future reference.

By the appointment of a Quartermaster this department has been relieved from the care of the arms and ordnance belonging to the state, as will be seen by his report, the old muskets used for drilling our volunteers only remaining in my possession. The duties of the several Departments of State connected with this war have been arduous—for a portion of the year extremely so, and I believe all concerned have endeavored to do their duty faithfully.

My intention has been to do that which would be for the best interests of the State, and at as little expense as possible—still so many of my duties have been new and experimental I may have erred.

In closing this report, I would acknowledge my indebtedness to George H. Chandler, Esq., Deputy Secretary of State, for assistance at the commencement of my duties. Also to the Military Committee of the Executive Council, Messrs. Brooks and Burnham, who have rendered all the assistance in their power to facilitate the raising of our troops.

The credit of New-Hampshire to-day, as reported by military men from headquarters, both in the character of her volunteers, in their clothing and equipments generally, is quoted at "par, with an upward tendency," and I believe her absent sons will do nothing to detract from her well-earned reputation.

ANTHONY COLBY,

Adjutant and Inspector-General.

REPORT OF QUARTERMASTER GENERAL.

Quartermaster General's Office, Nashua, May 12, 1862.

To His Excellency, NATHANIEL S. BERRY,

Governor and Commander-in-Chief:

SIR: In accordance with the requirements of "An act for remodeling the militia," passed June session, 1861, I have the honor to submit the following Annual Report:

When this department was placed in my charge, August 20, 1861, a committee had been appointed by the Legislature to ascertain and report upon the military property at that time in the possession of the State. By the kindness of that committee, I have been furnished with a copy of their Report; and, as the duties imposed upon them seem to have been performed with a great degree of care and accuracy, I have not deemed it necessary to go over the entire ground a second time. I have, therefore, taken their Report as the basis of this Report, adding however, such arms or other articles as have come to my notice, and which are not reported by them.

During the past year a portion of the military property has been sold, in compliance with your orders. I have, therefore, prepared a schedule, showing "in detail the amount and kind of public property" now in possession of the State; also, the amount and kind which has been sold. In another column, I have deemed it not inappropriate to present the condition of this department, as reported by the Legislative Committee.

The following schedule is submitted: namely,

DESCRIPTION.	Now in the possession of the State.	Sold.	As reported by the Committee.
Brass six-pounders,	11	11	23
Brass four-pounders,	3	14	16
Gun-houses and lots,	18		18
Flint-lock rifles,		95	80
Flint-lock muskets,		716	674
United States muskets,	2		2
Percussion muskets,	1685		2465
Percussion rifles,	42		42
Hall's rifles,	2	200	202
Iron thirty-two pounders,		3
Iron twenty-four pounders,		3	3 3
Iron eighteen pounders,		6	6
Iron twelve pounders,	2	1	3
Gun-carriages,		10
Sergeant's guns,	8		8
Sergeant's swords,	8 4		4
Pistols,	77		77
Sabers and belts,	121		121
Artillery swords and scabbards,	50		50
Tenor drums,	72		72
Bass drums,	15		15
Fifes,	26	•	26
Artillery hampers,	13		13
Regimental standards,	5		5
Rosters,	17		17
Other records,	11		11

With regard to the sale of certain articles enumerated in the schedule, I would state that, soon after the commencement of the present war, all the brass cannon in the state were examined by the committee having in charge the fitting out of the 1st New-Hampshire Battery, in order to ascertain how many were suitable to send out with the Battery. This examination revealed the fact that only one cannon in the state could be relied upon for actual service. This gun—a six-pounder—was accordingly rifled, and accompanied the Battery. The remaining guns were condemned, both on account of the enlargement of the base, and the lightness of the gun; and, in compliance with your orders, I proceeded to collect and sell them, reserving, however, one for each of the larger towns and cities. These cannon are of no value, except for the purpose of firing salutes, and I await your orders as to what disposal shall be made of them.

Agreeably to your orders, I also collected and sold all of the flint-lock rifles, flint-lock muskets, and Hall's rifles in the possession of the State. All the iron cannon, with the exception of two twelve-pounders still remaining at Lancaster Arsenal, have also been sold, by your orders.

I would also state, in reference to certain apparent discrepancies in the schedule, that a four-pounder was received from Deerfield, instead of a six-pounder, as reported by the Committee. There were also found at the Portsmouth Arsenal, fifteen flintlock rifles, not in the Committee's Report. There were also at Portsmouth Arsenal, 780 percussion muskets, which were brought into the State at the time of the breaking out of the Rebellion, and receipted for by Gov. Goodwin and your Excellency. When the Legislative Committee visited that place to take an inventory of the articles therein deposited, these arms were included as a part of the military property of the State. were soon after sent to Concord, for the use of the volunteers, and I presume the Committee will so report the fact. I understand that these muskets were a part of 2700 brought into the State and receipted for, as mentioned above; but none of them have ever been placed in my charge. Of the 674 flint-lock muskets reported by the Committee, two are missing from Chesterfield, and twenty-two from Manchester. There were found at Conway, forty-eight flint-lock muskets, and at Seabrook, thirtyseven scabbards and belts not enumerated in the Report of the Committee.

In addition to the military property given in the above schedule, the following articles at Portsmouth Arsenal were also reported by the Committee of the Legislature: namely,

23 Minnie ball molds;

11 brass chargers;

30 port-fires and lint-stocks;

1 American flag;

· 60 cartridge-boxes and straps;

28 cartridge-boxes, without straps;

60 bayonet scabbards, belts and cap-boxes;

Also the following at Lancaster Arsenal: namely,

1 set of drag ropes;

78 bullet molds;

1200 lbs. musket balls;

3 boxes blank cartridges.

There are also in possession of the State,

The above rifles and equipments were purchased of the State of Massachusetts, for the use of the volunteers; but, the regiments having been otherwise provided for. They were, with the exception of a hundred now used by the Granite State Cadets, at Nashua, placed in the arsenal at Portsmouth. The component parts of these rifles interchange perfectly, and they are, in every respect, of superior manufacture. I would, therefore, recommend that they be retained for the use of the State militia. In this connection, I would respectfully call your attention to the fact that, even with these rifles, there are not enough arms now in the possession of the State to equip three regiments. In further support of the recommendation, it may be added that, in the present struggle with the rebellious States, the smooth bore musket has been almost wholly superseded by the rifle, as the only effective weapon in the hands of the soldiers.

CONDITION OF ARMS.

I would state that the arms at Portsmouth Arsenal are in good order, with the exception of about fifty, which are somewhat injured, and ought to be repaired. I have examined some of the arms in the hands of troops, and they are generally in good condition. There are others which I have not been able to examine.

RECEIPTS.

I now hold receipts from mayors of cities and selectmen of towns, for all the arms in the possession of the State, with the exception of Concord, Manchester and Gilmanton, and I presume these will soon be in hand. I also have receipts for pistols, which were furnished to officers of regiments, from the persons to whom they were delivered, except from the officers of the 1st Regiment, who were furnished with pistols previous to my entering upon the duties of the office.

ARSENALS.

The Arsenal at Portsmouth is two stories high, fifty-four feet long, thirty-four feet wide, built of brick, with shingled roof, and is in good repair. The doors entering the building—which are of wood—are too light, and ought to be replaced with a much heavier door. There is a tight board fence around the building, seven feet high. The lower floor of this arsenal affords very good storage for guns and carriages, and the upper story is suitable for small arms and equipments. If, however, many arms are to be hereafter stored there, the building should be slated. The expenses of replacing the doors, and of some other repairs which are needed, would probably not exceed $100.

The Lancaster Arsenal is a wooden building, one and a half story high, thirty-six feet long and twenty-four feet wide. This building is somwhat out of repair, it being necessary to re-set all the underpinning, which would require an outlay of about $100. There is no property of much value in the arsenal; and if many arms are hereafter to be stored there, they ought to be insured.

I would urge the necessity of erecting another arsenal nearer the center of the State than those at Lancaster and Portsmouth. If the State is to provide itself, or be provided, with a large number of arms, most of which will be likely at times to be deposited in the arsenal, it would seem to be only common prudence that a building be erected of suitable capacity for their reception, and that such building should be made strictly fire-proof, and otherwise so protected that the arms may be considered entirely safe from any casualty while deposited in it. Such a building need not be very large or expensive; for I am informed by government officers of experience, that arms stored in arsenals should remain in boxes, and not be placed in ranks, thus requiring less room, and saving expense in size of building.

—and is here reported, so that if there are any mistakes, either of omission or addition, they may be noticed, and corrected as soon as possible:

I learn that the two iron cannon at Lancaster Arsenal were taken from Burgoyne's army; and there is in New-Boston a brass six-pound cannon, regarding which there are similar associations. And I would suggest the propriety of there being some legislative action taken regarding them, to the end that if, on examination, the history of the guns shall seem to make it proper, that the guns may be suitably inscribed, and placed in the Rotunda of the State House.

I would remark, that if there is a gun in New-Boston, as suggested, it is not reported by the Committee as belonging to the State, and I learn it is claimed by the citizens of the town; but admitting that it belongs to them, it can not be doubted but that it would be cheerfully passed over to the State for the purpose above indicated.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN H. GAGE,

Quartermaster-General.

To His Excellency the Governor and the Honorable Council:

The Trustees of the House of Reformation ask leave to present their SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT.

What was considered four years since a doubtful experiment, has now become a fixed institution. There is no longer, we think, any question of the necessity or of the beneficent results of a State Reform School. The experiment has been tried, and more than the hopes of the most sanguine have been realized.

We have heretofore been permitted to speak with gratitude of the general health of the inmates, but this year sickness has pervaded to a great degree,-two have died.

There has been no change in the superintendance. Mr. and Mrs. Shattuck still have the charge of the Institution and the Farm, and retain the same hold on the confidence of the Trustees and friends as heretofore.

The prevalent sickness this year has afforded Mrs. Shattuck an opportunity of exercising and exhibiting the benevolent sympathies of her heart. If each of the sick had been her own child her solicitation and care could not have been greater,— they were truly maternal.

The quarterly meetings of the Trustees have been continued as usual, and at each one the condition of the Institution has been thoroughly examined and suggestions freely made, and the visits by one or more of the Trustees have been continued every two weeks. It is the aim of those to whom the oversight and management have been committed to convince the inmates that they have a benevolent interest in their welfare, and they trust they have been in a measure successful in doing this.

Speaking of the duties of the Trustees, permit us to suggest, as a matter of convenience and economy, whether it would not be better that the office of Treasurer be held either by the Superintendent or by one of the Trustees. We think it would.

The school was last year commenced in the Autumn and closed the first of April. It was taught by Mr. Upton and Miss Watson, who have proved themselves competent and faithful teachers. At the close of the school term, there was a public examination, attended by a large number. Several of the clergymen of the City of Manchester, and many friends of education and reform were present, and all expressed themselves highly gratified with all they saw and heard.

The studies pursued here are the same as pursued in the best English schools in the State; and the progress made reflected credit on teachers and pupils.

Religious services have been conducted by the clergymen of Manchester on the Sabbath, and a Sabbath-school has been regularly taught by gentlemen and ladies from the same city. To these clergymen and these gentlemen and ladies the thanks of all the friends of humanity and religion are duc. They find their reward, the only reward asked for or expected, in the consciousness of having attempted to do good.

The Superintendent's Report which will accompany this, will place before you the internal condition and management of the Institution, and will prove, we trust, satisfactory. From that it will be seen that the number of inmates has increased from fifty-eight to one hundred and seven, nearly double what it was one year since. It can hardly be doubted that the next annual report will give one hundred and fifty—a number equaling the present accommodations of the building. Can it be doubted that but for this school a large portion of these would grow up in crime, involve the State in the heavy expense of annual prosecutions, and pass years in prisons? It costs something to support the Institution. The original outlay has been considerable, and there must be a yearly demand on the treasury of the State; but let it not be forgotten that the design is to prevent what would cost far more. No classes cost the State so much as its criminals. If, then, there were no higher motive, no appeal to christian and benevolent sympathies, it would be purely a matter of economy for the State to yield a generous support. It strives to make honorable and useful citizens of those who would otherwise be the pests and burden of the State,—wretched themselves, and the dispensers of wretchedness.

Two have graduated from the Institution, and we are happy to refer to these young men as an illustration of what we aim to accomplish. We send them forth with the fullest confidence that they are prepared and resolved to be good and useful citizens.

With these general statements, permit us to come to what will especially claim your consideration—the financial condition and necessities of the Institution.

The total of the current expenses of the year is $9,346. More than $2,000 of this has been for permanent improvements, and will not, therefore, have to be repeated. The outstanding bills against the Institution, including the interest due Portsmouth Savings Bank, amount to $4,223.34. The amount received from towns, cities and counties, is $4,060.05. From rents of houses, $331.64. There is now due from towns, cities and counties, $2,245.71, leaving a balance against the Institution of about $2,000; but as the sum owed by towns, cities and counties will continue about the same from year to year, this amount can not be considered available for paying the existing debts. The present indebtedness of the Institution is $4,223.34; with this debt and no funds to enter on a new year, we feel compelled to ask for an appropriation of $6,000. This is the lowest sum that will meet the absolute wants.

The barn, one hundred feet by forty-two, with a cellar, which was in process of building at the time of our last report, has been completed, and, we are happy to say, at an expense less by several hundred dollars than the estimated cost.

We close by simply expressing the hope and the confidence that you will cheerfully grant us the appropriation for which we ask, and lend to the Institution the same fostering care as heretofore. We are fully persuaded of its great usefulness; it deserves support, and from the enlightened and benevolent Government of the State it will receive it.

Respectfully submitted,

HORTON D. WALKER, for the Trustees.

IMPROVEMENTS.

The improvements that were commenced last year have been carried on as time and opportunity would permit. In these farm improvements, a vast amount of labor has been performed by the boys. They have shown a good deal of interest, and have worked with the greatest zeal and will for their accomplishment. The grounds and farm have been greatly improved, and we hope there is a corresponding improvement in the physical, intellectual and moral being of the boys. The second story of the shop has been mostly finished, preparatory to having some in-door labor as soon as convenient.

HEALTH.

The children enjoyed general good health in the first part of the year, up to the middle of November, and since that time the hospital has not been empty. About the first of November, a boy by the name of Horace A. Tuttle, of Dover, who had been with us about nine weeks, was taken sick with the typhoid fever. He was not possessed with a strong constitution, and was not able to do much hard labor. He died Dec. 12th, after being sick twenty-one days. His widowed mother was with him the last six days that he lived, and rendered much assistance in administering to his wants. She requested that the corpse might be carried to Dover for burial; and, accordingly, at $2\frac{1}{2}$ o'clock 1. M., Dec. 12, the body was taken to the Chapel, preparatory to removal, where, in the presence of the children and officers, Rev.

George Pierce, of the First Baptist Society, read an instructive portion of scripture, followed by a short address to the school. The school united in singing one of Watts' hymns, beginning,—

"When blooming youth is snatched away;"

—after which, Mr. Pierce offered a most fervent prayer to God, that he would sanctify the sickness and death of one of the number, for their present and eternal good. The stricken mother was not forgotten, but was earnestly commended to God in this her hour of trial. The scene was most solemn and impressive, and we trust will long be remembered by the school. The body was taken to Dover, where it now sleeps quietly by its kin.

Soon after the death of H. A. Tuttle, the measles made their appearance in the school, probably brought there by the soldiers, who visited the Institution. Eleven boys and two girls had them, when their farther progress was stopped.

About the last of December, a boy by the name of James H. Morean, aged 19 years, who had been with us about fourteen months, from Haverhill, Mass., was taken with the typhoid fever. He was sick thirty-one days, and died. His mother was with him a short time during his sickness, but on account of her own infirmities, did not remain long. The latter part of his sickness he suffered much, but we did what we could to alleviate his sufferings, and smooth his passage to the grave. A short time before he died, he requested that one of the Trustees, who happened to be present, whose voice James had often heard in prayer, would pray with him; but his sufferings were so great that it was deemed impracticable. A few moments before he ceased to breathe, he was heard to half articulate a little prayer that the Lord would receive his soul. May we not hope that, even in this last moment, he looked, and then entered the Haven of Eternal Rest.

Several other boys have had the same fever, but are doing well. One boy, who fell down stairs in February and severely injured his thigh bone, is now confined to the hospital. We have reason to thank God for such health as he in his mercy has seen fit to bestow upon us and our youthful charge.

STATE REFORM SCHOOL, Manchester, N. H., February 9, 1862.

MRS. TENNEY:

Dear Madam: — In behalf of the boys of this institution, of which your son was a member at the time of his death, a committee has been appointed to express to you our sympathy for your loss, and the estimation in which he was held.

He was generally beloved by us — almost always pleasant to those with whom he had any dealings. Whether at work or at play, his whole heart seemed to be in his employment. Ever ready to enlist in any new plan which seemed likely to prove beneficial, and never backward to perform his own duties.

He was an active member in our lyceum, and was also one of our executive committee. In our lyceum we shall miss him greatly. We feel that he was trying to become a Christian at the time he was taken sick, for he was an attendant at our weekly prayer meetings, in which he took a part.

We shall miss him from among us — miss his merry laugh, his smiling face — his pleasant voice will no more join in our songs or mingle in our evening devotions. Yet we should be content, for it is God that hath taken him away; and though his ways may seem dark to us, what we know not now we shall know hereafter.

Accept from us our heartfelt sympathy for you in this your time of trial. May God support you and be with you.

(Signed)

CHA'S E. RUSSELL, WALTER S. ELLIS.

DISCIPLINE.

Uniform kindness and gentleness, united with judicious persuasion and salutary correction when needed, we believe to be essential in all well-regulated schools and reformatories. Our experience has taught us that it would be better to have no rules at all, than to have those that can not be strictly observed. Our punishments consist of deprivation of breakfast and play, feruling in some cases, and dismissions from trusts. Confinement and corporeal punishment is seldom resorted to, and then only in extreme cases.

SCHOOL.

Our term of school commenced December 2, and closed April 1, with an examination.

. The school appeared well at the close, and evinced a good degree of improvement.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

Our kindly remembrances are due to the publishers of the following journals for copies furnished free for the use of the School:

Journal of Agriculture, Daily Mirror, Weekly Union, Democrat and American, New-Hampshire Statesman, Independent Democrat, New-Hampshire Telegraph, Portsmouth Journal, New-Hampshire Gazette, Exeter News Letter, National Eagle, Cheshire Republican, American Ballot, and Dover Gazette.

We return our grateful acknowledgments to those gentlemen who gave lectures the past winter before the School, thereby contributing in promoting the intellectual as well as the moral culture of our youthful charge: to wit, Joseph Kidder, Esq., Hon. F. Smith, D. A. Crosby, Esq., William A. Webster, Esq., C. W. Johnson, Esq., A. B. Shattuck, Esq., S. D. Lord, Esq., William Little, Esq., Rev. Mr. Bowman, Hon. Samuel Upton, Rev. B. F. Bowles, J. D. Watson, Esq., and Mr. Wilkins, of Pembroke.

On the fourth day of May last, a flag, eighteen feet by twelve, of domestic manufacture, was raised upon our building. A large number of people assembled to witness the raising. As the stars and stripes unfurled to the breeze, three rousing cheers arose, and a national air was played by the band.

All present then proceeded to the main hall of the building, which was filled to overflowing, where speeches were made, songs sung, and music by the band.

At that time, among all the boys, there was but one who advocated secession. As free speech was allowed, the boys had many discussions upon the merits and demerits of rebel and loyalist, in which discussions this boy always took the rebel side of the argument. Early in the autumn, he received an honorable discharge, and it is a significant fact that some three months afterward he visited us, dressed in the uniform of the New-Hampshire Cavalry. It may not be out of place to state that by way of the press, we learn that the company, of which he is a member, was engaged in the late battle at Front Royal. Our flag is still doing good service, and though undergoing frequent repairs, at each successive victory of our army its folds are flung anew to the breeze.

We would tender our sincere thanks to the Manchester Cornet Band, whose gratuitous services were so acceptable upon the occasion of our flag raising; also to Revs. B. F. Bowles and S. S. Hunting, and J. R. Hines, Esq., of the Mirror, whose patriotic speeches added great interest, and to the numerous friends who testified their good will by their attendance.

MORAL AND RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

Morning and evening prayers and reading in the Bible are attended in the chapel. At the commencement of the new year, small copies of the Book of Proverbs were given to all who would agree to learn one verse a day. As new ones came in, the offer was repeated, and in all but two cases the condition was readily complied with. The verse is repeated in concert before retiring.

There have been religious services nearly every Sabbath evening, conducted by the clergymen of this city. Their services are entirely gratuitous, but are rendered with hearty good will, although at times it must be very fatiguing, after the labors of the day among their own people. Still, such may feel sure of the reward promised to those who care for Christ's little ones.

SABBATH SCHOOL.

The Sabbath School, which had been suspended during the winter, was reorganized the first Sabbath in April, by the choice of George Thompson as Superintendent; and the following ladies and gentlemen were appointed teachers: Mrs. J. T. Ayer, Miss Riddle, Dr. S. Bunton, Dr. D. B. Nelson, J. T. Ayer, Gilman Riddle, J. D. Watson, S. D. Hough, Mr. Baker, Mr. F. Wallace, and G. E. Thompson. Mr. F. Wallace, receiving an appointment at the post-office in the city, did not meet with his class. Mr. and Mrs. Ayer remained with their classes about a month, and then resigned. Dr. D. B. Nelson remained with his class a little longer, and was off. Subsequently, Joseph Kidder, Esq., Dea. J. Paige, P. K. Chandler and the Misses Clough and others, kindly assisted and aided in the work of reform.

A commendable interest was manifested by the children in committing Scripture—several of them learning eight or nine hundred verses, one going as high as eleven hundred and fifty. The aggregate number of verses committed to memory by the children, during the session of six months, was eight thousand two hundred and sixty-six.

Thanks are due to those friends whose untiring kindness led them to continued labor in this vineyard of their Master, and they may well feel that their labor was not in vain.

Four concerts were held during the season, and were fully attended by the citizens, and a good degree of interest was manifested by the school.

The boys' prayer-meeting has been kept up during the past year, and we hope has been productive of good. We trust some souls will be gathered into the Saviour's garner at last, as the fruit of this little meeting.

Singing, as a reformatory means, has not been neglected. Any thing which tends to soften the asperities of unsubdued human nature—which leads the mind upward—which serves to purify the intellect—we consider as reformatory. Vocal music contributes to this end. Quite a number of the children possess good voices. One of their number plays the melodeon. Thus we have a large choir, that assist in this delightful Sabbath and evening service.

We have thus specified some of the means used for moral and religious culture. But we do not stop here. Constant, unceasing vigilance is required—line upon line and precept upon precept—here a little and there a little; untiring watchfulness is needed, that no aspirations for the true and noble in the youthful heart may, through neglect, be crushed. Perhaps at no period since the establishment of the Institution, have we had greater reasons for thankfulness than at the present time. We feel that under God the labors and prayers of those more immediately connected, as also those godly men that have met us from week to week, with words of love, counsel and advice, have been successful. And though there still remain obstacles to be surmounted, and labor to be done, those are bright spots which serve to cheer us in our sometimes weary way.

I take great pleasure in expressing my entire satisfaction with the faithfulness with which the officers of the institution have discharged their various duties, and their hearty coöperation in every thing which seemed to forward the great mission of the School. Without such assistance the best plans must fail.

Gentlemen of the Board of Trustees:

We return you our sincere thanks for your kindness in the performance of our duties.

The labors and cares of the year are past. Their results can never fully be known, until we shall have all entered that bourne from which no traveler returns. May Providence continue to bless all our efforts.

BROOKS SHATTUCK, Superintendent.

To the Honorable Legislature of the State of New-Hampshire:

The Trustees of the New-Hampshire Asylum for the Insane present this, their TWENTY-FIRST ANNUAL REPORT.

Nothing of unusual or special interest has occurred at the Asylum during the past year, and yet the record presented in the accompanying report of the Superintendent must afford satisfaction to every friend of the insane who shall give it a perusal. The Asylum is doing a noble work, and has attained to a high rank among kindred institutions in other states.

The Superintendent, Dr. Bancroft, is conducting its affairs with great ability, and evincing a devotion to its interests exceedingly gratifying to its friends; while his subordinates and employees are seconding his efforts in a manner as pleasing as it is satisfactory.

The whole number of patients who have been under treatment during the year ending May 1, 1862, has been two hundred and eighty-two. Ninety-four have been discharged, and one hundred and eighty-eight now remain as inmates of the institution.

Important improvements have been made upon the grounds of the Asylum, during the past year, which contribute much to their beauty and convenience. The sewerage pool, sixty-four feet square and four feet in depth, has been completed, by means of which the refuse matter of the laundry, water-closets, bathing-rooms and sinks are preserved, and, mixed with muck and other absorbents, furnish a large amount of valuable fertilizing matter for the farm. A bowling-alley has also been erected during the year, for the use of the female patients, and is now contributing much to the health and entertainment of such as visit it.

The appropriation made by the last Legislature to aid the indigent insane has been received and distributed, under the direction of the Governor, among fifty indigent private patients and sixty-seven town patients. But for this timely aid many of these must have left the institution, for the want of sufficient means of discharging their quarterly bills. It is respectfully suggested that this appropriation, which has been annually voted, in varying sums, since the establishment of the institution, be fixed in amount, and made a permanent annual appropriation, as in very many, and, perhaps, most of other States.

The price of board was fixed some years since at two dollars and seventy-five cents per week, and has not since been changed.

It will be twenty years next October since the opening of the Asylum, and it may not be unfit to recur briefly to a few of the leading facts of its history.

Some thirty years ago the condition of the insane of New-Hampshire began to excite a deep interest in the hearts of philanthropic persons in different sections of the State. The feeling rapidly increased that something should be done for their benefit, and that, too, upon a scale commensurate with the magnitude of their numbers.

But what, by whom, and in what way? These were questions of difficult solution. As the public interest in the subject deepened, a settled conviction was formed in leading minds that the State should take the initiative in whatever measures might be adopted. Influenced in part, perhaps, by this general sentiment, but feeling deeply the importance of the enterprise, Governor Dinsmoor, in his Message to the Legislature, in June, 1832, thus called attention to the condition of the insane:

"I feel that no apology need be made in an age so distinguished for its public and private charities, for calling your attention to a subject which has so much reason and humanity on its side, as a measure for the security and recovery of the lunatic, or insane. The Legislature of this State has never yet recognized these unfortunate beings as entitled to any special favor from government."

After alluding to the belief once entertained of the incurableness of insanity, he contrasts the enlightened and humane treatment afforded by well regulated hospitals with that in general practice throughout the State. He then asserts the curableness of the malady, in a large percentage of cases, where proper and timely treatment is used, and cites in proof thereof statistics gathered from the reports of some of the best managed institutions for the insane in England and the United States, thereby showing the importance "of having in some convenient part of the State a place where patients of this description can be received with as little delay as possible, after the commencement of the disease, and before improper management shall have aggravated its character and lessened the chances of cure." He also recommended, as a preparatory step, the institution of an inquiry "to ascertain, with as much exactness as practicable, the whole number of insane within the State, distinguishing paupers from others, the number that have been committed to jail within a given time, by authority of court or by their friends or others, without the order or sanction of judicial proceedings, and the length of their respective terms of confinement; and to ascertain, in like manner, the actual or probable amount of costs of courts and jailers' fees, and expenses of their support and maintenance in cases of confinement."

In accordance with this recommendation, the Governor was directed, by a resolution passed on the 22d day of June of that year, "to take proper means to ascertain the number of insane persons in the state."

In his message, at the opening of the winter session, in November following, Governor Dinsmoor farther said: "I addressed letters of inquiry containing copies of the resolution to the selectmen of the several towns in the State, requesting them to furnish me seasonably with the information desired. In one hundred and forty one towns, being all from which returns have been received, the whole number of insane is one hundred and eighty-nine—ninety males and ninety-nine females—one hundred and three of whom are paupers. The whole number of those now in confinement is seventy-six, of whom twenty-five are in private houses, thirty-four in poor-houses, seven in cells and cages, six in chains and irons, and four in jail. Of those not now in confinement many are stated to have been, at times, secured in private houses, some have been handcuffed, others have been confined in cells, and some in chains and jails."

In pursuance of the Governor's recommendation, a bill was introduced into the House of Representatives, on the 26th day of December, providing "for the establishment of the New-Hampshire Asylum for the Insane." This was read twice, laid upon the table, and, on the 28th of December, indefinitely post-poned by a vote of 139 to 78.

Upon the assembling of the next Legislature, in 1833, Governor Dinsmoor again alluded to the subject in his message, and said, in relation to the establishment of an asylum for the insane: "Although your predecessors did not feel prepared to sanction the measures recommended, I have never lost the hope of seeing, at an early period, a zealous coöperation of the several branches of the government with the friends of suffering humanity, in promoting a charity so plainly recommended by the principles of our religion, and by every consideration of justice and philanthropy."

On the 20th day of June of this year, a resolution was introduced into the House of Representatives, authorizing the appointment of an agent to examine and inspect sundry asylums for the insane, and "report a plan for an asylum in this State." The resolution passed to its third reading, when, its indefinite postponement being moved, the year and nays were required, and its postponement lost by a vote of 54 yeas and 105 nays. The resolution was then passed and sent to the Senate, where, a few days afterward, its farther consideration was postponed to the next session of the Legislature. A resolution was also passed by the House, "That each member of this Legislature instruct their respective towns to report by their members, at the next session, the number of insane, and their wishes in relation to the State building and hospital for the use of the insane"; but this was also indefinitely postponed by the Senate. Still another resolution was introduced into the House, appropriating ten thousand dollars "for the erection of an insane hospital," the consideration of which was subsequently postponed to the next session of the Legislature by a vote of 108 year and 87 nays.

The use of the Representatives' Hall was granted to Dr. Perry, of Exeter, on the evening of the 20th of June, for the delivery of a lecture upon the subject of the insane."

Upon the opening of the session of 1834, Governor Badger warmly urged, in his message, the importance of taking some measures for alleviating the existing condition of the insane; and on the 24th of June, a resolution was introduced into the House, appropriating $12,500 for the purpose of erecting an insane hospital, which, on the 30th of the same month, was postponed to the next session. The resolution "authorizing the appointment of an agent for the inspection of certain asylums for the insane," which was postponed last year to the present session, was reported to the Senate by the Committee on Unfinished Business, and subsequently indefinitely postponed. A resolution, however, was passed, requiring the selectmen of the several towns to make return to the Secretary of State of the number and condition of the insane, in their respective towns and disand on the 19th of June the use of the Representatives'

Hall was again granted to Dr. Perry, for the delivery of a lecture upon the insane of the State.

The next year (1835) a resolution was introduced into the House, "appropriating twenty-five bank shares for the erection of an asylum for the insane," which was subsequently postponed to the next session of the Legislature. On the 26th of June, however, the House passed a resolution, providing for the appointment of a committee of one from each county, to ascertain the number and condition of the insane in the several counties of the State, and make report to the next Legislature.

At the following session, in June, 1836, the subject was again brought forward, but no decisive measures were taken. House granted the use of their hall to Samuel E. Coues, Esq., for the delivery of a lecture upon the insane, who had previously made a very able report to the Legislature upon the same subject. Various petitions from different towns, asking for the establishment of an insane hospital, were presented. Dr. L. V. Bell, for the House committee, "to whom was referred so much of the Governor's Message as relates to insane persons in this State, the memorials and petitions praying for an insane asylum, and the statistical returns from the towns," presented an able report on the subject, which was ordered to be printed; and a resolution was passed, providing for the taking, in November following, the sense of the qualified voters of the State on the question, "Is it expedient for the State to grant an appropriation to build an insane hospital?"

In his message, at the opening of the November session, Governor Hill remarked, in relation to the response to this question by the people of the State, that "less than one half of the legal voters of the State have expressed any opinion, and the official returns, so far as received, would indicate that the vote had been nearly equal for and against the proposition; and then suggested that, had the question been framed in a manner somewhat different, so as to take the sense of the voters upon the question of the State granting aid for the erection of such an hospital, the expression might have been more decided.

At the next session, in 1837, no action was taken by the Legislature upon the subject.

The friends of the enterprise, however, were not disheartened, nor were their efforts abandoned, as they cherished the belief that these efforts must ere long be crowned with success. And in this anticipation they were not disappointed; for on the 21st day of June, 1838, a bill was introduced into the House, entitled "An act to incorporate the New-Hampshire Asylum for the Insane." It passed to a third reading, when a motion was made to postpone it to the next session of the Legislature, and "that the Secretary of State be required to notify the selectmen of the several towns in this State to insert an article in their warrants for holding the annual March meetings, to take the sense of the qualified voters upon the subject of granting an appropriation for building an asylum." Upon the yeas and nays being called, it was found the motion did not prevail, the yeas being 85 and the nays 144. The bill was then passed, and in a few days its passage was concurred in by the Senate.

Thus, after a severe struggle of six years, during which time they encountered a most obstinate opposition, its advocates at length succeeded in obtaining for the Asylum a charter. We would be glad to recount the names of those early and devoted friends to whose unwearied efforts the institution owes its existence; but our limits forbid. But for their efforts in its behalf, in the Legislature, the pulpit, the lecture-room, by the way, and wherever an opportunity offered, it might not have been erected to this day. In its success they now have proof of the correctness of their early foresight of its importance, and in its useful-

By this act the New-Hampshire Asylum for the Insane was constituted a corporation, with power to hold real and personal property in any amount necessary for its maintenance and support, "provided that its annual income, from its real and personal estate, should not exceed thirty thousand dollars." The institution was placed under the management of a board of twelve trustees, the offices of three of whom should become vacant annually, eight to be chosen by the corporation and four by a Board of Visitors, consisting of the Governor and Council, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives for the time being. It also provided that whenever the sum of fifteen thousand dollars should be secured to the Asylum by individuals, then the State should make over to it, in aid of its benevolent objects, thirty shares of New-Hampshire bank stock, worth at that time about eighteen thousand dollars.

Some six months after the passage of this act a controversy arose between the corporation representing the subscribers to the voluntary fund, and the Board of Visitors, representing the State, relative to certain powers of control assumed by the former, and different interpretations of the act of incorporation were urged. The questions involved were settled, however, not long after, by the legislature, which passed an act "in amendment to and explanatory of the incorporating act," providing "that the direction, management and control of all the property and concerns" of the Asylum should be vested in the Trustees, without any power of interference by the corporation. And it was ere long thought best that the institution should be placed entirely under the control of the State, which, in accordance with an act passed in 1840, assumed its sole management through a Board of Trustees, all to be appointed by the Governor and Council. Another act, passed the same year, also provided that all contributions by private individuals, previously made, should be refunded to them, if claimed within a given time.

The location of the Asylum at some point in the town of Concord was left with the Trustees, who, on the 21st of January, 1841, decided upon that it now occupies, the town of Concord having previously voted to give to it the sum of nine thousand and five hundred dollars, provided it should be located within its limits, and private citizens of the town having also pledged a considerable amount in addition upon the same condition.

A building committee, previously appointed, now entered upon the discharge of their duties, and procured the completion, in October, 1842, of the front portion of the present center building, and the north and south wings adjoining, which afforded accommodations for ninety-six patients. From the Trustees' Report for 1844, it appears "that the whole amount expended in the erection of the hospital, barn and out-buildings, for the farm, consisting of 121 acres, supply of water, furniture, farming tools, stock and other property, was thirty-five thousand two hundred and sixty-six dollars and seventy cents ($35,266.70);" and that of this sum nineteen thousand dollars only had been paid by the State, the balance having been received from contributions by the town and citizens of Concord, the Society of Shakers, and other benevolent individuals, and realized from the board of patients.

A few years later an additional building was erected in the rear of the main structure, for the use of the violent insane, but which, upon the completion of the new cottage, in 1855, was converted into a laundry.

The Asylum was opened for patients on the 29th day of October, A. D. 1842, under the superintendence of Dr. George Chandler, who, in June following, reported to the Trustees the admission of seventy-six patients during the previous seven months. Dr. Chandler remained at the head of the institution for about three years, and to him it is greatly indebted for the initiation of a wise routine of management, which is in part still observed. He was succeeded, in 1845, by Dr. Andrew McFarland, now superintendent of the Illinois Insane Asylum, who discharged the duties of superintendent with much ability for about seven years, and resigned in the summer of 1852. During his superintendence the number of patients so far increased as to render imperative an enlargement of the Asylum; and, agreeably to an act of the Legislature making an appropriation of . fifteen thousand dollars for that purpose, the Chandler wing was erected in 1849–50. Dr. John E. Tyler succeeded Dr. McFarland, and conducted the affairs of the institution with eminent success for a period of four years and a half. During his superintendence the new cottage was erected, steam fixtures for warming the halls and other parts of the house were introduced, and, in consequence of increased admissions, the Rumford wing was erected, thereby increasing the limit of accommodations to two hundred and twenty-five patients. He was succeeded, in 1857, by the present superintendent, Dr. J. P. Bancroft. During his superintendence he has manifested a deep personal interest in all its concerns, ever evincing a rare combination of professional skill and business ability. Under his direction the center building has been enlarged, and many improvements of less magnitude about the buildings and upon the farm have been made.

In addition to the concern ever manifested by the State in the welfare of the Asylum since its establishment, by generously providing from time to time for its wants, benevolent individuals have also shown a most gratifying interest in its prosperity, and in repeated instances bestowed upon it generous contributions.

Soon after its establishment Miss Catherine Fisk, of Keene, bequeathed to it the sum of nearly six thousand dollars. The State is the Trustee of this fund, which is still charged with the payment of a temporary annuity, which exhausts but in part its income. The balance of income is annually added to the principal, so that the original sum is increasing from year to year, and amounted, on the 5th day of October, 1861, to $7,349.69. Although the Asylum has as yet received nothing from this legacy, eventually it will make an important addition to its permanent funds.

About this time Hon. Samuel Bell, of Chester, made to it a small donation, for the purchase of books for the use of such patients as could profit from their perusal, and thereby laid the foundation of an Asylum library.

Four years later the sum of two hundred dollars was received from John Williams, Esq., of Hanover, and expended in the erection of a green-house.

In 1846 the State, as trustees for the Asylum, received a legacy from the estate of the late Jacob Kimball, Esq., of Hampstead, now amounting to six thousand seven hundred and fifty-three dollars and forty-nine cents, the interest of which is annually paid to the Treasurer of the institution.

A very much larger legacy was, a few years afterward, received from the estate of the late Abiel Chandler, Esq., a native of New-Hampshire, but afterward a citizen of Boston, Mass., a portion of which has been expended in the construction of the Chandler and Rumford wings and the new cottage.

In December, 1852, Countess Sarah Rumford, of Concord, who bequeathed the principal part of a large estate to benevolent institutions, left to the Asylum the sum of fifteen thousand dollars; and Mrs. Mary Danforth, of Boscawen, who deceased a few months before her, made the Asylum her residuary legatee, and some three hundred dollars was received from her estate.

Mrs. Fanny T. Sherman, late of Exeter, who died some two years ago, also left to the Asylum the sum of five thousand dollars, for the benefit of the indigent insane, the payment of which is anticipated at an early day.

The Trustees have also received notice, within a few months, of a legacy to the Asylum of some seventeen hundred dollars from the late Mrs. Peggy Fuller, of Francestown. The estate is now in a course of settlement, and no part of this legacy has as yet been received.

The legacies above mentioned, so far as they have been received, with the exception of a portion of Mr. Chandler's legacy, above mentioned, and the smaller ones of Mr. Bell and Mr. Williams, have been carefully and permanently invested. The permanent funds of the Asylum, now in the hands of the Treasurer of the State, amounts to $37,303.18.

Thus we have endeavored to present some of the leading facts in the history of the Asylum, during the period of the first twenty years of its existence. Few kindred institutions have been blest with a higher degree of prosperity than it has continually enjoyed; few have produced a greater amount of good in proportion to its cost and the extent of its means.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT.

To the Trustees of the N. H. Asylum for the Insane:

With the completion of another year, it becomes my duty to present the annual statement of the condition of the Asylum, and of the operations of the past year.

On the first day of May, 1861, there were in the Asylum 196 patients; 88 males, and 108 females. Since that day, to the first day of May, 1862, there have been admitted 86 patients; 45 males, and 41 females. The whole number who have been under treatment during the year is 282; 133 males, and 149 females. The number discharged during the year has been 81; 35 males, and 46 females. Thirteen persons—10 males and 3 females—have died. This leaves in the house, on the first day of May, 1862, 188 patients; of whom 88 are males, and 100 females. The largest number in the house at any one time has been 203; and the smallest, 133. The daily average residence for the year has been, of males, 85 7-10, of females, 105 7-10: total average, 191 4-10. Average excess of females over males twenty.

Fifty-one of the patients admitted were persons in whom the attack was recent, the average duration of the disease previous to admission being forty-eight days; the longest duration being one year, and the shortest, two days. Thirty-five admitted were persons in whom the insanity was of long standing, the average existence of the disease being not less than six years. Of this number, 22 were past all hope of recovery before admission. In thirty of the cases admitted, hereditary predisposition to ininsanity existed.

Of the thirteen deaths which have occurred the past year, the immediate cause, in five cases, was epilepsy. The disease in all of them had been of long duration, and their average residence at the Asylum, three years. One man, seventy-two years of age, died of dropsy from disease of the heart. Another, at the age of forty-five, after a residence in the house of fourteen years, died of disease of the heart, originating in rheumatism. Another, fifty-three years old, was brought with chronic pleurisy, and survived to the twenty-seventh day. A lady forty-four years old, was brought in a state of exhaustion from acute mania, and died on the sixth day. A man, twenty years old, was admitted in the last stage of general paralysis, and died in twenty days. Another died of structural disease of the brain, one year after admission. The remaining two were worn out by chronic insanity, which had followed them many years to old age.

Of the 81 discharged, 41 — namely, twenty males, and 21 females — were restored; 32 — 12 males, and 20 females — were, in different degrees, improved; and 8 — 3 males, and 5 females, were not improved.

The average time spent in the Asylum by those discharged recovered, was five and a half months: The longest residence by any one recovered, was thirteen and a half months; and the shortest, one month. The percentage of recoveries on the whole number of admissions, was forty-seven and two thirds. The percentage of recoveries on the whole number of recent attacks, was eighty and two fifths. Six of those discharged as improved have continued improving since leaving the Asylum, and are now restored; and six others, though not wholly restored, are in the discharge of active and responsible duties.

These statements go to confirm previous statistics, collected here and elsewhere, in showing that the golden opportunity for the cure of insanity is while it is recent; and so vital is its importance to the community, as well as the patient, that no apology is necessary for reiterating, again and again, what has been so long and so often repeated in the reports of Asylums. For it is still often seen that the immediate reason for committing persons attacked with insanity, is inability to manage them at home; and, that so far as the disease was concerned, if the patient had been quiet and harmless, committal would have been indefinitely deferred. This is an absurdity which would hardly be practiced with regard to any other acute disease.

The year has not been marked by any striking incident, nor has the ordinary routine of labor been interrupted by any serious sickness or accident.

A satisfactory success has followed the efforts for the restoration of our patients; and it is a matter of sincere pleasure that we are able to record an unusually large percentage of recoveries, and among them are some so cheering that we may well regard our labors amply rewarded.

In general, a state of quiet has pervaded the house; and, with the usual exceptions, a state of satisfaction, on the part of patients, with the privileges they enjoy. Although we do not possess all the appliances which might be made useful for occupying and entertaining them, still we have been able to break the monotony, arrest their thoughts, and occupy their hands to a very satisfactory extent. In pleasant weather much pleasure and benefit has been derived from exercise in the open air, in farming, gardening, walks and rides in the adjacent country, or those harmless games which are at once healthful and captivating. Much sewing, knitting, and similar work has been done by the female patients, which has a second value, great, though less than that accruing to the laborer herself. This is emphatically true of a considerable amount of sewing and knitting done for the army. No occupation has seemed to afford them more unalloyed pleasure, than that done for the noble and self-sacrificing defenders of our country.

For much of the quiet, the industry, and the contentment which has existed through the house, we are largely indebted to the self-denying devotion of attendants and assistants, which deserves in this place honorable mention.

Religious worship on the Sabbath has been continued regularly, under the charge of Rev. James H. Eames, and the interest has been unabated. The tranquilizing influences of these sacred services is most happy upon the household. Not a little is added to the interest of these occasions by the fine music contributed by Mr. B. B. Davis, Miss Nellie M. White, and Mrs. Etta M. Warren, who have furnished music for the chapel through the year.

The condition of the farm continues prosperous, as in previous years. The conveniences for preparing fertilizing substances have now become so perfect, that every part of the farm must in a short time be brought into a very high state of cultivation. During the past year nearly one thousand cart-loads of dressing were distributed on the farm.

In the farm labor a considerable number of patients find exercise, which, for those disposed to engage in it, could not be excelled by any form which could be devised.

The principal products for the year are embraced in the following schedule: namely,

Hay,	80 tons.
Straw,	13 "
Potatoes,	420 bushels.
Carrots,	336 "
Peas,	14 "
Mangold wortzel,	143 ".
Parsnips,	52 "
Corn in the ear,	740 6 66
Oats,	303 "
Rye,	15 "
Beans,	32 "
Cabbage,	600 heads.
Pumpkins,	56 cart loads.
Squash,	1,500 lbs.
Pork fattened,	7,899 lbs.
Amount of milk produced,	22,838 quarts.

The present completes the twentieth year since the opening of the Asylum, and the time seems a proper one to glance briefly at its history, with a view to inquire how far it has realized the hopes and designs of its early friends and founders.

For several years previous to the action of the Legislature establishing the Asylum, the condition of the insane of the State had exercised the minds of many of the most enlightened and philanthropic citizens, and the conviction had, with them, become settled, that this unfortunate class of persons were not receiving the benefit of those efforts for their relief from the most calamitous of diseases which both reason and the experience of institutions already in operation proved might be successful. They believed, too, that the still more unfortunate class—the incurably insane—were not enjoying the common comforts of life to an extent which is entirely practicable, and which true philanthropy demands. They invited attention to the subject in private and public ways, and caused it to be brought repeatedly before the Legislature. At length a call was made on the several towns for statistical information as to the number and condition of the insane, and the responses to this call early confirmed their previous convictions. Returns were received from 161 towns. these only 20 were without insane persons. In the balance of the towns there were 312 insane, and of these 152 were entirely a public charge; 160 being independent of public charity. Of the whole number, 81, or nearly 26 per cent, were confined in cages, jails, close rooms, hand-cuffs, or the like. Insanity had existed in these individuals periods varying from a few weeks to sixty years; the average of the whole being about thirteen and one half years. In the report of the committee deputed to collect these facts, made to the Legislature in 1836, they declare "that the horrors of the present condition of the insane are far from having been exaggerated." They became so impressed with the utter inefficiency of the treatment of insanity by the ordinary modes of treating diseases, as to say, "that the only hope of restoring the insane to soundness of mind exists in the agency of institutions in which they can be separated from the community, and subjected to a course of medical and moral management, well understood, very peculiar, and wonderfully successful." In a comparison of reports made at three several times, comprising a period of four years, they say there was not "found more than a very rare, occasional instance of amendment."

These, briefly, were the conclusions arrived at from careful examination of the facts, by men most competent to judge, of whom the late lamented L. V. Bell was chairman; and they coincided with the views of all who had examined the subject in other localities. On the strength of these views the Asylum was established.

Look, now, at the results of the first twenty years of its efforts. On the 29th of October, 1842, the first patient was received. Since that time to the 1st of May, 1862, 1,927 persons have been admitted to its care and treatment. The results in these cases afford ample means to judge of its success, and to estimate the value of its influence and labors.

The Trustees have always proposed for the Asylum the accom-what would otherwise be little more than existence into a life possessing many rational occupations and enjoyments. The constant presence of attendants and other guiding influences supplies this motive force from without, this substitute for self-guidance, and thus there is kept alive a grade of habits and activities entirely impossible in the absence of these helps. This outside aid is to the demented what the splint is to the broken bone: without it the subject falls to the ground, but with it very respectable locomotion is secured. Whoever may be able to compare in detail the habits and daily routine of life of the hopelessly insane, as seen in asylums, with the best that can be effected without such appliances, will have ample reason to know that no investment of effort or treasure could be more successful for good than that devoted to these institutions.

Through the twenty years in review, there has been a steady progress of opinion in regard to what can be done for the insane. The views at first entertained as to the amount of liberty and indulgence, the use and possession of conveniences and surroundings, the extent to which the ordinary means of comfort and gratification may be within the reach of the insane, would now be regarded as hardly humane. From the beginning, the institution, by every year's experience, has contributed something to enlarge the catalogue of influences thrown around those within its charge, tending to approximate their condition more nearly to domestic life, and to give their apartments the cheering and inviting aspect of a home, without sacrificing the moderating and restraining influence of discipline. The practicability of each ameliorating measure could not be seen at first, but has been settled by never ceasing tests and trials in daily life. The theory and policy of the guardians, as well as the successive physicians, has been to reduce the difference between the wards of the Asylum and a well-regulated household, to the lowest point consistent with safety, and the integrity of the best curative agencies. This has suggested successive changes in the construction of appartments and furnishings, as well as in the methods of intercourse with the insane. Thus each year has witnessed the accomplishment of some measure enhancing the means of usefulness, the practicability of which had before been hypothetical. The correctness of this remark will be seen at once by those who have, from the first, taken a deep interest in the enterprise, have, through much, if not all its history, been among its guardians, and whose mature counsel we shall have the good fortune to enjoy. These allusions to past successes are not made in any spirit of boasting, but with unfeigned pleasure that it has been possible to make progress in so noble a work. For what work is more noble than to restore to order and peace the mind that has been thrown from its orbit into the regions of chaos; to reinstate the noblest moral sentiments of our nature to the seat which they had yielded to discordant passions. And though this can not in all cases be accomplished, it may be borne in mind that it is not among the least dignified of human labors to bear kindness and sympathy in deed, word, or even look, to those who are hopelessly lost to reason, and who may never be of further service to society. It is not a small thing, even, to diminish the weight of sorrow when it can not be wholly removed; to send some scattering rays of light into a life that can not be made sunshine. This hasty sketch is sufficient to show that the institution, though far from having done all that may yet be done, has been engaged in no useless labor; and that the State, by its fostering care, is erecting a monument worthy a humane, enlightened and liberal commonwealth.

William W. Godding, M. D., who for three years has discharged the duties of assistant physician, with marked ability, resigns his place to return to the general practice of his profession. He will carry with him to his new field of labor, our best wishes for his prosperity, and that success which we have no doubt will follow his efforts.

To those friends whose contributions have enabled us to pay, in part, for a piano for the halls, we present our warmest thanks. It has already been a source of much profit and pleasure.

plishment of a three-fold result: namely, to afford the best curative influences for the curable insane; to furnish a safe, quiet, and pleasant home for the incurable; and to do its part, with similar institutions, to demonstrate one of the most noble propositions of the age, namely, that the lunatic need not be dropped from the category of diseases deemed worthy of science and skill, and doomed to confinement and the domain of brute force, but may safely be invited within the pale of human sympathy, and share

Of the nineteen hundred and twenty-seven who have been received into the Asylum, eight hundred and forty-one have been discharged restored to mental soundness. This is forty-three and one tenth per cent of the whole number ever admitted to treatment. If this was the highest proportion of recoveries possible under the most favorable conditions, it would afford ample return for all the efforts and sacrifices made in the enterprise. especially true when the result is compared with the statement in the report just referred to, namely, that there were only rare instances of recovery without an Asylum. It is not easy to calculate the value of the restoration to society of this considerable number of insane, or to estimate the amount of pain and sorrow mitigated or relieved by their escape from a fate more to be dreaded than death. But whatever society, the domestic circle, or bleeding hearts, may realize from these restorations, it is of small account compared with the reinstating of reason in the mind from which it had been dethroned, and in which chaos had reigned instead; the restoring of delicate sentiments and affections, the perversion of which had changed the sweets of life to bitterness.

But when the incurable are set aside from the calculation, the proportion of recoveries rises much higher. Taking only the recent cases admitted during a period of four years, the recoveries have been sixty-eight per cent. This presents a more correct exhibit of the value of the Asylum as a curative agency, and shows that acute forms of insanity do not fall much below other acute diseases in curability, when under proper management.

As with other diseases, a certain proportion of those attacked with insanity do not recover under any circumstances; nor does death come to remove them from the distracted life in which the disease has left them. These pass into the various chronic forms; in all of which, reason, the guide of life, loses its control, and the subject passes under the control of the ever-changing impulses and the animal instincts. In this state the ideas and actions are capricious, uncertain, and often inconsistent with the comfort and well-being of the individual himself, as well as the safety or convenience of others. The tendency is ever toward a lower level-a state further removed from the normal standard of thought and action. Without special homes adapted to these peculiarities, society becoming impatient of them, their liberty becoming by little and little circumscribed, they at length arrive at the simplest domestic arrangement, namely, solitude, if not still worse. Thus situated, all incentives to self-respect, or respect for the usages of society, are removed. But this is not all that can and ought to be done for these unfortunates. And from this point of view it is easy to estimate the value of the Asylum as a house for the incurably insane. Within its ample grounds, and under its watchful supervision, there can be safely provided, not only the physical stimuli essential to health and comfort, but even many of the amenities of life. Even in the wreck of reason and responsibility, nature has kindly provided that the human being need not be wholly a wreck. Such is the organization, that, like an automatic machine, when the intelligent, directing mind is cast from its supremacy, still, under a law of habit, if the individual can be under the influence of another mind to keep him in motion, he will follow to a great extent the routine of ordinary life, when, without this exterior influence, he would subside into stupid inaction, and fall under the direction of the mere animal instincts. It is by availing themselves of this principle, that asylums, in cases of the incurable, are able to transform

The proprietors of the New-Hampshire Patriot and Independent Democrat have given us weekly, in addition to their own issues, a large number of exchange papers, which have been of great value, and for which they will please accept our hearty thanks. The Congregational Journal (several copies), The New-Hampshire Statesman, the Nashua Telegraph, and Nashua Gazette, the Dover Inquirer, and Morning Star, the New-Hampshire Sentinel, the Coos Republican, and the Boston Daily Evening Traveller, have been regularly sent to us, and we are under much obligation to their several proprietors.

I have a special reason, gentlemen, to express to you my thanks at this time for the evidences of sympathy and kindness which I have personally received from you, as well as for your ever ready counsel in the discharge of my duties.

In conclusion, we have abundant reason for humble gratitude to God for so much of protection from sickness and from accident, as well as for the prosperity which has crowned our labors.

AUDITOR'S REPORT.

To the Trustees of the N. H. Asylum for the Insane:

I have carefully inspected the accounts of Dr. J. P. Bancroft, Treasurer of N. H. Asylum for the Insane, for the year ending April 30, 1862. They are correctly cast. His receipts are all carefully entered upon his books in detail, and for all his expenditures he has satisfactory vouchers, each of which I have examined. I am satisfied his expenditures have been judicious, and the prices paid for articles have, in my judgment, been reasonable.

The receipts of the Asylum from May 1, 1861, to April 30, 1862, inclusive, have been $31,608.19

The expenditures during the same period have been 30,797.73

$810.46

The system of accounts adopted by the Treasurer is a clear and simple one. A large portion of his purchases are made for cash, and at the lowest rates. In some instances open accounts are kept, but the prices of articles thus purchased are agreed upon before hand.

Respectfully submitted,

J. B. WALKER, Auditor.

STATE PRISON--WARDEN'S REPORT.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened:

In compliance with the laws of the State, I have the honor to submit the following Report of the management, condition, receipts, profits and expenditures of the New-Hampshire State Prison for the past eleven months, accompanied by the usual annual reports of the Physician and Chaplain.

FINANCE AND BUSINESS.

At the commencement of the year there was a complete stagnation of business, owing to the financial crisis caused by the unholy rebellion existing in our beloved country; but of late light seems to be dawning upon us, and, thanks to an overruling Providence, there is every prospect of a speedy return of peace, and with it of our former political and commercial prosperity.

Notwithstanding, however, the depression of business, and the great consequent loss of time and inability to employ the convicts profitably in the different departments, the result of the management of the Prison, since my last Report, shows a gain to the State of $1,705.40, of which the sum of $436.98 is cash on hand; there being also in my hands, of the earnings of last year, $2,192.58, as will appear more distinctly from the accompanying tables.

It will be noticed that the financial report embraces eleven months only, agreeably to a resolution passed by the Legislature of last year, requiring the books of the Prison to be closed on the 30th day of April, instead of the 31st day of May, as had been the previous practice.

All debts contracted for the Prison since my election as Warden have been paid. It will be seen that the appraisal of the property amounts to $1,266.62 over that of last year. This is caused by a quantity of boots, shoes and harnesses, on hand in the Shoe Shop, that were not there last year, and also by about thirty-five cords of wood, and by a larger amount than usual of such cash articles as beef, pork, potatoes, molasses and flour.

CONTRACTS-SHOE SHOP.

For the labor of the men in the Shoe Shop we have been able to make no contracts, at any price, under the existing depres-· sion in that branch of business; consequently much time has been lost by their non-employment. The Governor and Council, however, very kindly gave us the contract to furnish shoes for a part of the Second and for all of the Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Eighth Regiments, which were of great benefit to us, in enabling us to keep the men employed for about three months. although the work was done at a very small profit. We also received a contract to furnish three thousand canteens. A portion of the men have been at work on harnesses for Mr. James R. Hill; and since completing the contracts for the regiments they have been at work on shoes for Messrs. Fellows & Langley, at very low prices, which course I considered better than idleness. We have, also, commenced manufacturing a few harnesses for the State: and this branch of business promises to yield a better profit than can be realized from shoemaking.

CABINET SHOP.

The men in the Cabinet Shop were employed by Messrs. Isaac Elwell & Son, until every available department was filled with manufactured goods. They then informed me that they could not fulfill their contract to employ all the men in the shop. After submitting the matter to the Governor and Council, they decided to have Messrs. Elwell & Son go on with their business, employing all the hands they could; and in justice to them I would say that they have made every effort in their power to procure work and employ the men. We have, however, made a loss of considerable time, as will appear by comparing the present receipts ($4,694.70) with those of last year ($6,536), there being a difference of $1,841.30.

The old contract with Messrs. Elwell & Son expired on the first day of March last, and has not been renewed, the contractors being only willing to contract again for a term of five years, at a reduced price. By the advice of the Governor and Council, it was decided not to make a new contract, under the present circumstances, but to allow Messrs. Elwell & Son to employ as many men as they can, at the old price of forty cents per day, until business becomes more settled; and under that arrangement the contractors are at present at work, employing nearly as many men as formerly.

IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED.

The roof of the central part of the Prison building, occupied as a dwelling-house, is in a very leaky condition, and it is highly important that an appropriation should be made for shingling or slating the same, and also to rebuild the fence in the rear of the Prison lot. I trust that an appropriation may be made from the earnings of the Prison sufficient to cover the expenditures.

MORAL DISCIPLINE OF THE PRISONERS.

The Report of our earnest and faithful Chaplain, Rev. Samuel Cooke, relative to the moral progress of the prisoners, is full and explicit. I wish, also, to say that Mr. David Tatum, a preacher of the Society of Friends, residing at Indianapolis, Indiana, visited our Prison last summer, and preached an able, sincere and effective sermon in our Chapel, which evidently made a deep impression upon many of the prisoners. Shortly afterward we received a donation of books, valued at twelve or fifteen dollars, for the use of the prisoners, from Mr. S. Boyce, of Lynn, Mass., who is also a prominent and influential member of the Society of Friends, and an agent for the disposal of their publications. For this first donation of books from any Society to the Institution, since my connection with it, I desire to tender my acknowledgements to Messrs. Tatum and Boyce, and to the Society of Friends in general, and also to thank them for their interest in the welfare of our unfortunate convicts.

PRISON LIBRARY.

The Library has been increased during the year by the expenditure of the usual appropriation of $100, and by the donation from the Society of Friends. With the sum appropriated, we have been able to obtain some very valuable books, at very low prices, and have at the present time a large and well assorted library of upward of seven hundred volumes.

SABBATH SCHOOL.

We extend an invitation to all the prisoners to attend the Sabbath School, and about one half avail themselves of this privilege, many of whom are intelligent, well understanding the Scriptures, and take a deep interest in the school. The teachers are volunteers from the Methodist Biblical Institute and the First Baptist Society, in this place, under the supervision of the Chaplain. My thanks are also again due to Prof. B. B. Davis, of Concord, who for several years has directed the choir during our Sunday exercises.

HEALTH.

The report of the Physician, Dr. C. F. P. Hildreth, states fully the physical condition of the prisoners. For the past year we have had little sickness, compared with former years, although we have had five deaths, as follows:

John Brown, a native of Scotland, committed from Rockingham county, in 1858, for five years, had delicate health when he first came to the prison, and continued to decline until he died of consumption, July 28, 1861. William J. Dubois, a native of Liberty, N. Y., committed from Sullivan county, after gradually declining for more than a year, from sickness brought on by self-pollution, died August 9, 1861.

William H. Heath, a native of Boscawen, N. H., committed from Merrimack county, died of typhoid fever, September 12, 1861.

Patrick Lee, a native of Ireland, sentenced from Merrimack county for the term of three years, committed suicide by hanging himself in his cell, September 16, 1861.

The last case was that of Ira S. Brown, a native of Weare. N. H., committed from Hillsborough county for the term of three years, who had been subject to bleeding at the lungs for several years, and had several cases of bleeding after he came here, prior to that which resulted in his death. On the morning of the 9th of March I was called, just before day, to his cell, and found him bleeding at the lungs, and after immediately removing him to the hospital and sending for the Doctor, we succeeded in stopping the flow of blood before the Doctor's arrival. another attack on Wednesday, March 12, but then became very comfortable, and continued to improve, so that quite a number of times he expressed a wish to go to his work, and on Friday, the 14th, I promised him that, if he continued to improve, he might do so on Monday. Friday night, however, about eight o'clock, I was called to the Hospital, and found him bleeding almost as profusely as would have been the case if his throat had been cut. He was only able to say a few words, and died within eight minutes from the time I was called. Thus occurred one of the most painful deaths that I have ever witnessed during my long connection with the prison; and we were all the more affected from the fact that he was one of the best prisoners and one of the kindest-hearted men ever under my charge.

NUMBER OF PRISONERS.

The number now confined in the Prison is one hundred and ten males and two females. During the past eleven months thirty-one have been admitted to the Prison; thirty-eight have left, twenty being discharged by the expiration of their sentence, twelve being pardoned, and one being sent to the Insane Asylum; and five have died.

PUNISHMENT.

There has been as little insubordination and bad behavior, during the past year, as I have ever known among the convicts. It has certainly seemed that a very general determination existed among the inmates to do right. All punishment has been by solitary confinement, and this in very rare instances; and in no case has any one been confined over twenty-four hours; while in former years I have known cases of confinement from twelve to twenty days before the prisoner would submit to discipline.

COMMUTATION SYSTEM.

In my report for 1860, I spoke of the commutation system adopted by the laws of several other States, being a monthly deduction from the convict's term of imprisonment, as a reward for good conduct; the amount of deduction recommended in Massachusetts being, on a sentence of less than three years, one day per month; from three to seven years, two days per month; from seven to ten years, four days per month; and for ten years or more, five days per month. This system, well regulated, I believe, would be very valuable, and I would again respectfully urge its adoption.

STATE REFORM SCHOOL.

The law in regard to removing convicts from the State Reform School to the Prison is not sufficiently clear. Last year a female who had been sentenced to the State Reform School for three years, remained two years, and was then sent to the Prison; and the question arose, shall she stay three years at the State Prison, or shall she only finish the remainder of the term of three years. I have made inquiries of professional gentlemen, but am unable to get a positive opinion that will be satisfactory to the friends of convicts. I wish that the law might be so defined that it may be plainly understood by the Warden, and all others interested in behalf of the prisoners.

CHAPLAIN, PHYSICIAN, AND OTHER OFFICERS.

The Rev. Samuel Cooke has continued as Chaplain the past year, and is too well known to the people of this State to need any approval from me; but it is certain that no one could better satisfy and gain the affections of the prisoners than has this excellent man.

Our very able Physician, Dr. C. F. P. Hildreth, has been exceedingly faithful in attendance upon the sick, taking as deep an interest in them as in any other of his patients; and I desire to commend him as, in my opinion, a skillful and efficient practitioner, and highly qualified for the duties assigned him.

Mr. Moses F. Rogers, Deputy Warden, has continued his services in that capacity, proving to every one his peculiar fitness for the place he occupies, and has contributed not a little to the good order and success of the Prison.

Mr. Gust. Sargent is still Overseer of the Prison Hall and Cook Room, and is a prompt and most efficient officer. In preserving neatness in the Prison Hall and other departments of the Prison, and also in overseeing and directing the cooking, upon which so much of health and comfort depends, he is unsurpassed by any person that has ever occupied the same position.

Mr. Jonathan George, Overseer of the First Cabinet Shop, Mr. L. H. Clough, Overseer of the Second Cabinet Shop, Mr. George W. Ham, Instructor, and Mr. Charles H. Woods, Overseer of the Shoe Shop, are all gentlemen highly fitted for the positions they severally hold, and have never neglected their duties, or any thing they have been called upon to perform.

Isaiah Wiggin, John H. Evans, David F. Gilman and Lewis F. Davis, the Police of the Prison, are all young men of the best reputation, and prompt and efficient in all their duties. To them and all the rest of my officers, I desire to tender my thanks, for their aid and assistance in the management of the Prison.

All of which is most respectfully submitted.

JOHN FOSS, Warden.

REPORT

OF THE

COMMITTEE FOR BUILDING A NEW CABINET SHOP

AP THE

NEW-HAMPSHIRE STATE PRISON.

To His Excellency the Governor and the Honorable Council:

GENTLEMEN:—The Committee appointed June 28, 1859, to fix upon a plan for a new Cabinet Shop, and contract for the erection of the same, at the New-Hampshire State Prison, would most respectfully submit the following report:

The Legislature of 1859 passed the following resolution, which was approved June 28, 1859:

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened, That His Excellency, the Governor, be and hereby is authorized to appoint three suitable persons a Committee, to fix upon a plan for a new Cabinet Shop at the State Prison, and to contract, on the lowest practicable terms, for the erection of the south section of the same, on or near the site of the present shop.

"Resolved, further, That the surplus earnings of the Prison now on hand, and the net earnings of the same for the year to come, provided the whole do not exceed five thousand dollars, be and hereby are appropriated, to be expended by said Committee, who are authorized to draw their warrant, from time to time, for the same, in such sums as may be needed during the progress of the building."

As the surplus earnings, alluded to in the resolution, were not available at that time, and the net earnings for the year were yet to be realized, the Committee did not deem it advisable to commence operations during that year. They, however, in the early part of the following year, by the advice of the Governor and Council, made contracts with various parties for the erection of the building; and on the twenty-first day of April, 1860, commenced to put in the foundation, and on the tenth day of September the convicts commenced their usual work in the new building.

The old Cabinet Shop remained standing, and was occupied by the convicts until the walls of the new building were erected and the roof put on, which occupied until the second day of August, when the work of demolishing the old building was commenced; so that the convicts employed in the Cabinet. Shop were hindered from their usual work only about six weeks, and during that time many of them were employed in various ways about the new building.

The Committee, after mature deliberation, decided to build a two-story brick building, 156 by 40, and estimated its cost to be the sum of $10,000; and upon examination found that the steam engine would have not only to be removed from its situation, but was very badly out of repair, having run eleven years without receiving more than ordinary repairs, and also that it would be necessary to re-set the boiler, but were unable to estimate, with any degree of accuracy, what sum would be necessary to meet this additional expense, but asked for an appropriation of $600 for this special purpose. The Legislature of 1860 accordingly passed the following resolutions, which were approved July 4, 1860:

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened, That the Treasurer of this State be, and he hereby is authorized to borrow, on the credit and for the use of the State, at such times and in such sums as he may consider necessary, an amount not exceeding $5,000, at the lowest rate of interest, not exceeding six per cent per annum, for the purpose of completing the new Cabinet Shop at the State Prison, now in process of erection; said money, or so much thereof as is necessary for the purpose, to be expended under the direction of the building committee, subject to the approval of the Governor and Council; also, that the net earnings of the Prison be hereby appropriated in liquidation of the amount so borrowed, and the interest, when the same shall become due, until otherwise ordered by the Legislature; and the Governor be authorized to draw his warrant on the Treasury for such sums as he may deem proper, not exceeding five thousand dollars, to carry this resolution into effect.

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened, That the sum of six hundred dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of repairing the steam engine and re-setting the boiler connected with the Cabinet Shop; the same to be made under the direction of the building committee, subject to the approval of the Governor and Council, and His Excellency, the Governor, is hereby authorized to draw his warrant on the Treasury for the above amount."

The following table shows the cost of the building, including the amount expended in repairing that part of the old shop which remains standing at the north end of the new building, which has been fitted up into an Engine Room, Dry Room, Blacksmith Shop, Wash House, and Tailor Shop. This involved an outlay of which the Committee could form no just estimate, the building being in a very dilapidated condition, and needing very much repairing in order to render it in any way serviceable for the use intended; and this item of expense was not considered at all in the estimated cost of the new building, but it will be seen, by reference to the table, that the whole expense of the new shop, and repairs on the old shop, is $10,118.50.

As nearly as the Committee can estimate, the amount expended in repairing and fitting up the old shop alluded to is about the sum of $575, leaving, for the actual cost of the new building, the sum of $9,543.50. And the Committee are satisfied that it has been built in as economical and at the same time in as substantial manner as any building of the kind in the State, and are confident that your honorable body and the Legislature will, upon examination of the building, concur with them in this opinion.

By the last resolution, approved July 4, 1860, the sum of $600 was appropriated for the purpose of repairing the steam engine and re-setting the boiler, the same to be done under direction of the Committee. As was before stated, the Committee could not judge what the expense of this work would be, but find, on closing up the account, the appropriation to be inadequate by the sum of $44, the whole expense being $644.

The Committee have received from the State Treasury the following sums, and which have been paid out:

Amount appropriated, as per resolution, approved
July 4, 1860, $5,000.00

Amount appropriated for repairs on engine and boiler, as per resolution, approved July 4, 1860

as per resolution, approved July 4, 1860,

Net earnings of Prison for year ending June 1,

1860, as per resolution, approved June 28, 1859,

2,234.78

New Cabinet Shop,
Repairs on steam engine and boiler,

$10,118.50
644.00

Making a total of $10,762.50

By this statement, it will be perceived that there is a balance of $2,927.72 still unpaid, and which is due to various parties who were engaged in the construction of the building.

The "surplus earnings of the Prison" alluded to in the resolution, approved June 28, 1859, are not available, and the Committee have not, therefore, received any thing from that source; and they would respectfully suggest whether it would not be expedient that some temporary provision be made by the Legislature, whereby this amount may be paid, as many of the men to whom it is due need their money very much at this time.

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

To His Excellency the Governor, and the Honorable Council:

GENTLEMEN:—I have the honor to present for your inspection the following report of the medical department of the New-Hampshire State Prison for the eleven months ending April 30, 1862:

Total number of patients prescribed for during this period has been forty four. Of this number twelve have been admitted into the hospital.

The health of the convicts for the past eleven months has been favorable, although I have five deaths to report. Upon assuming the duties of my position at the commencement of the period mentioned, there fell to my charge two patients in the hospital who were fast approaching the grave: namely, John Brown, of Scotland, aged 25, in the last stages of phthisis pulmonalis, who died July 28; and William J. Dubois, of Liberty, New-York, aged 25, a victim of self-pollution, an evil very prevalent in institutions like ours; he died August 9. The other deaths were: September 12, William H. Heath, of Boscawen, aged 20, of typhoid fever; September 16, Patrick Lee, of Concord, aged 25, committed suicide by hanging himself in his cell; March 14, 1862, Ira S. Brown, of Weare, aged 25, died of profuse hemorrhage from the lungs.

With few exceptions, the patients have soon resumed labor. The term closes, as it began, with two patients in the hospital; one failing rapidly with phthisis pulmonalis, and the other with a mind and constitution shattered from a persistent indulgence in that loathsome vice of self-pollution, notwithstanding the most strenuous efforts which have been made in his behalf.

Typhoid fever, usually prevalent here at certain periods, has of the last year been less frequent than in some former ones. The other diseases which have come under treatment have been of the character usually found among the class of persons we have assembled here.

To the Warden and his officers, for their kind attention to me, and ever welcome assistance in the discharge of my duties, I am under great obligations.

Most respectfully,
CHARLES F. P. HILDRETH,
Physician of N. H. State Prison.

Concord, April 30, 1862.

CHAPLAIN'S REPORT.

To His Excellency the Governor, and Honorable Council:

Gentlemen:—It again becomes my duty to present to you my annual report of the intellectual, moral, and religious condition of the inmates of this Institution. There is, of course, among so large a number of convicts, much diversity of character and attainments. Some possess but a very limited intellectual capacity, and have hardly acquired the first rudiments of knowledge. These, in many instances, have a very limited and indistinct idea of morality—of the attributes of God and of a future state. Some of these men have been habitually and grossly intemperate, and have committed the crimes which have brought them to this place under the influence of intoxicating drink. With these, the besotting influence of intemperance has degraded the intellect and closed the heart against the benign influence of the religion of Jesus Christ.

Another class, somewhat more intelligent, have been bold, daring and reckless offenders. These not unfrequently are associated in bands as burglars, counterfeiters, incendiaries and highway robbers. They possess a good share of a certain kind of knowledge, and have a tact and readiness of resource, which, if applied to honest purposes, might have rendered them respectable in whatever department of business they might have chosen. Yet some of these acknowledge that, in their deeds of crime, strong drink was necessary to nerve them to the commission of those acts which have made their characters infamous. Some there are who have a very decent education. These, in most instances, are imprisoned for crimes where knowledge is more requisite than physical courage or personal strength.

A portion of the convicts are natives of other countries, and have brought with them here not only the manners and customs of their native land, but their vices also.

The position of a Chaplain, in an institution of this kind, is one of great responsibility. To win the confidence—to understand the spiritual wants of such a mixed company, so as to be able to speak a word in season to each and to all, is no easy task. This I have never ceased to feel from the first hour of my entering upon these duties to the present time.

The moral and religious improvement of five or six score of such persons is a high and sacred trust. Its importance to the convict, to his kindred, to society and the State, can hardly be over-estimated. It is a clear case that the office of a chaplain to a state prison is not one that has compensation without labor. It is no sinecure. Its labors as well as its perplexities are necessarily many. To discharge the duties belonging to it so as to secure the best possible result, is a problem more easily talked about than practically accomplished. At all times to say the right thing, with the right spirit; to show a just abhorrence for crime, and yet pity the criminal; to comprehend and take advantage of the peculiarities of each, so as to influence them to better thoughts and higher aims; in a word, to take those erring ones upon their own level, and take them by the hand, and deal faithfully and affectionately with them, in view of the deeply solemn condition of their being. This, doubtless, is the standard, short of which there is no secure resting-place. How crime can be most effectually punished, society most securely protected and the criminal most effectually benefitted, is a question of difficult To take the depraved mind and uproot the seeds of vice so firmly planted there, and give it correct principles, is a work of vast magnitude, and fraught with difficulties little apprehended by those who are not experienced in labors of this kind. With such subjects as are furnished us, it can hardly be expected that a complete renovation of character can be accomplished in the brief space of time that many of them remain in prison.

A copy of the Bible is placed in the cell of each prisoner; and other books of a suitable character are furnished them, which are calculated to inform the mind and make better the heart. The reading of these books tends to beguile many a tedious hour, and relieve them of that monotony which hangs like the pall of death on the prisoner's life.

We see, in view of these general facts thus alluded to, to inculcate, so far as possible, the principles of man's moral responsibility, and the influence of his own actions, in shaping his destiny. The effect of this kind of teaching has, we think, been productive of great good to many, leading them to form resolutions of amendment, which, in some instances, have been manifest. In the minds of few, we are led to believe, an entire change has been wrought, and a comfortable evidence has been given that the Spirit of God has wrought this change, and that the principles of Christianity are firmly embraced. We are not insensible, however, to the danger, in the case of such, of their return to old associates, and of their being led to a repetition of their former practices. In view of their liability to relapse, it becomes the duty of all good citizens to lend their influence in cultivating the seeds of truth which have been sown, that as these men are set at liberty, and go out into the world again, to be good and do good.

The general good conduct of prisoners—equal, if not in advance of former years—affords the hope that good influences are operating on many minds which will not be lost through subsequent years.

The ordinary relgious services on the Sabbath have been maintained through the entire year. After the chapel services, I pass into the hall, and visit each prisoner in his cell. The object of this is to distribute tracts, Sabbath School papers, and to have personal conversation with the prisoners. Several hours are thus employed each Sabbath in the distribution of tracts and moral and religious papers. A good degree of interest is added to our Sabbath service by the Prison Choir, conducted by Prof. B. B. Davis, and also instrumental music. I can bear cheerful testimony to the respectful and earnest attention given by the congregation to the truths presented to their minds. feature of their candid attention has been observed and praised by other clergymen who have been invited to preach. I have been much encouraged to hope to see many of these unfortunate and erring men return to the ways of virtue and walk in wisdom's path of peace and safety. Letters have been received from several who have closed their term of service here; and also from other sources I have been informed of their habits of sobriety, industry and usefulness. One man, who left the Prison some months since, has written me a letter, in which he refers to our religious services in the chapel, and says: "They have awakened in my heart an earnest desire for salvation. And I am fully convinced that the way of transgressors is hard, and the way to be happy is to serve the Lord. I am resolved to pursue an honorable and honest course the remainder of my life, and I will look to Jesus to shield me in the hour of temptation and danger."

Our Sabbath School has been interesting and profitable during the time of its continuance. All who have attended it have manifested a deep interest in preparing themselves for meeting their teachers. The greatest difficulty we experience in sustaining the school through the entire year is the want of teachers. Some who might perform this service very acceptably, think to become a teacher of a class of convicts in a State Prison is, in their estimation, a low calling. The students of the Methodist Biblical Institute, of this city, have rendered good service as teachers; and for this labor of love they have our sincere thanks. But these young men can not be depended on as teachers only a portion of the time. Some of them have preaching stations, which necessarily calls them away on the Sabbath. And then the vacation of the Institution deprives us of their aid some two months more; and to fill their places new teachers must be provided. And this can not be easily accomplished. But with these drawbacks on its success the school has done good service, and has proved a blessing to both the teachers and the taught. We have received very efficient aid, as teachers, from the young men of the First Baptist Church in this city.

The books in the Library are eagerly sought by the prisoners generally; and the past year there has been an increasing demand for books. The whole number of volumes in the Library is about 750; but more than one half of this number are old and worthless, some of them having been in use more than forty-years, and others are more or less injured by constant use. Of the 700 volumes, a large portion are never called for, and a general taste for reading falling on a small portion of the books, readily accounts for their wear and tear. One of the prisoners, during the last twelve months, has read 40,000 pages, and his reading is not of a superficial character. He understands what he reads. This is rather an extraordinary case; yet there are some others who fall but a trifle short of this number of pages. Another prisoner, who has a life sentence, has, during the eleven years he has been in prison, read the Bible through in course ten times, and the New Testament through in course thirteen times. The good effect of books on the prisoners can hardly be estimated. Not only are they a solace to the depressed in the hours of solitude, but they supply thought of a more elevated kind than would occur to the minds of many badly vitiated, and thus develop aspirations for a better life in the future. The inmates of this Prison are separated from all social and family intercourse. It is not in their power to hold correspondence with those outside, and they are forbidden all conversation among themselves. This exclusion from the world is the bitter end of their punishment. In this condition the mind should not be left to prey upon itself. They should be furnished with the means of instruction. They should be taught the worth of their souls and the way of salvation; and their conversion to Christ will turn their prison into a palace, and a good supply of useful books will fit them for the active duties and useful labors of life.

The condition of that class of persons who can not read has strong claims upon our sympathies, especially for those young persons sentenced for a term of years. During the past year a young man expressed a strong desire to learn to read. He was furnished with a spelling-book, commenced with the alphabet, and, notwithstanding the disadvantages of imparting instruction through the grates of his iron doors, he is now able to read in a very acceptable manner. Another one, who barely knew the alphabet, but was unable to put the letters together and form them into syllables, by the same process of instruction has made greater proficiency than the other. I refer to these as sources of encouragement to labor for this class of unfortunate young men. A considerable number have improved very much, not only in reading, but in writing and arithmetic.

The sum of one hundred dollars, appropriated by the Legislature for the purchase of books and stationery for the prisoners, has all been expended to increase the Library, and to meet the incidental wants of the prisoners. A continuation of the appropriation of this sum will, in a few years, create a respectable Library, and furnish a strong inducement for mental cultivation.

Death has visited us, and five of our number have gone from the Prison, to which they were sentenced for crime, to the prison-house of the grave, where all, the innocent and the guilty, will find a resting-place at last. While one of death's victims has passed from life in a state of mental derangement, some others have given gratifying evidence that, even amidst the gloom of the prison and the darkness of the tomb, He who triumphed over death and the grave, was saying to them as He did to the thief on the cross, "This day shalt thou be with me in paradise."

In conclusion, permit me to say that, as a field of labor and Christian usefulness, this Institution is surrounded with many difficulties, arising from the characters of those who are its inmates; and yet it is a field clothed with the deepest interest—a field for useful labor, where, if good seed is plentifully scattered, all will not be lost. The vigilant care exercised by the officers of the prison, in ministering to the wants of the sick and preserving cleanliness, so essential to health, are continued with undiminished zeal and fidelity, as heretofore. This is a very essential element in the prosperity and success of the Institution.

The Warden has not only watched with ceaseless vigilance the pecuniary interests of the Institution, and by his skill and decision maintained a most wholesome discipline, but has been ready, at all times, to cooperate with the Chaplain, to make his work as pleasant as circumstances would admit, and to give him an influence, in his department of labor, with the inmates of the Prison. For these acts of kindness and good will many thanks are due him.

And now, gentlemen, permit me to return my sincere thanks to all the officers and watchmen, for the aid and counsel they have afforded me in the midst of the perplexing duties attendant on a position of so much responsibility as the one I have occupied.

All which is respectfully submitted,

SAMUEL COOKE, Chaplain.

REPORT OF THE STATE LIBRARIAN.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

In compliance with the second section of the law of 1846, relative to the State Library, the underisgned respectfully submits the following Annual Report:

The usual appropriation of one hundred dollars for the increase of the Library, provided for in the act above named, was expended early in the past year, having been added to an extra appropriation of three hundred dollars, and therefore, no volumes have been added by purchase since the last report. For this reason, the number of miscellaneous books received has been quite insignificant; while, owing to the present national disturbances, we have also been deprived of the law reports and public documents usually heretofore furnished the Library in exchange by those of the United States, now in rebellion. The volumes of our Supreme Court reports and other of our publications now due those States, are reserved for that purpose, and it is to be hoped that, on their return to allegiance, exchanges of all missing volumes will be readily made.

The act of 1859, relative to the State Library, provides that "the books, manuscripts and other papers belonging to the State Library, shall not be removed from the room where said Library may be kept, for any purpose whatever, except by members of the Legislature during the session thereof." The undersigned would respectfully suggest whether this privilege, under certain circumstances and with due restrictions, might not properly be extended to the justices and attorneys of our Supreme Judicial Court. Nothing in the Library is consulted with such frequency and interest as are the statutes and law reports of the Middle, Southern and Western States—volumes which are mostly otherwise beyond the reach of our courts or attorneys. Public justice, and public interest as well, would seem to urge that our courts should not be without opportunities for consulting during their sessions, the American statutes and decisions when these facilities are at the disposal of the Legislature.

This report would hardly be complete, or in the usual form, did it not call the attention of the Legislature to the limited and exceedingly defective accommodations of the Library, and the want of room where new volumes can be conveniently arranged as they are received. Many of the additions it is true, are comparatively worthless for general purposes, and do not need to be readily accessible; but the present lack of conveniences makes it difficult to discriminate in their arrangement between books of little value and those few which are really useful.
